Ask Roosevelt for Plan to Save Parley

HULL HOLDS UP MOTION TO END WORLD MEETING

Act on Adjournment Tomorrow.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—In an eleventh hour desperate effort to save the world economic conference from immediate dissolution, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief of the American delegation, today cabled an urgent appeal to President Roosevelt to transmit a complete new program of proposals.

President Roosevelt replied that he would send a message to London tomorrow in which he will outline his conception of what the conference might accomplish if it is to continue. On the strength of this message, Secretary Hull prevailed upon the conference leaders to postpone a decision on the fate of the parley until 10 a. m. Thursday [5 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time].

Await Word from U. S.

As a result the whole world is again awaiting word from Washington to decide whether the London conference on measures to end the world depression is to make another effort to reach an agreement or fold up.

It transpired that at a meeting of conference leaders this morning Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, president of the conference, not without an exhibition of considerable animus toward Mr. Roosevelt, proposed a resolution to adjourn because of the refusal of the United States to agree to temporary currency stabilization. Sensing the situation, James M. Cox, American chairman of the monetary commission, suggested that he had better withdraw from the meeting, but he was dissuaded. Some exceedingly plain speaking ensued.

The meeting closed with agreement of all but Cox on the MacDonald resolution, but later in the day Secretary Hull persuaded MacDonald and other leaders to withhold the resolution's adoption pending receipt of further word from Mr. Roosevelt.

Europe Is Angered.

Angered by what they considered the lecturing tone of President Roosevelt's message yesterday rejecting the joint proposals of currency stabilization and restoration of the gold standard, British, French and other European statesmen were all for calling off the conference as a futile proceeding. Most members of the American delegation were inclined to agree that nothing tangible is likely to come of its continuance.

Mr. Hull, still clinging to the internationalist doctrines from which the President has departed, persisted virtually alone in demanding that the conference proceed with its appointed work. He was compelled to admit, however, that Mr. Roosevelt had cut the ground from under the American delegation's formal monetary and tariff proposals to the conference and that it would be necessary to revise the American program.

Mr. Roosevelt had declined to agree to the temporary currency stabilization which he advocated a scant month ago. He had refused to indorse a return to the gold standard which the American delegation proposed in the resolution offered by Senator Key Pittman of Nevada. He had made untenable by his inflation, industry control and price raising program the delegation's proposals of a tariff truce and reduction of trade barriers.

Turn to Roosevelt.

In this dilemma the American delegation turned to President Roosevelt to lay down a new program that he will support if the conference is to continue. Some members of the delegation are confident that the President will come through tomorrow with a complete new program if for no other reason than that good strategy suggests a shifting of the burden of responsibility for the bustup of the conference. If the program he proposes proves unacceptable to European powers they will assume responsibility for ending the conference.

While the parley proceedings are virtually suspended by the crisis produced yesterday by the President's message, the American delegation was in almost continuous session throughout the day. Secretary Hull and other members of the delegation did not

Factor's Wife Ill; Kidnapers Remain Silent

Mrs. Rella Cohen Factor was reported on the verge of a nervous breakdown yesterday as the fourth day passed since the kidnaping of her husband, John [Jake the Barber] Factor, with no unmistakably authentic word forthcoming from the missing man or his abductors.

At the Pearson hotel suite, where Factor had maintained her in luxury, servants said Mrs. Factor's physician had ordered her to remain in bed under a nurse's care. Her stepson, 19 year old Jerome Factor, who was himself held for $50,000 ransom last April, spent part of the afternoon there, attempting to relieve her anxiety by recalling his own safe return after eight days' captivity.

Youth Has Bodyguards.

A suspicion arose, meanwhile, that Factor's kidnapers may have found the father an unsatisfactory hostage, for whom they might attempt to exchange the son. It was observed that whenever the boy leaves his Morrison hotel headquarters for the Pearson or for the home of his mother, Mrs. Leonard Marcus, Factor's former wife, with whom he lives at 1215 Lunt avenue, he is attended by two guards.

The boy has averred that neither he nor his stepmother has access to Factor's funds and has gone so far as to suggest that if the kidnapers would release the father on nothing more than Factor's promise to pay, the market speculator, whom the British government has accused of swindling British subjects out of $7,000,000; would redeem his word. The police hold it unlikely, however, that the abductors will release their prisoner merely on his I. O. U.

Believe Call a Hoax.

With no further word from the soft spoken men who on Sunday afternoon telephoned the Marcus home and instructed Jerome to have $75,000 in small bills ready the following morning, both the police and Factor's son are veering to belief that the call was a hoax.

The first of the false tips that arise in nearly all notable kidnapings occurred yesterday. Nine cars filled with detectives and police from the state's attorney's office raced to the stock farm of Emil Denemark, eight miles west of Summit in Du Page county, on a report that the kidnapers were holding Factor there. Finding Denemark's race horses grazing peacefully and his hired hands sleeping soundly, the police concluded the tip was the work of some one with a grudge against Denemark.

Another tip of the same sort sent two squads to a flat at 920 Belmont avenue yesterday afternoon. A search of the premises revealed nothing suspicious.

4 Young Foresters Fear Indian War Is Brewing

Yakima, Wash., July 4.—(AP)—Fearing "most anything" from the "murderous Indians" of the Yakima valley, four New York City youths, members of the C. C. C. camp on the Tieton river, applied at police headquarters here for permission to carry rifles. The boys told Sergt. Ray Derby an officer told them the tribesmen were planning to go on the war path.

Real Bear Hunt Is Riverside's Thriller on 4th

The town of Riverside celebrated the Fourth of July yesterday with a genuine grizzly bear hunt. A band of home town hunters, armed with all sorts of guns, from automatic pistols and shotguns to high powered rifles, finally slew a two year old male grizzly after a thrilling hunt.

The bear was received at the Chicago Zoölogical park near Riverside last Wednesday and was intended as the mate of a female of the species received three weeks ago. At 4 o'clock yesterday morning it was discovered that the male bear, recently of Yellowstone park, was missing from his open air barless bear pit, where he had been placed with the female bear.

Calls for Help.

Supt. Edward H. Bean of the zoo, knowing the danger of permitting the animal to be at large, summoned Dr. George Barnett and Edward D. Wiley, who are known as big game hunters. These two and four park attendants tracked the bear through the park for several hours, then returned to Riverside for reinforcements. Henry A. Miller, a real estate dealer, and Steve Barcek, grocer and meat dealer, joined the party with shotguns.

The reinforced hunters then began a systematic search. Two of the park attendants came suddenly on the animal and fired several shots but it got away.

Police Finish Job.

At 5 o'clock, with the bear still at large, the police of Riverside were sent for. Lieut. Bartels, Lieut. Molkentine, Sergt. Vickery, and Policeman Duke Trotter came in response to the summons, Molkentine bringing his beagle hounds to track the bear.

The animal finally was found by following its tracks along a muddy creek, and Lieut. Bartels slew it with a high powered rifle. Steve Barcek then skinned the animal.

Holiday crowds in Chicago yesterday totaled more than 400,000 in the World's Fair, the American Air Races, the Arlington Park races, and in Wrigley baseball field.

Today, in addition to the Fair, the chief event will be the final program of the American Air Races.

Tonight "The Romance of a People," the pageant which on Monday evening aroused the emotions and delighted the senses of 125,000 of this city's Jewry, is offered to the whole citizenry of Chicagoland. The repeat performance in Soldiers' field is sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

There will be one general admission price, 50 cents. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted for 25 cents.

Monday night saw a great crowd glorifying in the history of the Jewish people as 6,200 singers, speakers, and dancers unfolded it before them in the mightiest pageant which this city has ever seen. Tonight the people of this region, Jew and gentile alike, are invited to witness a second enactment of the great drama by a cast inspired by the grandeur of its subject, and with technical and mechanical arrangements improved and refined as a result of experience gained in the first performance.

Story of Forty Centuries.

The story, covering forty centuries, is that of the wild desert tribe unified and civilized by its faith in the one God—of its rise to power under warrior kings, of the tragedy which punished an early lapse from that faith, of the disaster and persecution in later centuries which failed to drive a tenacious race from that same faith of its fathers, and of the final return to power and the establishment of the new Palestine with all its promise for the future.

Rabbi Solomon Goldman wrote the story. Isaac Van Grove set it to music. Both drew heavily upon the rich store of literature and music of the race. For three months the cast was rehearsed under Mr. Van Grove and fifteen assistants. All but a few of their performers are amateurs, yet theirs is not an amateur performance. Their racial talent for theatrical representation, the very glory of their subject, and the pains and care of their training make it more than that.

Elaborate Mechanical Aids.

The pageant is enhanced by what is perhaps the most elaborate and perfect arrangement of mechanical aids ever put into service in this country for an open air theatrical performance. The soloists and the reader who tells the running story of the play do not appear upon the broad stage. They are beneath it, in a soundproof broadcasting studio, where their voices and the music of the orchestra are picked up under perfect conditions to be carried to the spectators through the public address system.

The levels of the stage above, upon which the choruses, the actors and the dancers appear, are a blaze of light. One level, upon which 750 dancers appear during the performance, has a glass floor, through which powerful lamps send forth a sheen of color. These ultramodern sound and light facilities are to see service again later this summer, in the annual Chicagoland Music Festival sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

Tackle Multiple Tasks.

When Judge Harry Fisher, chairman, and his fellow members of the pageant committee agreed Monday night with executives of THE TRIBUNE that the spectacle was too fine a one

'Chute Jumper Killed in Lake at World Fair

More than 75,000 World's Fair visitors looked on last night while Joseph Wilson plunged from an airplane to his death in the most spectacular of a series of Independence day accidents that cost six lives in Chicago and the suburbs.

Wilson, formerly in the movies, had been engaged to leap from the wing of the airplane from a height of 2,000 feet and with the aid of a parachute to float down to the surface of the lagoon of the Fair. His stunt was to be the final thriller of the fireworks exhibit.

Searchlights Play on Jumper.

At 10:30 p. m., according to schedule, the plane appeared over the massed crowds, sweeping in from the southwest. In it were Barney De Witt, the pilot, and Wilson. After a few maneuvers Wilson, according to plan, crawled out on the wing of the plane. For an instant, clad in an Uncle Sam suit, he stood poised. Then he dived.

Upon him as he descended two huge searchlights played. Bands played. The crowds cheered. But the white parachutes (he carried two) did not open. Like a plummet the parti-colored body dropped at tremendous speed until it struck in the waters of Lake Michigan, about 150 yards out from the Adler planetarium.

Body Fails to Rise.

There was a great splash. White spume rose, witnesses said, thirty feet into the air. The bands played on to the masses of Exposition merrymakers, most of them uncertain as to what had happened. But the body of Wilson and the $700 worth of parachutes in which he leaped stayed beneath the surface.

Then the searchlights were turned away and the show went on, with red and green and white pyrotechnics thrown again into the moonlit sky.

As to the cause of the accident there was no direct evidence. De Witt said that he had taken off at the Ashburn air field and that all had gone as planned. After his passenger leaped he returned to the field, unaware of the tragedy.

Says 'Chutes Were Inspected.

The parachutes had been rented from E. V. Stewart of Dundee and John A. Wickum of 1201 Branch street, licensed parachute makers. They said that all inspections had been made and that the 'chutes were in proper condition. Stewart, who was on the lagoon in a boat ready to pick up the jumper when he landed, declared that the rip cord had never been pulled and that he believed Wilson was paralyzed, either by fear, by physical disability, or by striking his head and stunning himself against the plane.

"He took off a little way out, so that he could work in as he floated down," Stewart said. "But something was wrong with him. He did not kick. He did not move. It was just like a dummy falling."

New Acquaintance of Pilot.

Neither De Witt nor the parachute men had any previous acquaintance with Wilson. The World's Fair had hired him on the recommendation of a motion picture company, which had used his services in the past, and at Ashburn field it was said his credentials were in perfect order.

Wilson was about 25 years old and had been staying while in Chicago at 5453 Kenwood avenue.

Of the other deaths of the day, four were due to drowning and one to the explosion of a firecracker.

Those drowned were:

Aviation Show to Close Today.

The Air Races Today

Following is the program for the American Air races today, the last day of the classic:

1. Eight planes racing for the Gov. Horner trophy and $1,200 in prizes.
2. Wayne Wagner and Clem Sohn in a delayed opening two mile parachute race.
3. Ten pilots racing for the Polish flyers' trophy and $500 in prizes.
4. Igor Sikorsky, amphibion designer, arriving in one of his new planes.
5. Anti-aircraft battle with a bombing plane and three scout planes.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

THE TRIBUNE'S American Air Races at Chicago airport were attended by more than 60,000 persons yesterday afternoon. Air race officials said 40,000 persons were seated in the stands and another 20,000 were standing in the racing plant area. They also estimated that 60,000 more viewed the races, stunt flying, and military displays from outside vantage points, making a total of 120,000 who saw the show.

Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events, who has conducted other air racing meets held in Chicago in previous years, said the crowd at the races was the largest he had ever seen at an air racing meet. Despite the overcrowded conditions, the heavy program of events was run off without a hitch and without an accident, air liners flying in and out of the airport on their crosscountry trips while the race program was in progress.

Tries to Break Record.

Lewis A. [Lon] Yancey, who flew to Rome in 1930, made an attempt to break the world's altitude record in his autogiro, "Miss Champion." Yancey set the present record of 21,500 feet at Boston last fall. He said his altimeter registered only 19,500 feet and that he believed he did not break his record yesterday, but would not know until the sealed barograph he carried has been calibrated.

Frank Hawks, famous speed flyer, was held up at Los Angeles by bad weather and was unable to take off in an effort to break Wiley Post's speed record for a nonstop flight to Chicago, of nine hours nine minutes and four seconds. He may attempt the record flight today, according to dispatches.

Igor Sikorsky, designer of amphibion planes, who is now building the first of a series of giant planes that will carry passengers and mail across the Atlantic, was delayed in the east because of weather. He will arrive at the American Air Races this afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock, he telegraphed to race officials.

Perfect Weather for Races.

Despite bad weather in other parts of the country it was a sunny day at the airport, perfect weather for the high speed events. It was the third day of the American Air Races, which end today with a final burst of high speed racing, aerobatics, military displays, and comedy acts.

Douglas Davis of Atlanta, Ga., the first civilian pilot to defeat army and navy pilots in 1929, won the feature race of the day, an event for planes with motors of unlimited cubic inch displacement. Davis flew his Wright powered Travelair speedwing racer at an average speed of 146.06 miles an hour to defeat Jack Wright, sportsman pilot of Utica, N. Y., by an average of less than one mile an hour for the twenty-five miles. Wright flew a Livingston monocoupe racer [Warner motor].

E. M. [Matty] Laird of Chicago took third place, with an average speed of 135.45 miles an hour, in his Ranger powered racer. Art Davis was fourth in Taper wing Waco, and L. G. Larson of Wichita was fifth in a Beechcraft [Wright motor].

A Thrilling Spectacle.

The race, which was for the Turf trophy and $1,300 prizes, was a thrilling spectacle as the six heavy planes wheeled around the home pylon, their powerful motors roaring.

It was no more thrilling, however, than the closely fought contest for the Aero Digest trophy and $5,000 in prizes, which was won by John Livingston of Aurora, at an average speed of 204.54 miles an hour for the seven laps of the five mile course. Livingston took first prize money of $2,250, making his winnings for the air racing meet $4,500.

Art Davis of East Lansing, Mich., took second prize money of $1,250 in the Aero Digest event, with an average speed of 202.88 miles an hour. Both Davis and Livingston flew Cessna racers powered by Warner motors. Third place was taken by Harold Neumann of Moline, Ill., flying a Folkerts special racer (Cirrus motor).

Flies 213 Miles an Hour.

The races themselves were thrilling, but the lucid description of them, lap by lap, as given by Cy Caldwell of the Aero Digest magazine over a public address system, made them even more thrilling to the thousands of spectators. He remarked that Livingston, in winning the Aero Digest trophy, flew the fifth lap at a speed of 213.4 miles an hour, the fastest lap speed during the meet.

The many stunting exhibitions and the military displays were described by John B. [Jack] Story, former Chicago mail pilot, who leaped from his plane one night four years ago near Moline, Ill., in a heavy fog. Jim Ewing, who has described many aviation events, covered both the races and stunt flying for W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station.

Although the fastest clocked time of the day was Johnny Livingston's 213.4 miles an hour on the fifth lap of the Aero Digest trophy race, the fastest speed was made by Livingston when he took his racer aloft for his turn at stunts. The yellow Cessna dived straight for the field from 5,000 feet. As Livingston leveled it off at 80 feet and flashed across the airport he was doing fully 300 miles an hour. When he landed he said his air speed indicator had read 325 miles an hour at the end of his dive.

Livingston had flown the Howard racer, Ike, during his stunt turn during the previous day's racing. In Tuesday's races, however, Harold Neumann burned out Ike's magneto and the ship has not yet been repaired.

Jumpers Thrill Crowd.

Hardly had Livingston landed when Clem Sohn and Wayne Wagner, who has a broken foot in a plaster cast, jumped from planes at 10,000 feet. The crowd's cry of "There they go" greeted their appearance. Both men landed safely, Wagner obviously favoring his injured leg as he hit the field.

Charles Abel of Chicago, a pilot, who has a job as a federal reserve bank clerk and, who flies for fun, tied his own record of 17 consecutive loops in his biplane glider after cutting loose from a towing plane at 5,000 feet.

The races opened with Bennett Griffin's power dive, his propeller making a terrible racket as he zoomed over the stands. Griffin is the co-holder with Jimmy Mattern, missing world flyer, of the record time for an Atlantic crossing. Roy Hunt, stunt pilot, then gave an exhibition of flying with his motor shut off.

Cuts Ribbon with Propeller.

What seems to be the most fun of any of the stunts is Art Davis' act in which he drops a 100 foot spool of ribbon and then dives on the streamer, cutting it to bits with his whirling propeller. E. M. [Matty] Laird, Chicago racing plane designer and stunt pilot, corkscrewed his biplane across the field in slow rolls at 600 feet, then pulled up into hammerhead turns, following with snap rolls. Marcellus King, Fairmount, Minn., snap rolled his Monocoupe as if it were a special stunt plane.

ITALIAN FLYERS LEAVE ERIN FOR ICELAND TODAY

Balbo Looks at Weather Reports, Orders Start.

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, July 4.—(AP)—Aviation Minister Italo Balbo announced tonight that his Italian seaplane squadron would take off at 10 a. m. tomorrow [4 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time] for Reykjavik, Iceland. It will be the third hop on the mass flight by stages from Rome to A Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

Gen. Balbo reached this decision after receiving reports of good weather in the Iceland region. Conditions were rapidly improving to the northward and the outlook was brighter than at any time since the squadron's arrival here Sunday from Amsterdam.

After examining the reports, the Italian air leader sent orders to the various hotels where the officers were staying, instructing them to have the men called an hour earlier than had been arranged.

Duce Advises Caution.

The departure had been postponed today by Gen. Balbo on advice of Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Il Duce telephoned the general, advising him not to take any risks and pointing out the folly of proceeding in the face of unfavorable weather conditions. The premier expressed the hope that all 24 of the planes could finish the trip to Chicago. He explained that it would not be to the credit of Italy to lose any of the ships through taking unncessary chances.

Mollisons Delay Hop.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—Pendine Sands resembled a county fair tonight with thousands gathered to watch Capt. James A. Mollison and his wife, Amy Johnson, leave on their trans-Atlantic flight. Weather reports indicating unfavorable conditions on the last three-fourths of the route to New York caused the Mollisons to delay their start today.

EXPECT BIG CROWD HERE

One of the greatest crowds of the World's Fair season is expected to welcome the Italian air armada of 24 seaplanes which Gen. Italo Balbo is bringing to Chicago. They are expected to arrive next Sunday. The crowd will be especially large if the flyers arrive late in the afternoon, when attendance at A Century of Progress is at its peak, for several hundred thousand in addition to the Exposition visitors are expected to be waiting on the lake front.

Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul general in Chicago, and others planning the reception for the flyers estimated that more than half of Chicago's Italian population of 150,000 would participate in the welcome. The Drake hotel, where the flyers will stay while in Chicago, reported that more than 100 Italians from distant cities had made reservations there.

No one is more interested in the great massed flight than Dr. Castruccio, who is proud of the progress his country has made in aviation since the world war, in which he fought with distinction. He was one of Italy's foremost flyers in the war and was decorated with a gold medal for saving the lives of his comrades in a crippled dirigible and with a silver medal for executing successful bombardments behind enemy lines. He was honored in a solemn citation for "demonstrating admirable knowledge of discipline, rare ability, superior strength of mind in a crisis, and for military valor," and was given a war cross by the navy minister.

The consul general said he hoped the flyers would reach Chicago by Sunday but doubted that weather conditions would make possible an earlier arrival. Bad weather over Iceland, their next stop, helped them at Londonderry, Ireland, yesterday, but they hope to take off today.

TURNER WINS 2 SPEED EVENTS AT LOS ANGELES

Municipal Airport, Los Angeles, Cal., July 4.—(AP)—A golden monoplane with Col. Roscoe Turner of Hollywood behind the stick broke all precedent for speed flying at the national air races today by adding the two closed course classics of the races to his victory of Saturday in the cross-country dash.

Turner flew to first place in the 100 mile free for all event at a speed of 241.051 miles an hour and swept down a straightaway course at 280.965 miles an hour today to make a clean sweep of the three principal races.

Saturday he traveled from New York to Los Angeles in 11 hours 30 minutes to win the transcontinental race in record time, breaking his own mark by one hour and three minutes. He averaged 219 miles per hour.

His victories today marked the first time any flyer ever scored victories in these three events of the national air races.

The victory of Turner in the 100 mile race was achieved after a spectacular fight through the first five of the ten laps against Jimmie Wedell, New Orleans pilot-designer, who placed second.

The two pilots fought a battle of speed around the pylons, Turner finally jockeying into the lead on the fifth lap as the two raced around the home plyon in front of the grand stand.

Third place in the 100 mile event went to Lee Gehlbach, Detroit. The victory of these three pilots constituted a tsingular triumph for Wedell, who built all three of the leading ships.

Ranking with the speed exploits of the men was the triumph of Mrs. Mae Haizlip, St. Louis, in the premier closed course for women, a 50 mile contest in which she walked away from the field, flying the course at 168.216 miles an hour.

Second place went to Mrs. Martie Bowman, Los Angeles, third to Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, and fourth Hoot Gibson, film cowboy, who was injured yesterday when his plane crashed at the races, must remain in bed for four weeks, his physician said today.

CITY CELEBRATES JULY FOURTH IN MODERN SETTING

Vets Gather at World Fair Hall of Science.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Chicago's old-fashioned celebration of the 157th anniversary of national independence was held amid strange surroundings yesterday. Its center was a little knot of soldiers, sailors, and citizens in the court of the great Hall of Science at A Century of Progress. The Hall of Science towered above the celebrants in purple and orange splendor, symbolic of the inventions that have made personal attendance at such events unnecessary.

For the music, the prayers, the old-fashioned oratory were borne on the wings of this new age to the remotest parts of the exposition grounds and the city. In homes and in family groups under the trees the words and the old memories were wafted down out of the skies. So it is impossible to say how many persons benefited from that ceremony, which, taken by itself, seemed aloof and incidental to the vast array of amusements offered by the day.

Disabled Veterans Attend.

In a semi-circle of automobiles drawn up behind the speakers on the flag decorated platform were one hundred disabled veterans from the Edward Hines hospital. Thin and white, but cheerful and sheltered, they looked out upon this new world which they had given so much to make possible.

R. I. Randolph presided at this ceremony, which was the climax of the day's celebration arranged by the American Legion. Harry S. New, United States commissioner to the Fair; Rufus Dawes, president of the Exposition, and other distinguished citiens were on the platform, but the citizens were on the platform, but the naval representatives pleading anew for "an army and a navy sufficient to insure peace."

Col. New, an old fashioned Indiana politician, with broad white campaign hat, was reminiscent of many old fashioned celebrations of this kind.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commandant of the Sixth corps area; Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, commandant of the Ninth naval district, and Maj. Gen. of Militia Roy D. Keehn spoke of these various branches of national service. Gen. Keehn invited the people to attend a review of the National Guard on Aug. 11, when the citizen soldiers will come here from Rockford and march.

Revolt Against Taxation.

It was Lieut. Col. Joseph Lonergan, chaplain of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, known as "the fighting parson" during the war, who put fire and heart into the program. His subject was "Overtaxation and the National Defense."

"We revolted from England because of over-taxation," he declared. "Once again, we revolt against high handed taxation which confiscates property and liberty in the United States.

"Since the world war, it seems to be the idea that it is a compliment for us to be considered by the powers and tyrannies of Europe. Since the world war, the interests of the American people have been conceived in the interests of world affairs instead of protecting the people of the United States. At last, after three or four administrations of this sort, we hear a word from Washington, a voice with the courage to say no to Europe.

"We have seen much internationalism and deteriorating pacificism. It is the kind that only attacks America, the least offender among the nations. America will never make war for conquest, but always, whether prepared or not, will spring forth to defend her independence and honor.

"Say that Japan or France declared war upon us today. Then we would have to call on Great Britain. This is what Great Britain has been waiting for. We can only recognize that and when we surrender the Panama canal we surrender the independence which we gained 157 years ago. We may lose our independence by alliance.

"Where have all our taxes gone? Who authorized the United States government to go into all the business of the world? The post office loses money every year. The railroads lost one and a half billion under government control. The farm board lost 350 million.

"Now we are going further. Our original contract, the constitution, declares the national government was organized for common defense and there is no authority to contribute to other purposes until the national defense is fulfilled. The United States should get out of business to which it does not belong and get into that to which it does belong. Statesmen created the constitution, but military forces of the country uphold it."

The military parade to the Exposition formed at 39th street entrance and marched north on Leif Ericson drive to the Hall of Science. Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity was grand marshal. The United States army furnished the chief contingent, with the Third Field artillery, troop A of the 14th cavalry and two battalions of the Sixth infantry. The marine and naval reserves came next. The nationalities division was represented chiefly by Lithuanians. The St. Casimer's academy girls' band, dressed in purple and red capes and hats, marched in this section.

At the Hall of Science there was a parade of the colors by the Square post, American Legion, and an ode to the flag was read by Thomas Drummond of of this post. The Star Spangled Banner was sung by Alice Mock.

At 2 o'clock the Exposition management invited everyone to a "safe and sane Fourth celebration" at the north lagoon. Thousands gathered there to watch circus and diving stunts, pie eating contest, etc. At 2:30 p. m. the American Legion 1933 chorus sang in the court of the Hall of Science before a large crowd.

Commissioner New received the public at 4:30 o'clock in the Federal building. In the evening there was a historical pageant on the floating theater, with scenes depicting Revolutionary days. At 10:30 o'clock there was a tremendous fireworks display on the north lagoon and from the top of the east sky ride tower. Bombs and rockets were hurled more than 1,000 feet and many brilliant novelties illuminated the water scene.

OAK PARK EVENTS

Several thousand persons gathered last night in the Oak Park High school stadium for the annual July 4 celebration in the village. The American Legion post arranged a program of vaudeville, music, and an elaborate fireworks display.

Berwyn's celebration, in the Illinois Central railroad park at 31st street and East avenue, was attended by some 10,000 persons. The American Legion staged a parade in the morning and there were fireworks in the evening.

Fort park had an evening concert given by the boys' and girls' band of the village, followed by fireworks.

Ceremony, Gayety Mark Day Abroad.

20,000 Celebrate in France.

PARIS, July 4.—(AP)—Twenty thousand Americans in France celebrated their nation's Independence day with private gaiety and public ceremony. The traditional center of the day's customary exchange of friendly sentiments between the United States and France was LaFayette's tomb in Picpus cemetery.

This commemoration of France's participation in early United States history was followed by a ceremony at the statue erected in Paris to honor American volunteers in the French army during the world war.

LaFayette's great-grandson, Marquis Marcel de Chambrun, whose wife is the former Margaret Rives Nichols of Cincinnati, delivered an address at the tomb of his forbear. The marquis is president of the local chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Jewish Pageant to Be Repeated Tonight.

to be confined to the Jewish people alone, and that the second performance should be staged to make it available to all Chicagoland, there were a thousand tasks to be done, and a scant 24 hours in which to do them.

A crew of printers abandoned their Independence day holiday to turn out a rush job of 125,000 tickets, which will be ready for distribution this morning at the points named elsewhere in THE TRIBUNE. A score of girl workers spent yesterday afternoon in The Tribune Tower mailing instructions to every member of the great cast.

Recruit Army of Gatemen.

Hundreds of ticket sellers, gatemen, and ushers were recruited to conduct the huge crowd to its seats in an orderly fashion. President Rufus C. Dawes of the World's Fair agreed that for tonight's performance Soldiers' field shall be divorced from the Exposition grounds so that spectators need pay but a single admission to see the pageant.

Tons of food were purchased yesterday for lunches for the performers, that they might forego their evening meals at home and gather at the stadium at 6 p. m. to prepare for the pageant opening three hours later. Arrangements were made to open the gates to the spectators at 4 p. m., that families, if they wish, may avoid the later rush and come with picnic lunches.

Engineers of the Western Electric company, who spent their time at Monday evening's performance on the alert for possible improvements in the sound broadcasting system, called crews of electricians to their sides and went to work early yesterday morning.

Mr. Van Grove is conductor of the operatic performances at Cincinnati, and was to have led his organization tonight. He wired that he would be unable to appear, and will rush away from Chicago after the pageant tonight, to lead "Madame Butterfly" in Cincinnati tomorrow evening.

MUSIC GREAT ART

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Those who went to Soldiers' field to behold "The Romance of a People" Monday night, those who will go to its second performance tonight are fortunate. They have heard, or will hear, as impressive, as fine, as thrilling a musical score as can be found in a lifetime of listening to music.

Isaac Van Grove had a great vision when he conceived the idea of this music, a vision the radiance of which followed him through all the hard work of making the idea a fact, of reducing a dream to notes upon paper, of seeing to it that his army of singers and dancers knew the score in mass and detail, of holding them together in performance with the strong and supple hand of discipline.

He created fitting music for a stupendously impressive drama, and he gave it a performance entirely worthy of it. More than that, in so doing there is reason to believe that he struck a valiant blow for a new technic of music in drama.

For, analyze it as you will, here is a music drama using means totally unlike those of any other music drama ever composed, yet with a surge of emotion in its every phrase and line. Here is a score founded upon native, traditional Jewish music, music which has been handed down through the centuries, so ancient that its origins are lost in the mists of antiquity. It is simple, if you will, in conception and treatment; it is plaintive, it is strongly touched with the note of orientalism. Many of its choral passages are sung in unison, most of its treatment is that of primitive music. Great use is made of long, continuous repetition. Artful display, smashing effects are entirely foreign to its nature.

JEWISH PAGEANT TICKETS TO GO ON SALE TODAY

Seats for 125,000 at Soldiers' Field.

Tickets to "The Romance of a People," the gigantic pageant depicting the history of the Jewish people in massive, will go on sale at 9 o'clock this morning at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street. Popular prices will prevail: 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children.

At 11 o'clock the tickets will go on sale at 50 ticket booths situated at intervals on the west side of Soldiers' field. No admission to A Century of Progress is necessary to reach the ticket booths, and no admission to the exposition grounds will be required tonight for entrance to Soldiers' field.

Other Ticket Agencies.

Tickets also will be on sale at the following places:

JEWISH DAILY COURIER, 1214 South Halsted street.

HEBREW THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE, 3448 Douglas boulevard.

UNION OF ORTHODOX HEBREW CONGREGATIONS, 3600 Roosevelt road.

Strenuous efforts were required yesterday to print the 125,000 tickets for tonight's performance. Despite the holiday, however, workers were engaged and the printing was completed last night.

The rule to be followed today is, "first come first served." No reserved seats will be sold. There will be no congestion on the field. No seats will be on the field proper. The entire audience will view the entertainment from the stone tiers of the arena.

Gates open at 4 P. M. Today.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the gates to Soldiers' field will be opened and will remain open until the seats are filled. Many persons are expected to come early to wait for the performance, which will begin at 9 p. m.

The Milwaukee office of THE TRIBUNE was deluged yesterday with requests for tickets and those in charge there arranged for several thousand to be sent to them early today for sale in that city.

OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Bloomington, Ill., July 4.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Floyd of Pontiac celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary today. They had lived the entire span of 50 years in the house in which they were married. Eight children, 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild attended the anniversary party.

PROF. EINSTEIN TO AID INSTITUTE OF HEBREW U.

Prof. Albert Einstein, world famous physicist, will coöperate in the administration and direction of the physics institute at the Hebrew university in Jerusalem. This announcement was made yesterday by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the university, at the convention of the Zionist Organization of America at the Palmer house.

Dr. Weizmann had requested Prof. Einstein to join the university staff several months ago, but the scientist had accepted offers from European universities. Yesterday, Dr. Weizmann announced that he had received a cable from Prof. Einstein from London in which the noted scientist stated he would coöperate with the university if certain reforms in policy were made.

Dr. Weizmann said that the reforms would be instituted, and added that he hoped that several other Jewish scientists who had been outlawed from Germany because of their faith would join the staff of the university.

HOLIDAY THRONG AT FAIR NEARS MONDAY RECORD

Morning Turnout Biggest So Far Admitted.

BY EARL MULLIN.

The Independence day turnout at A Century of Progress Exposition totaled 229,285 at 11:30 o'clock last night. That figure was only some 15,000 smaller than the record total of 244,472 recorded Monday, when observance of Jewish day and presentation of "The Romance of a People," great Jewish spectacle, drew tens of thousands who might not have been attracted by the regular events of the Fair. The holiday total also fell short of the "guess" prediction of an attendance of 250,000 which had been made by Fair officials.

The greatest morning attendance of the Fair was rolled up yesterday when crowds were entering the gates at the rate of 28,000 an hour. At noon 57,516 persons had already entered the grounds. The peak of the rush was reached at the hour between 10 and 11 o'clock.

Whole U. S. Represented.

Every conceivable form of transportation was used in carrying the thousands of visitors to the Fair grounds, and all parts of the United States were represented. More than six thousand persons from Kansas City, Louisville, Detroit, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Milwaukee registered for conducted tours. Questioning of more than a hundred visitors on the Midway showed that at least 50 per cent were out of town visitors.

"The crowds of the past two days have not even slightly taxed our facilities," Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, said. "We can handle crowds four times as large with ease. While the last two days have exceeded our expectations, we are not unduly elated. We are certain the Fair is worthy of the attention it is attracting."

Falls Behind 1893 Figure.

The Fair did not draw so large an attendance as did the Fourth of July celebration at the Fair of 1893, when 283,273 paid admissions were registered. It was not necessary to call out reserves to handle yesterday's crowds. The regular holiday force of 1,000 guides and policemen cared for the crowd without difficulty.

A survey showed that additional help was needed on railroads, bus lines, and street car routes to handle the crowds, and, within the Fair grounds, transportation agencies put on additional men.

The bus company estimated that more than 90,000 visitors came to the grounds in its coaches. Additional starters were needed to handle the downtown traffic. The Fair lagoon fleet employed twenty additional pilots to care for the crowds riding the gondolas and motor launches. All buses in the grounds were well loaded.

Yesterday's crowds did not congest a few areas as had earlier large turnouts. The south end of the grounds, where the concessionaires organized their own association as a result of poor attendance, yesterday was getting as large crowds as the Midway. The 101 Ranch, Old Mexico, Ukrainian pavilion, Days of '49, and other south end concessions reported satisfactory business.

Concessions Take in $200,000.

Not only are the crowds thronging the free exhibits, but they represent spending power, according to a survey among the concessions. Monday all of the concessions reported gross receipts of $200,177.68, exclusive of gate receipts of the Fair proper, which ran more than $125,000. The money at the concessions represented an average expenditure of approximately 85 cents for every visitor during the day.

Fair officials said that the publicity given the other entrances to the Fair had relieved the congestion at the Roosevelt road gate. With the bus, Illinois Central, and street car routes now designed to throw traffic to the other gates, yesterday showed the four major entrances averaging about the same.

The Illinois Central railroad yesterday ran fifty additional trains, making a total of 420 trains serving the Fair grounds during the day. While a complete check will not be available until this morning, officials said the passengers were running about the same as Monday, when 150,000 were carried. The Chicago Rapid Transit lines carried 40,000 passengers during the day, using 200 additional cars. The New York Central, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Chicago and North Western, and other railroads reported a large passenger traffic into Chicago. On the Illinois Central alone 1,687 out of town passengers were accommodated.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Indiana day will be celebrated on July 13 at the fair with a parade, band concerts, singing by the a capella choir of the Arthur Jordon conservatory of music, and speeches by Gov. Paul V. McNutt, Meredith Nicholson, and President Rufus C. Dawes of A Century of Progress.

This is Rainbow Gate carnival week at the fair, with free shows, including a Mexican fiesta and street dancing near the 39th street gate. Each night from 9 o'clock to midnight, visitors mingle with cowboys, Indians, Mexicans, miners, and log rollers from the concessions operating in the Rainbow Gate district.

The Spanish pavilion on the Midway will be officially opened tomorrow by officials of the Fair and representatives from the Spanish consulate. The pavilion is a duplicate of an old Spanish castle, and houses exhibits of Spanish arts and industries.

Another program of operatic and concert music will be presented at the floating theater tomorrow night from 8 to 9 o'clock. Margery Maxwell, soprano; William Miller, lyric tenor, and Nina Meserow Minchin, pianist, will be the featured artists.

More than 85,000 identification photographs have been taken in the Kaufmann and Fabry offices at the Hall of Science. The pictures are used on season passes. Two pictures are made for each pass, one to go in the pass book and one for the files in the office.

BUSES TO CARRY CHILD MEMBERS OF PAGEANT CAST

Harry Berkman, field director of the 3,000 children who participate in "The Romance of a People," has instructed his staff to congregate the boys and girls at three points in the districts in which they live so that they may be taken to Soldiers' field tonight in buses. The children will meet as follows at 6 o'clock this evening: On the west side at the Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard, in charge of Miss Rachael Kirschbaum; on the south side at the Hyde Park High school, 62d street and Stony Island avenue, in charge of Elliott Hasan, and on the north side at the field house of Eugene Field park, in Albany Park, in charge of Herbert Magida. Emil Gollubier is assistant to Mr. Berkman. Each child will be permitted to have one escort, for whom a seat will be provided. Every child is requested to bring the pageant flags.

SEEK TO REDUCE JAMS TONIGHT AT JEWISH PAGEANT

Experts Tell Public How to Ease Congestion.

BY HAL FOUST.

Here are some suggestions for attending "The Romance of a People" in Soldiers' field tonight. They are pertinent because the pageant of Jewish history, repeated at popular prices with THE TRIBUNE's coöperation, will in all probability repeat the record crowds attending Monday night's performance.

The first act in this drama of a people will not begin until 9 o'clock, but for the better seats it will be well to enter the stadium much earlier. This is a show for the masses; there are no reservations.

Capt. Timothy Howard of the south park police, with the aid of city policemen and World's Fair guards, will have a force of 800 to aid in assembling a crowd that may approach Monday night's figure of more than 100,000. Otto K. Jelinek, south park traffic engineer, yesterday perfected the system for moving pedestrians and vehicles. Confusion will be minimized, but delays from congestion cannot be eliminated.

Visits to Fair Will Ease Jams.

For those who are going to visit the Fair, as well as the stadium performance, delays in transportation can be avoided by going to the Exposition an hour or two before the pageant and then using the east gates to Soldiers' field. At the breakup of the show another stroll in the Fair grounds will also avoid jams.

Capt. Howard promised that there will be enough police on duty on the drive east of Soldiers' field tonight so that no one will need to take a chance of crossing the pavement without protection.

Mr. Jelinek said the south park administration will close the outer drives between 7th and 23d streets from 8:30 to 9 o'clock to all except those going to the stadium or to the Fair, should conditions warrant. For thirty minutes or more after the end of the pageant, it was decided yesterday that the bridges over the Illinois Central tracks will have to be devoted to outgoing traffic only.

The 11th street bridge will be reserved for pedestrians only. Bus passengers discharged at the Roosevelt road terminal will not have to cross a pavement in going to the stadium.

Selection of Parking Spaces.

Private car drivers have a wide selection of parking facilities. There is storage space of 2,300 in the south park's 25 cent lot north of Monroe street. This involves a walk of a little more than a mile to the stadium, or the miniature railroad can be ridden for a dime. There are also 800 free parking stalls at the foot of Monroe street, but these are generally filled.

West of the I. C. tracks, within walking distance of the stadium over the 11th street or the 18th street bridge, are smaller parking lots ranging in price from 25 to 50 cents and with a total capacity of approximately 15,000 cars. East of the tracks, between 16th and 23d streets, are parking facilities for 7,000 cars at 50 cents and 75 cents.

Parachute Jumper Killed; Other Deaths on 4th.

sions was Miss Frances Abrahamson, 15 years old, 2100 Addison street. She was watching a group of boys last evening as they placed a giant firecracker in a tin can behind her home. The blast of the cracker shattered the can and a sharp piece of the metal penetrated Miss Abrahamson's neck. An artery was severed and she bled to death soon after she was taken to the Martha Washington hospital.

George Dahle, 13 years old, 3633 North Hamilton avenue, who set off the fatal blast, wept when he was taken to the Damen avenue police station for questioning.

The death of Laverne Harris, 9 years old, 9120 Houston avenue, was in part due to the firecracker celebration of the 4th. He and several other boys, playing at 91st street and Escanaba avenue, scattered when a blast went off near them. He leaped in front of a surface car and was run over.

Family Sees Father Drown.

Most spectacular of the drownings was that of Williams. With his wife, his three children and Miss Aleen Holmes, who lives at the Williams home, he had gone to the Northwestern university beach at Colfax avenue, Evanston, to swim. Mrs. Williams and the children remained close to shore while Williams and Miss Holmes swam out to deep water.

They had started to return to the sands when both began to call for help. The cries were heard by the members of the family and by dozens of other bathers. Would-be rescuers were too late to aid Williams, but Miss Holmes was saved by Herman N. Bundesen Jr., 22 years old, son of the president of the Chicago board of health. He towed her into shallow water.

John Martin, a resident of Sigma Alpha Epsilon house on the Northwestern campus, was the first to reach the place where Williams had sunk. He recovered the body. A physician who made an examination said it was possible Williams had died of a heart attack.

Two Die in Swollen River.

Sharp and Herman, who were brothers-in-law, were drowned in the Fox river opposite Pottawatomie park in St. Charles. They had gone to St. Charles for the day and had entered the stream, which was swollen by recent rains, with four other men.

Unable to swim, Sharp was carried beyond his depth by the swift current. He cried for help and Herman responded, swimming to him and striving to keep him above water. But Sharp in panic seized his rescuer around the neck and both sank.

The Sanders boy was riding in an outboard motor boat when it overturned in Cedar Lake, Ind., during a sudden squall. The boat was piloted by Charles Rugely, 10323 South Park avenue. Other passengers were Donald, 8 years old, and Thomas, 11 years old brothers of the drowned boy.

When the squall struck and the boat, moving at more than 30 miles an hour, capsized Rugely seized the older boys and aided them to cling to the craft. He was unable to reach Richard, whose body had not been recovered late last night.

Girl Injured in Dive.

Miss Margaret Schille, 18 years old, 4908 Potomac avenue, was severely injured when she struck bottom as she dived into the lake at Chestnut street. She was pulled ashore by L. J. Petty, Lincoln park policeman, and taken to the county hospital. There it was said her spine had been fractured.

There were numerous reports of injuries to children and youths as a result of the use of fireworks. Gladys Malmberg, 11 years old, 5655 Dakin street, was taken to Augustana hospital with severe burns after her clothing caught fire while she was playing near her home. Four fingers of the right hand of John Novak, 3424 North Tripp avenue, were amputated at Belmont hospital after they had been torn by the blast of a giant cracker.

More than thirty others were given hospital treatment for burns on the hands.

As usual, the sale of fireworks was barred in Chicago, but supplies were purchased in certain suburbs which permit merchants to deal in them.

FIREWORKS VICTIMS

Among those who suffered burns or lacerations from firecrackers while celebrating Independence day in Chicago and the suburbs were:

E. C. Daniels, 36 years old, 1030 Cleveland street, Evanston.

Lee Ehrlich, 7 years old, 2053 Jarvis avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Fielding, 16 years old, New London, Conn.

Joseph Mezzano, 1432 North Kildare avenue.

Charles E. Michaels, 44 North Mason avenue.

Charles Gillespie, 10 years old, 3548 Rosa avenue.

All were treated in hospitals or in physicians' offices. The injuries were nearly all to hands in which firecrackers went off.

HOLIDAY TRAFFIC FILLS HIGHWAYS LEADING TO CITY

Independence day was marked as never before by great multitudes of Chicagoans and their visitors enjoying sane holiday recreation. A Century of Progress and the American Air races had their big concentrated crowds; the forest preserves and the city parks entertained hundreds of thousands, and on the highways were more hundreds of thousands.

Last night, the highways approaching the city carried streams of automobiles, some carrying the baggage of those who had spent week-ends in the country, a large portion returning one day excursionists, and others bringing additional visitors to the World's Fair.

Heavy streams of motorists returning from nearby resort areas filled the principal highways from 7 o'clock in the evening until midnight. Headlights of Chicago autoists returning from more distant points or tarrying at resorts through the evening continued to blaze along the roads through the early hours of the morning.

Most of the traffic from the lake regions of northern Illinois and Wisconsin came into the city over Waukegan and Milwaukee roads. At Waukegan and Dempster roads, where the traffic is controlled by light signals, automobiles from the north backed up half a mile each time the light halted the southbound stream. But at Milwaukee and Dempster roads a grade separation permitted an uninterrupted movement.

The bulk of the return traffic from the resort points in northern Indiana and Michigan kept the Dunes Relief highway well filled. Police in Des Plaines said the holiday traffic in Northwest highway and River road was the heaviest since before the depression.

There was little congestion on the rural roads until dusk, and then mainly on the two lane pavements thirty or forty miles from Chicago, as the inbound traffic was swelled by recreation motorists ending a holiday in the country.

Boy Rides His Bicycle from Toronto to the Fair

Roy Gurney, 19 years old, of Toronto, Ont., rode a bicycle to the World's Fair, arriving here yesterday after a four day trip. He is stopping at the Lake Michigan Beach Club for Boy Scouts at 7401 South Shore drive.

CATHOLICS SCRAP GERMAN PARTIES; NAZIS SUPREME

Hitler in Sole Possession of Political Arena.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 4.—The sixty year old Catholic Centrist party, which in its heydey was strong enough to battle Chancellor Bismarck and the kaiser, plans to dissolve itself tomorrow.

This action, together with today's voluntary dissolution of the Catholic Bavarian People's party and the German People's party, will give Chancellor Hitler's Nazis absolute control of political Germany. It also will fulfill Hitler's campaign to create a totalitarian state.

Permitted to Join Nazis.

Because of the age and importance of the Centrist party the Nazis have agreed to permit the Centrists to join their ranks as "guests." Former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, Centrist leader, negotiated with Hitler today as to which members of the party will be permitted to hold their seats in the reichstag.

The moribund German People's party descended from Gustav Stresemann's National Liberals. At one time it was the strongest political organization in the nation. This party had only two reichstag mandates, as against sixty-two in 1919.

The Bavarian Populists held 19 reichstag mandates. The dissolution of that organization was foreshadowed by raids on party headquarters and the arrests of its leaders on June 26. John Leicht, papal prelate and president of the party, resigned the reichstag mandate he held for twenty years.

British Probe Nazi Religion.

BERLIN, July 4.—(AP)—The seriousness of the church situation in Germany was illustrated today by the arrival of the Rev. A. S. Duncan-Jones, dean of Chichester, on behalf of the bishop of Gloucester, to investigate whither German Protestantism is drifting under a Nazi commissionership.

This was further indicated in the fact that Lutherans in Norway were collecting funds for the support of German ministers dismissed for insisting on freedom of conscience.

Three Points Demanded.

Preliminary negotiations between Dr. Ludwig Mueller, head of the German Evangelical Church union, and church factions indicate that adherents of Dr. Friedrich von Bodelschwingh, chosen recently as the first Evangelical reichbishop, demand three points: restituoin of suspended church officials, freedom of the church press and use of the radio by non-Nazis also.

It was recalled that the Nazis seized the church press and the broadcast.

(Dr. von Bodelschwingh was elected reichsbishop by the representatives of all the 29 Protestant churches in Germany over the strenuous opposition of the German Christians [Nazis], who supported Dr. Mueller as their candidate.)

Reports reaching followers of Dr. von Bodelschwingh from various parts of the reich indicated arrests in a number of localities last Sunday of pastors who refused to fly the Nazi flag and conduct services of thanksgiving instead of devoting the day to meditation and prayer as originally planned.

Hindenburg Frees Prisoners.

Upon the personal intervention of President von Hindenburg those arrested were released.

Dr. Mueller in a statement on the situation called for coöperation and said "it is not the proper moment to raise doubts about matters of jurisdiction."

He declared that the most urgent task was creating a constitution for the united Protestant church, adding: "Neither the German Christians nor those of the young reformation moment, nor the commissioners, nor the church's old officers are the church; all must again become the church."

Meanwhile the government applied to The Hague arbitration court for a temporary injunction against Poland to prevent enforcement of alleged discriminatory land reform measures against German landowners from that country.

The question has been the subject of fruitless negotiations between the two governments and also in the council of the league of nations. At Berlin it was explained that the injunction was desired to prevent Germany being faced with an accomplished fact.

SLAIN WITH BAT WHILE PLAYING BALL IN STREET

Otto Maruna, 27 years old, 1827 Fisk street, was slain with a baseball bat last evening in front of his home.

With several other young men of the neighborhood, Maruna was playing catch in the street when his assailant, riding in an automobile with two other men, slowly approached. As he reached Maruna he leaned out and swung the bat. Then the car was driven away rapidly.

Maruna's skull was fractured and he died soon afterward. The police learned that he was a machinist. They attributed the fatal attack to some neighborhood quarrel. The others who were playing with the victim fled after he fell.

ASKS MORAL AID FOR GERMANY'S OPPRESSED JEWS

Neuman Makes Plea for Help in U. S.

A plea to Jews of America to help the Jews of Germany to retain their self-respect in the face of ignominious treatment by Hitlerites was made yesterday by Emmanuel Neuman, American representative of the Jewish Agency for Palestine. He addressed a luncheon meeting of Avukah, an organization of young persons in the Zionist movement, in the Palmer house. The Zionist convention closed last night.

Morris Rothenberg, New York attorney and communal leader, was unanimously reëlected president of the Zionist Organization of America at the closing session of the convention, which also adopted a resolution urging the return of Dr. Chaim Weismann, who retired as president of the World Zionist Organization in 1931, to the leadership of the World Zionist movement. The adoption of the resolution followed the farewell address to the convention by Dr. Weismann.

"The persecution of Jews is passé," Neuman said. "Under the old czars a good job was done of it. But Germany wants to do something new—to destroy the soul of Jews. We have maintained a soul, a courage, in the darkest days of Russia and all history.

"The material welfare of our friends in Germany is not so important. The German Jews are still fairly prosperous. But it is important that we help them to take up the yellow badge, the old medieval badge of shame which signified a man was a Jew, which is being literally revived in some parts of Germany, and wear it in pride."

What is happening in Germany, said Neuman, is "an atavistic relapse, an effort to express the national German legend of the gleaming sword with all the consistency of a maniac."

The speaker pointed out that "the academic mind is apt to be pathetic, as it is not nimble enough to adjust itself to the realities of life, which shatter its carefully constructed theories."

"Our academicians are at sea today," he said, "and none are so much at sea as our friends in Germany, who had believed in socialism and liberalism. They failed to see that no truth that can be applied to different environments is so universal that it never changes. The idea of social justice is an old one and didn't originate with Karl Marx, who was also a Jew. But look and see what the Russians made of it—you would not recognize the child in its swaddling clothes of absolutism and tyranny.

"If Jewish life is to be created anew in Palestine, we must not import institutions and methods and traditions, but hold to Jewish culture."

NAZI WAR ON JEW COWARDLY, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—"It is cowardly, not worthy of a great nation. I feel certain the German people will not long sanction the continuance of this sort of thing." David Lloyd George, veteran British statesman, made this criticism of the persecution of Jews in Germany at a banquet of the Jewish religious education board last night. He spoke strongly on the sufferings under the regime of Chancellor Hitler.

"The Germans as a whole are a cultured race," he said, "but in every community there is a residual whose antipathies are only expressed in brutalities. They are on top. Every man who is guilty of those brutalities in Germany is penning on his own breast the badge of inferiority. He acknowledges that he feels beaten by Jewish capacity, Jewish subtlety, Jewish imagination, and Jewish pertinacity. He admits that he cannot fight them on equal terms. He will fight Jewish brains not in a fair contest, but with ten bludgeons to one brain very often."

Lloyd George said he felt certain that the majority of Germans are ashamed of what is going on.

"You cannot proscribe a race while you continue to worship their greatest teachers and that is the position of Germany at the present moment," he said.

The convention will close today with an election of officers.

ASK ROOSEVELT FOR A PROGRAM TO SAVE PARLEY

Nations Will Decide Its Fate Tomorrow.

appear at the Fourth of July reception to Americans at the American embassy. Most of them canceled their acceptances of invitations to the Independence day dinner of the American society tonight.

DELEGATES ARE EXCITED

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—While the leaders of the economic conference were debating its fate today the lobbies of the conference hall and the hotels were seething with excited delegates. Rumor followed rumor. One was that President Roosevelt had backed down and was willing to go to any length, even stabilization, to save the conference.

Another was that he had stood pat. At 5 o'clock the word went around that Secretary of State Hull was in conference with Prime Minister MacDonald. The truth was that Mr. Hull had seen MacDonald an hour earlier and had returned to Claridge's hotel to consult the American delegation.

The steering committee or conference bureau met for an hour and then a brief communique was issued. It said that no decision was taken on the motion to adjourn the conference. A few minutes later another statement said that the steering committee would meet again on Thursday. Later still it was learned that this action was taken at the urgent request of Secretary Hull, who promised by 3 p. m. tomorrow another message from President Roosevelt which, it is hoped, will ease the situation.

Americans Block Scheme.

With the conference at a standstill, the great bulletin board giving the directory of meetings was blank on the monetary side. On the economic side it showed meetings of only a few technical committees such as wheat, wine, and wool.

The program which seemed to be agreed upon before the American intervention before the steering committee tonight was that a plenary session should be called for Thursday to wind up the conference, that all present meetings should be adjourned until conditions "are more favorable," and that the steering committee should continue in existence with power to reconvene the conference when the time is more propitious.

This is possible because the steering committee is composed not of individuals but of nations, and ambassadors or ministers are competent to act.

The change in the atmosphere of the conference after the steering committee meeting was startling. Before that MacDonald, who always shows in his attitude how things are going, was the gloomiest in appearance, while Georges Bonnet, French finance minister, was the gayest. After the meeting MacDonald was laughing and joking and Bonnet was gloomy.

At the same time, it must not be supposed that the British think the conference is out of the wood. One of the leading British delegates said:

"What is the use of setting the corpse on its feet again to give President Roosevelt a chance to have another sock at it?"

The conference is still breathing tonight. The situation is perhaps a little better than it was this morning, but it will need a big dose of strong medicine to put it on its feet again.

STRAUS CALLS EUROPE'S ATTACK ON U. S. UNFAIR

PARIS, July 4.—(AP)—European criticism of America was rejected tonight as unfair by Jesse I. Straus, the United States ambassador, speaking at the American chamber of commerce 4th of July dinner. President Lebrun attended. The ambassador made a vigorous defense of the American economic policy, said Europe did not understand the United States and suggested a better spirit of appreciation of President Roosevelt's efforts.

"When we read in the daily press," he declared, "of some nations, whose friendship we desire and who should be our friends, that we are grasping, that we are selfish and that we are pursuing a course unfavorable to world peace and the solution of world problems, I think it time for us to argue the unfairness of such pronouncements."

He asserted that many European economists regard the United States as a "vast economic laboratory," but reminded his hearers that the success of the experiment would benefit the world. Americans, he added, were conscious of the dangers but were not worried because the government "has the temerity to suggest ideas other than those 'expertly' imposed for years upon nations without great success."

My reason for liking Luckies is strictly personal

After all—since I smoke quite a number of cigarettes each day—don't you think it's just as well that I lean in the right direction? Perhaps you'd call my reason for liking "Toasting" the assurance of purity it gives me—for Luckies come in rather close personal contact with me, you know. Just knowing that each puff of Lucky smoke I draw in is pure—it makes the pleasure of fragrant toasted tobacco that much greater. Certainly, purity never hurt anyone! And besides—"Luckies Please!"

ROOSEVELT ACTS TO SAVE PARLEY FROM COLLAPSE

Urgent Message to Hull Seeks to Keep It Going.

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight sant an urgent cable to Secretary Hull at London, urging the American delegates to the world economic conference to do everything in their power to prevent adjournment until important items on the agenda have been dealt with.

The President indicated after a study of late messages from London that he had every confidence the conference would not break up prematurely, and feels certain the delegates will do everything in their power to keep it alive and active.

Receives "Important Cable."

The President's cable to Secretary Hull was sent soon after receipt of an urgent message from the chairman of the American delegation outlining the desperate status of the parley and asking new instructions. It was said in the President's behalf that he had received and sent many cablegrams during his vacation cruise, and that "an important cable" came to him tonight.

This, it was definitely understood, was the appeal from Secretary Hull.

No Specific Instructions.

Reports that the President had sent specific instructions, outlining to the conference what he believes ought to be done, were denied in a high official quarter tonight. All the instructions that have been sent, it was learned, were included in the message to Mr. Hull to the effect that the conference should be saved if possible.

It was understood that the President feels that the agenda of the conference is sufficiently well defined to make any further specifications superfluous. His position is clear on temporary monetary stabilization, and with that in the discard, the rest of the agenda remains to be considered.

Sends Prompt Reply.

The definite impression was gained in authoritative quarters earlier in the day that the President would make no further effort to salvage the conference, and that domestic policies from this point on would be his chief concern until each country had so adjusted its internal economy that a world agreement might have some hope of success.

However, all this was changed after Mr. Roosevelt returned from Annapolis. He went immediately to his study in the White House and began poring over a mass of messages from the delegation at London. While he was so engaged, the new urgent cablegram came from Mr. Hull and the President dictated a prompt reply.

TOO MANY BANKS HAVE REOPENED, SAYS PROFESSOR

University, Va., July 4.—(AP)—Dr. John M. Chapman, associate professor of banking at Columbia university, in an address before the round table on money, banking, and the financial situation, at the institute of public affairs today said that "the bank failure movement is not yet ended."

"Too many banks have been reopened since the bank holiday," he asserted. "It would probably have been much better in the long run had many these banks been permanently closed. As it is, there appears to be little doubt that many of these institutions are faced with great difficulties which can be adjusted only by liquidation or by their being 'saved' by the Reconstruction Finance corporation or the new guaranty fund once it becomes operative."

The only way to restore our banking system to a sound basis, he said, is by cleaning up the weak banks and putting in their stead sound institutions. "Not till then can we rest comfortably regarding the banking situation in the United States," he added.

The condition of agriculture and the condition of the country church were described as having a very definite dependence upon each other in an address by Dumont Clarke, director of the religious department of the Farmers' Federation, Asheville, N. C., before the round table on country church and agriculture.

Will Face Quiz

Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty said yesterday that he would question Miss Charlotte Witort, 35 years old, 2843 Pearl street, Franklin Park, today, in connection with the plot to extort $3,000 from Dr. Josephine Gabler, 190 North State street. Cletus Monahan, inspector for the state department of registration and education; Dr. Henry J. Millstone, 6314 Cottage Grove avenue, and his nurse-secretary, Emily Ranos, 24 years old, confessed the plot on Monday. Monahan said that Miss Witort, a nurse, was implicated in the plot. She has denied any part in it, but is held at the detective bureau.

DETROIT POLICE ARREST 2; SEIZE BOGUS MONEY

Detroit, Mich., July 4.—(AP)—United States secret service operatives today arrested two men they said were members of a counterfeiting ring and confiscated what they described as counterfeit bills totaling $4,500.

The prisoners are Fred Schnobb, 29, and Clyde Chattin, 27. George Boos, federal agent, said the pair passed a counterfeit bill on a taxi driver soon after their arival in Detroit.

BRITISH PRESS BOTH HAILS AND RAPS ROOSEVELT

Refusal to Protect Gold Basis Stirs Comment.

LONDON, July 4.—(AP)—Editorial opinion on President Roosevelt's refusal to reinstate or protect the gold standard ranged from disapproval to sympathetic consideration today.

The Times thought the gist of the matter was a dispute as to which kind of stability would have priority—stability of exchange or stability of purchasing power.

Urges Parley Kept Alive.

If the world economic conference is to be successful, it said, "a means must be found of reconciling views which in no wise are so irreconcilable as they seem at first sight. In any case there can be no question of abandoning the conference."

The Post said the issue between the dollar and gold currencies, in the absence of some compromise, will likely have to be decided by a process of attrition.

This, it seems, will depend on the success achieved by the President in forcing down the dollar, according to the Post, "and the odds at the moment appear slightly on Mr. Roosevelt's side."

The Herald praised Mr. Roosevelt's statement as a declaration of "economic common sense."

Roosevelt Is Criticized.

A divergence from the President's earlier utterances was found by the Telegraph, which asked, "Has the wild inflationist drive in America gone to such a pitch that it has carried the strongest President in modern times hopelessly away?"

The New Chronicle asserted, "The message reveals a complete and very disconcerting ignorance of the facts of the European situation."

The Express said: "The world economic conference is dead, torpedoed by Roosevelt. The hopes of 66 nations collapsed in chaos.

Lead or Stand Aloof.

BERLIN, July 4.—(AP)—The coincidence of President Roosevelt's stabilization pronouncement before the world economic conference and Independence day was viewed in some German newspaper editorials today as significant. The Boersen-Courier said:

"President Roosevelt's might be charactized as the second declaration of independence. The United States is determind either to take the lead or stand aloof. In no case will the United States follow Europe's lead. Americans possibly regard this as a liberation policy eminently suitable for July 4, but Europe likewise is becoming conscious of being or becoming a colony and longs for liberation."

The Nazi organ, Der Angriff, said President Roosevelt takes the same stand as the Nazi government, namely, that a healthy domestic economic system is more important than the relation of home currency to foreign.

FRENCH DOUBT ROOSEVELT CAN REVIVE PARLEY

Believe He Put Himself in Awkward Position.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—Convinced that nothing can save the economic conference now, the French are sitting tight tonight waiting for President Roosevelt to "repudiate himself."

They have already received what they consider to be authorized assurances from the American delegation that the President really did not mean all he said yesterday. They recount with relish the dramatic irruption by William C. Bullitt this afternoon into the meeting of the conference steering committee which was drafting the text of an adjournment proposal.

As they understood Bullitt's mission, this member of the "brain trust" in supporting the American plea not to decide the fate of the conference until Thursday declared that both he and Secretary of State Cordell Hull are convinced that President Roosevelt's message had been "misinterpreted" and that the President would seek to clear up the misunderstanding tomorrow.

French Are Skeptical.

All the French from Georges Bonnet, French finance minister, on down are highly skeptical of the new Presidential message and even more skeptical over the possibility of any program which Mr. Roosevelt might submit providing a way out of the conference deadlock at this time.

They are carefully refraining, however, from any gesture which might shift the blame for breaking up the conference from the United States to them.

While concern over the future of the gold currencies, including their own, continues to preoccupy them, they are getting a considerable kick out of the awkward diplomatic position in which they think Mr. Roosevelt put himself into. Bonnet recovered his composure tonight and talked to the foreign press in a confident and almost aggressive tone.

He made it plain that France will coöperate in the work of the conference as long as there is any work to be accomplished, but reiterated the French position that monetary instability makes any serious general accords impossible.

Bonnet particularly emphasized that all members of the conference—except Americans—are convinced of the futility of prolonging it and that a suggestion for adjournment did not come from any single country or group of countries.

French Press Attacks U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 4.—The dollar hit the lowest level yet on the Paris bourse today, but nothing compared with the low the United States reached in the opinion of the French press, which celebrated the Fourth of July by setting off editorial cannon crackers under Uncle Sam's coattails.

America's low in the press was more marked, with the papers of the right most violent, but newspapers of all opinion were plenty vehement enough. All papers harped on two themes, that Mr. Roosevelt's refusal of temporary currency stabilization sounded the death knell of the conference and that the Roosevelt policy has changed since former Premier Herriot's visit to Washington.

The conservative Journal des Debats says that the conference is dead.

"If the United States wants to launch herself on a catastrophic adventure of inflation, that is her business," it said. "No one can discuss the right of President Roosevelt and other Americans to hold whatever opinions they wish, even if they are irrational. But that is no reason for expressing one's ideas in the tone of an irritated prophet."

Comments on Difference.

Commenting on the difference between the pronouncement in favor of stabilization after Herriot's visit to Washington and yesterday's ruling against it, Debats said:

"Directed economy seems singularly to lack direction."

The semi-official Temps was hardly less violent, saying that "a formidable struggle has begun. America, completely disorganized financially and economically, is complementing her doctrine of directed economy with that of directed currency, thus risking a terrifying leap into the unknown."

Other papers call President Roosevelt everything from a mercurial variable to bad tempered. Not one has a word to say in favor of the Roosevelt pronouncement.

GOLD BLOC CHIEFS TO FORMULATE MONEY STRATEGY

PARIS, July 4.—(AP)—The "gold bloc" chiefs of six European countries will probably gather in the Bank of France fortress shortly to formulate their currency strategy. Governors of the banks of issue of France, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium, and Poland are understood to have agreed to talk over the situation here, possibly Saturday.

The Bank of France officials say that action is neither necessary nor likely, asserting that the gold countries are able to take care of themselves and that the mere knowledge that they can coöperate would lessen any chances of a concerted attack upon any one of the group.

Gold Clause Group Founded.

BASEL, Switzerland, July 4.—(AP)—An international committee against repudiation of the gold clause was founded here today by representatives of Dutch, Belgian, French, and Swiss holders of gold securities. The purpose of the organization is to protect the members' interests from the results of "repudiation of the gold clause by numerous debtors."

Regrets Rift

Los Angeles, Cal., July 4.—[Special.]—Mary Pickford is "sorry things had to happen this way." She will, however, let her marital trouble with Douglas Fairbanks take its course, she said today.

Miss Pickford appeared as an official hostess at the Los Angeles air races this afternoon.

"I am sorry it had to come out at this time, but that's the way things turned out, and that's all I can say," she declared concerning her possible divorce. She would not say whether she and Fairbanks had exchanged views by cable since she made her public announcement last Sunday. Fairbanks is in London.

The statement was made for her today: "She has taken no steps toward divorce and we don't know that she ever will take any." That was in response to reports that United States Senator Pat McCarron, who had represented her in a secret divorce from Owen Moore, movie actor, in Minden, Nev., in 1920, had hastened to Nevada and that Fairfax Cosby, another attorney of hers, had been reported en route there.

RITCHIE EXPLAINS HOW STATE KEEPS BUDGET SQUARED

Maryland Governor Has Four Point Program.

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland today told how his state had managed to maintain a balanced budget and reduce its tax rate in spite of the depression.

The Maryland executive, who was one of Roosevelt's leading rivals for the Democratic nomination last summer at Chicago, spoke in a "You and Your Government" series on economy in government presented by the committee on civic education.

Outlines His Scheme.

Mr. Ritchie outlined the four point program which is in effect in Maryland and which he said was applicable to other states and municipalities in the present emergency.

The basis for intelligent economy, he said, lay in reorganization or realignment of the departments of governments "to centralize responsibility for their administration, coördinate functions which are related, eliminate waste and overlapping, and generally promoted efficiency."

Next in importance, he said, was an executive budget system under which the executive presents a balanced budget which the legislative body has the power to reduce but not to increase.

The third point, he said, was the establishment of a central purchasing agency "equipped to secure the benefits of discounts and wholesale prices and to take advantage of favorable market conditions."

Where the Money Goes.

A central personnel department, was the fourth item in his program of governmental economy. This, he said, should be equipped "to prescribe the desirable standards for the various kinds of public service, except heads of departments, whose selection should be discretionary" with the executive. Certain other appointments which are not usually included in the classified service also should be exempt he said.

Ritchie expressed the opinion that "no large part of the mounting cost of government is due to useless officeholders" and pointed out that the greatest budgetary outlays are for education, public health and public welfare, aside from highway construction which usually is paid for through revenues from gasoline taxation. Welfare activities, he said, were the very ones which the people did not want to see destroyed or impaired.

Income Tax Lien Filed Against Helen Twelvetrees

Los Angeles, Cal., July 4.—(AP)—Helen Twelvetrees, film actress, and Nacio Herb Brown, song writer, were named today in income tax liens filed in federal court. The government charged Miss Twelvetrees still owes $1,056.04 on her 1932 earnings and Brown $3,465.28 on his 1931 income.

EXTORTIONIST WALKS INTO A TRAP SET BY POLICE; IS CAPTURED

Buffalo, N. Y., July 4.—(AP)—Falling into a trap set by police and state troopers in an effort to catch the person who had sent letters demanding $50,000 under threat of death to Norman P. Clement, Gustave Michan, 23, of Lackawanna, N. Y., until recently of Chicago, was arrested near the Buffalo city line early today. Clement is a prominent Buffalo capitalist and charity worker.

The capture came after police, in Mr. Clement's big sedan, tossed a packet into the bushes at a spot directed in the letter. Troopers, lying in hiding near the rendezvous, reported that shortly after the dummy package had been tossed from the car Michan crawled cautiously to the spot. As soon as he opened the bundle the troopers closed in.

According to police, the prisoner confessed he had sent the notes, but declared he had no intention of harming Clement if his threats were ignored.

BACETRIOPHAGE SOUGHT AS SKIN DISEASE REMEDY

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Hundreds of persons suffering from a variety of skin diseases that have long been baffling to the medical profession, have gone to the aquarium, at the Battery, during the last month, begging for treatments with bacetriophage, a mysterious substance contained in water. Development of the substance by members of the aquarium staff came to public notice only recently.

Hopes for a cure, strengthened by the favorable results of early experiments with the bacetriophage, have led many of the applicants to extreme measures. Huge sums have been offered for treatment or for samples of the phage itself. Letters from many sections of this country and Canada have been received, all pleading for a chance to try the possible remedy.

WREATH LAID ON COOLIDGE GRAVE BY BOY SCOUTS

Plymouth Notch, Vt., July 4.—(AP)—Boy Scouts of Vermont paid tribute today to the memory of another son of Vermont who rose to the Presidency of the United States and whose body was laid to rest in Plymouth Notch, his birthplace, early this year.

The occasion was the 61st anniversary of the birth of Calvin Coolidge—and the first such anniversary following his death.

Upon the unmarked grave today, when the Boy Scouts came to lay their wreath, there rested two other tributes—a wreath sent by President and Mrs. Roosevelt and a flower pot containing wild flowers gathered in nearby fields by citizens of Plymouth Notch.

A hundred Boy Scouts from all sections of Vermont praticipated in the pilgrimage.

Their pilgrimage took them to the Coolidge homestead where Miss Aurora Pierce, long the Coolidges' housekeeper, showed them the historic room where President Coolidge was given the oath of office by his father, after President Harding's death. They saw, too, such homely Coolidge family relics as the kerosene lamp by light of which Plymouth's illustrious son was sworn into office.

Then they moved on to the cemetery, where speakers eulogized Plymouth's illustrious while the scouts and about a hundred tourists listened.

KIDNAP CLERKS AT FIREWORKS STAND; BURN IT

Two gunmen kidnaped three employés from a fireworks stand at McCormick road and Touhy avenue, in Tessville yesterday and then burned the stand.

The stand is owned by Harry Stein, who operates a chain of them throughout the county. According to Police Chief Lorenz Schey of Tessville, one Stein's stands was burned in a similar manner a year ago, apparently by business rivals.

The employes who were kidnaped were Philip Schultz, Sam Weissman and Anthony Marian. Their captors let them out at Kedzie avenue and Ainslie street in Chicago.

RUSSIA EXPECTS U. S. RECOGNITION BY END OF JULY

Reds Ready to Celebrate Diplomatic Victory.

BY DONALD DAY,
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 4.—American recognition of the soviet government is expected during this month by the Moscow foreign office. Its chief, Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov, at present is negotiating with American representatives at the London economic conference concerning the opening of diplomatic relations.

The long awaited recognition of the world's first communist state by the world's largest capitalist state will be celebrated throughout Russia as bolshevism's greatest diplomatic victory.

In the course of their conversations with foreign diplomats, soviet statesmen openly state that the moral results of American recognition of Russia will greatly assist the soviet government to pull through the present critical summer and the coming winter, with famine and plagues threatening the stability of communism.

Campaign Gains Impetus.

The soviets' campaign for American regonition, which is supported by a large number of Americans who have been royally entertained in Moscow, has gained impetus during the administration of President Roosevelt. Since March it has been the chief topic of conversation between soviet officials and foreigners stationed in Russia.

Great stress is being laid upon the conversion to recognitio n by Karl Bickel, chief of one of America's privately owned news agencies, who has granted interviews to a number of European newspapers favoring the opening of such diplomatic relations.

The Baltic press, which is better informed as to developments in Russia than any press in Europe and which has constantly indorsed America's stand towards bolshevism, comments that the increasing talk of American recognition reveals that the morale of the United States has been shaken by the depression. It states that the collapse of bolshevism will again be postponed by the opening of relations between the United States and Russia.

Thrice Saved by U. S.

"America may achieve the doubtful credit of saving bolshevism on three occasions," writes the editor of the newspaper Latvis. "First, when the American relief administration brought bolshevism through the famine of 1921; second, when thousands of American engineers entered Russia to help the alleged completion of the five year plan; and third, the occasion now presenting itself, for with the stimulus of recognition Moscow may succeed in overcoming the present internal crisis."

Litvinov Hailed as Master Mind.

LONDON, July 4.—(AP)—Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, who entered the world economic conference as an unknown quantity, is now being hailed as the master mind at the conclave.

Litvinov alone, of all the galaxy of statesmen assembled at London, has obtained something concrete out of the meetings here. While others disputed over currency stabilization and other financial and economic issues, the rotund bespectacled Russian minister got nine nations to sign nonaggression pacts with his country; did much to smooth the way for American recognition of the Moscow government; completed negotiations for soviet purchase of 60,000 to 80,000 bales of cotton from the United States on a 70 per cent credit basis; and, with Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, agreed to the release of the two British engineers imprisoned at Moscow in exchange for lifting London's retaliatory embargo on Russian goods.

An agreement open to all nations, defining aggression, was signed today by Rusisa, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Turkey. This was nonaggression treaties, which now numbers thirteen.

IDLE RAISING GARDEN PRODUCE TO FEED SELVES

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special]—Domestic garden produce raised by the idle during the summer will constitute a "sizeable" contribution to relief food needs during the coming winter, Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, announced today.

So successful has been the movement toward "producing your own produce," Mr. Hopkins said, one state administrator has adopted the slogan, "no garden, no relief," which means, he added, "that every family receiving relief, that can, must grow a vegetable garden."

At the same time Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree association, said that continuance of the forest works camps as one item of national planning would be a "double header" investment for the nation in that it gives work and builds up the forests. He advocated renewal of the forest project every year and on an even larger scale.

Gore Urges Beer Revenue for Porto Rican Mothers

SAN JUAN, P. R., July 4.—(AP)—Gov. Robert H. Gore of Oak Park, Ill., inaugurated Saturday as the 11th American chief executive of Porto Rico, urged in a speech today that revenues from taxes on beer, wine, and other beverages be set aside to establish a pension fund for destitute mothers. The governor's address, part of a Fourth of July celebration, was followed by a parade.

Honduran Capital Hit by Hurricane, Quake and Fire

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, July 4.—(AP)—Tegucigalpa was visited last night by a hurricane, a rainstorm, two landslides, and an earthquake, and early today by a disastrous fire. Three persons were injured and five houses were destroyed by the earthquake. A theater and half a dozen commercial houses were burned in today's blaze.

BUSINESS AGENT OF ALTERIE UNION SHOOTS AT WIFE

While Louie ["Two Gun"] Alterie, the gangster turned cowboy, was resting in a police cell yesterday, Thomas Burke, business agent of Alterie's theatrical janitors' union, was out painting the town red in approved wild west fashion, with police some distance back on his trail.

Burke separated from his wife, Betty, three months ago, and has been living in a loop hotel. Yesterday he appeared at her home at 8024 South Paulina street in an intoxicated condition. When he refused to leave she went to the telephone to call police, whereupon, she charges, Burke fired two shots at her.

Then he left the house with a war whoop and fired several more shots in the air before driving away in his automobile. Later in the day he telephoned Mrs. Burke that he would be back to "get her." A police detail was posted in the house.

Alterie, once indicted and long suspected as a kidnaper, was questioned by Chief of Detectives Schoemaker about the Factor kidnaping case. He denied any knowledge of it beyond what he had read in the newspapers. He has a ranch at Stillwater Lake, Colo., and gets $330 a month as president of the theatrical janitors' union, he said.

RUSSIA PLEASED WITH R. F. C. LOAN TO BUY COTTON

MOSCOW, July 4.—(AP)—Official comment has been refused on all sides upon the announcement that the American Reconstruction Finance corporation has granted a $4,000,000 loan to the soviet government with which to purchase cotton from the United States. The soviet press up to the present has not published the announcement.

Both the foreign office and the commissariat for foreign trade cautiously refrained from discussing the matter in any particular, apparently awaiting instructions from higher up as to just what the official attitude should be in view of the delicacy with which the subject of soviet-American relations is treated here.

Unquestionably, however, the action of the American finance corporation will be pleasing to Moscow authorities because it may signify the lifting of the American blockade on financial assistance to the soviets with future potentialities for a change in the American attitude upon recognition. The news would be pleasing also because Russia needs cotton and may need it for some time to come. Although this year's plan contemplates production of five million tons of cotton, present indications are that this will not be attained.

AN EXTORTIONIST ESCAPES TRAP IN HAIL OF BULLETS

Denver, July 4.—(AP)—An extortionist escaped today under the pistol fire of detectives who accompanied Timothy A. Pedley, 57, Denver investment broker, to the place he was instructed to deliver $30,000 under penalty of death.

When Pedley reached the appointed place, a man jumped from behind a hedge and called to him to "toss out the money." Then seeing detectives in a car behind Pedley, the man fled while the officers fired several volleys at him.

Bernard Eisner, 20, was under arrest for questioning in the case, but Captain of Detectives William Armstrong said he was seeking a man "well up in years, of good education and exceptionally intelligent" as the leader of the extortion ring and another man as his aid.

ROOSEVELT GETS FIRST OF TRADE CODES TODAY

Speed Action as President Returns to Desk.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—With President Roosevelt's return to his executive desk tomorrow, officials at the head of the industrial recovery program are looking forward to speedy action on the various trade codes now in prospect.

The cotton textile code, the only one so far on which hearings have been held, is expected to be ready for submission to the President tomorrow. It is to receive careful scrutiny at the hands of the chief executive, for officialdom, industry, and labor are as one in regarding it as the model for the numerous codes to follow.

Others to Follow.

Submission of the cotton trade code to the President is to be the signal for the administrators of the industrial recovery act to take up the code for the woman's apparel industry, which is next in line for consideration. The woman's apparel code is to affect some 500,000 workers.

The oil industry code is also ready for presentation. Next in order probably will be the codes of the iron and steel industry and the anthracite coal groups. The codes of the automobile, lumber, wool, and retail dry goods industries are reported on the way.

Coal Meeting This Week.

Two important meetings dealing with the coal industry are scheduled to be held this week. On Thursday operators of northern mines will meet to discuss a coal industry code prepared by Central Coals Associates, Inc., which contemplates a material reduction in the wage spread between northern and southern fields. On Friday, at the call of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, operators of unionized mines in the central and western field will meet to talk wages, hours of labor, and conditions of employment.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial recovery administrator, has let it be known that a single code is desired for the whole bituminous coal industry. Indiana mines have already submitted a separate code, and other individual codes are reported to be in preparation. But the plan is to consider these and from them evolve a code to cover the entire soft coal group.

Johnson Acts to Lift Barriers.

Mr. Johnson also sought today to speed the amendment of state laws which stand as barriers to the nationwide application of the national recovery act.

One state, Wisconsin, already has put such an amendment through its assembly, Johnson said, and two others, California and Ohio, have bills pending.

The administrators of the national recovery act, however, already have in their hands legal reins with which they can guide the new law past some state obstacles, Johnson indicated.

"The national recovery administration," he said, "is relying on court decisions which have held that transactions in themselves not in interstate commerce but which affect interstate commerce are governed by federal statute and on the fact that federal statutes supersede state laws that may be in conflict.

"Nevertheless, the amendment of existing state laws, which makes the administration of the national recovery act difficult, should be undertaken at once."

TO AID POST

FAY GILLIS.

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Fay Gillis of Minneapolis, 23, will accompany Wiley Post over the most dangerous section of his proposed around the world flight, according to his representative here today. She is said to be the only woman member of the Caterpillar club. Miss Gillis left her present home in Moscow on June 25 for Novo-Sibiersk, Post's intended first landing place after his projected nonstop solo flight from Floyd Bennett field, Brooklyn, to Berlin.

Miss Gillis will have gas and oil ready for Post's plane, the Winnie Mae of Oklahoma. Her aviation experience and fluent Russian are counted on to aid Post greatly. She will fly with him on the 2,250 mile hop to Khabarovsk.

Miss Gillis will occupy a tiny improvised seat behind the huge gas tanks and in the tail. Shut in semi-darkness, she will be unable to communicate with Post while en route or view the mountains and the steppes over which they will pass. It will take her three weeks to retrace her route by rail.

TOKIO, July 4.—(AP)—Rengo [Japanese] news agency reported today that Japanese police seized a 4,000 ton Russian steamer and a 100 ton Russian fishing boat off Makkanro, an uninhabited island among the northern Kuriles. More than 30 Russians were arrested. The police were sent out to investigate reports that Russians were spying in the Kuriles, a group belonging to Japan, Rengo said.

5 ADRIFT AT SEA SOUGHT ALONG EASTERN COAST

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Five men fighting a gale in the barge S. Wilder, or in its lifeboat, at least twenty miles off the Atlantic coast, somewhere between south New Jersey and Virginia, were the object of a general search tonight. Coast guard patrol boats and a seaplane were on watch, according to meager wireless reports received here.

The men formed the crew of a barge which broke away from the seagoing tug Brooks Scanlon during heavy weather off the Maryland coast on Monday. The barge last was sighted off Assateague, Va., at noon today by a seaplane. The barge's deckhouse had been wrecked by the high seas, and the flyer did not see any of the men aboard. They may have sought safety in the barge's dory.

At 2 p. m. Monday the barge was sighted by the freighter A. L. Kent and the five men aboard appeared to be in distress, but declined an offer to be taken off, according to the report made.

Finds Husband Dead in Garage at Rear of Home

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—[Special.]—Harry B. Rutter, 57, who has been idle the last three years, was found dead today from a bullet wound in his head. The body was discovered by his wife, Elizabeth, when she returned from Humboldt park, where she had attended a July 4 celebration. The body was in the garage, in the rear of the home at 2619 South Lenox street. Nearby was a pistol with which he had been shot. Mrs. Rutter said her husband has been despondent.

EVANSTON WIFE JAILED ON HER MATE'S CHARGE

Mrs. Frances Cummings, 707 Hinman avenue, Evanston, was arrested in the Gingham inn at Ontarioville, five miles from Elgin, late Monday evening on a warrant charging disorderly conduct, which had been obtained by her husband, Attorney John H. Cummings Jr. She was released yesterday on cash bond of $50 after her attorney, Larry Swinyer of Elgin, threatened to seek a writ of habeas corpus.

Justice of the Peace George Gray of Bartlett said that Cummings had taken out a warrant not only for his wife but also for one George L. Beensterboer, but the only one served was that against Mrs. Cummings.

At her home last night Mrs. Cummings said that an error had been made in bringing Beensterboer's name into the case and that a report that Mr. Cummings was seeking evidence on which to base a divorce case was incorrect, as this had been "all squelched." A hearing on the case in Justice of the Peace Gray's court is set for tomorrow.

Newly Married Couple Killed in Crossing Crash

Alma, Mich., July 4.—[Special.]—Carl Truxton, 27, of Holly, Mich., and his bride of ten days, Stella Crosby Truxton, 25, formerly of Clarkston, Mich., were killed today when their motorcycle crashed into the side of a train at a crossing on U. S. highway 27 near here. According to Coroner H. V. Wright, Truxton, in making a turn on the highway before the intersection, apparently saw the train coming and believed he could beat it, but then changed his mind. The motorcycle struck the engine tender and was wrecked.

EXTORTION PLOT FAILS; POLICE SEIZE TWO MEN

Milwaukee Real Estate Operator Threatened.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—[Special.]—With the arrest yesterday by West Allis police of Erick Carlstein, 26, and his brother-in-law, Joseph Janchen, 24, on charges of a holdup, it was made public today that Otto Conrad, wealthy and prominent real estate man living at 828 West Maple street in West Allis, has been the recipient of extortion notes demanding $3,000.

The West Allis police said late today they have obtained a confession from Janchen stating that he and Carlstein sent an extortion note to Conrad, and also made demands from him by telephone. The police have been working on the case since June 8, when Conrad received the extortion demand.

The letter was three pages long. The words were printed by hand, in an effort to disguise the handwriting. Police said that Janchen admitted writing the letter.

Gets Threat of Death.

If advised Conrad that he did not have "much longer to live" unless he complied with the demand. "We are not kidding," the letter stated further. It ordered him to wrap the $3,000, in denominations of $5, $10, and $20 bills, in a compact package, and to place it under the outside drain pipe of an apartment building at 8831 West Maple street, which the real estate man owns. Carlstein lives in this building, and the window of his apartment commands a view of the place where the money was to have been placed, the police said.

"'Remember, no one is going to hurt you if you do as we tell you," read the letter. "Mr. Conrad, we mean business, if you get killed, it will be your own fault. Leave this money on Saturday night [June 10] some time after dark and don't disturb the package if it lays there for several days. If you do as we tell you, we never will trouble you again. But if you fail, or if you notify police or relatives, you may be riding down the street some night and some one in another automobile will fill you full of lead."

The letter was not signed. It was written on ordinary paper.

Notifies Police.

Conrad immediately notified the police. Detectives John Sweeney, James Lavalle, and Harvey Dickhoff of the West Allis police department were assigned to investigate. They prepared a package as specified. It contained only a few legitimate treasury notes on the outside. The remainder was newspaper cut into the size of bills. This package was placed at the designated spot.

But on Saturday night, June 10, shortly after the package was put in place, Conrad received a telephone call instructing him to pick up the package and "drive out the Mukwonago road, where some one will meet you in an automobile to take it." Janchen admits making this telephone call, the West Allis police said.

With two detectives as his bodyguard, Conrad drove his automobile along the Mukwonago road several times that night, but no one approached him.

Pair Lose Nerve.

Janchen told the West Allis police, they said, that he and his comrade lost their nerve after making all preliminary arrangements in the extortion plot.

Carlstein and Janchen were arrested last night two hours after the grocery of John Pemki at 7133 West Becher street had been held up. Witnesses memorized the license number of the automobile used in the holdup and it was traced to Carlstein. The pair have admitted the holdup, police declare, and said it was the first one they had attempted.

The fact that Carlstein lived in the apartment building outside of which the $3,000 was to have been placed caused the questioning of the pair on the extortion plot, police said.

YANKS ABOARD SHIP MISSING IN CUBAN CYCLONE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 4.—Anxiety prevailed here tonight concerning the fate of the steamship Pinero. It is feared storms may have disabled the ship. The Pinero carrying 16 passengers, eight of them Americans, left Batabano, southern port of Havana province, for the Isle of Pines, 90 miles to the south, and has not been reported since 9 p. m. yesterday.

Relief squads today located five additional victims of yesterday's cyclonic storm, bringing the death toll to 28.

The town of La Coloma was razed, the only building left standing was the rural guard office. All towns within a 50 mile radius of the city of Pinar del Rio lost about half their buildings, while crops of tobacco, fruit, and vegetables also suffered greatly, according to the official statement tonight.

RABBIT HEADED FOR STEW GOES MAD; BITES COOK

LILLE, France, July 4.—The first recorded case in France of a rabbit suffering from rabies came to light today. It occurred in a plump animal which Mme. Le Febure bought at a market here for a dish of stew.

The creature climbed out of the market basket on the way home and chewed at madame's finger but was quickly poked back. When it arrived in the kitchen where it was destined to be converted into a stew it went berserk. It bit M. Le Febure, his son and two daughters, cleaned up on the dog and two cats and finally was chased into a chicken coop where it mangled ten hens, killed three ducks and then proceeded to die itself.

Arrest Taxi Owner as Forger of License Tags

James Bennett, colored, 40 years old, 4329 Indiana avenue, was arrested last evening by State Highway Policeman Noel Williams on a charge of having forged more than 100 sets of automobile license plates. He is the operator of a small taxicab service and is said to have confessed that he manufactured the plates for his four cabs and for the cars of numerous friends.

JAIL HUSBAND OF CHICAGO WOMAN AS PARIS FORGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 4.—Alberto Agostina Badesi, former reserve officer in the Italian navy and lawyer of Rome, was sentenced to five years in prison here today for forgery of American Express travelers' checks. Badesi is a naturalized American and his wife is a Chicagoan. His accomplice, Agostini Delisi, was sentenced to eight years in prison in the Milan Penal court yesterday, to which city he escaped when Badesi was arrested in Paris.

Badesi and Delisi sailed from New York on March 12 with 3,000 forged checks worth $100 each. When they arrived in Paris they began passing the checks, and got rid of 120 the first day. Then they made the mistake of presenting 29 to the French Bank Societe Generale on the Place de L'Opera, just one block from the American Express company office in Paris.

The clerk sent the checks across the street while Badesi was waiting. He came back with officers who arrested Badesi. Delisi, who was the lookout, fled to Italy, where he was caught. Badesi only had 25,000 francs (about $1,000 at par) when arrested. The rest had already been sent to America by cable, $8,750 going to Delisi's wife in New York and $2,500 to Badesi's wife in Chicago.

[By the Associated Press.]

[Copyright: 1933: By the Associated Press.]

The lives of 144 men, women and children yesterday paid for the celebration of the nation's 157th birthday.

Automobiles accounted for 62 deaths; 46 persons drowned; six died as a result of fireworks, and 30 were killed by other accidental causes.

Thousand of other celebrants suffered injuries; property damage was great. Shootings, fights, and airplane accidents contributed to the death toll.

Powder Blast Kills Two.

Port Alleghany, Pa., July 4.—(AP)—A "sparkler" in the hand of a 3 year old girl caused two deaths today because it was taken too close to a can of powder.

Fred Freer, 50, and his granddaughter, Diana Jean Ostrander, 3, died in a hospital and seven others suffered burns. Three are in a serious condition.

Members of the family were celebrating when a can of powder failed to explode, so it was taken in the house to be fitted with a new fuse. While the men worked on it, little Diana Jean took her "sparkler" too close and the powder went off.

Killed by Own Bomb.

Boy Starts Fireworks.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 4.—(AP)—A small boy, whose name was not learned, scratched a "son-of-a-gun" against a counter in J. Halpern & Co.'s wholesale fireworks establishment. He disappeared out the door as the first pinwheel let go. Fuses caught, whole cases of firecrackers exploded, Roman candles and skyrockets performed their intended functions, causing 120 persons to flee for their lives.

1,000 New Yorkers Hurt.

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—Despite official precautions and "safe and sane" propaganda, approximately 1,000 persons, mostly children, were burned and otherwise injured in all parts of the city today by Fourth of July fireworks.

36 Bathers Are Rescued.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 4.—[Special.]—Thirty-six persons were rescued from the surf at Los Angeles oceanside beaches today. No drownings were reported. Thirty-two persons were treated at police receiving hospital for fireworks injuries.

BURNS FATAL TO WOMAN.

NOW THE DEBTS CAN BE PAID.

The passionate desire of Europe to stabilize the dollar at a figure high enough to be advantageous to Europe could be realized through the payment by Europe of its war debts to this country.

The dollar is falling while the pound, the franc and the rest are rising. That is because there is a relatively heavy demand for European currencies and little demand for dollars. American importers and American tourists must buy foreign currencies, but American exporters are holding their payments abroad; accordingly the usual demand for dollar exchange is absent and the dollar must fall.

England, France, Italy and the rest ought to insist therefore on paying what they owe us. That would stimulate demand for dollars and strengthen our currency while it weakens theirs, as they desire. A convenient mechanism for achieving this end might be the sale by our treasury of the allied war debts in convenient sums to our importers and tourists. Any one in this country who needed francs, pounds, or lire could buy baby bonds of the appropriate amount from our treasury and the war debts would be written down by that much. These bonds, of course, would be acceptable in the country upon which they were issued.

Thus the American commercial demand for foreign currencies would be reduced and accordingly the dollar would rise, as the European nations desire. The fact that the dollar was rising might well inspire many American exporters to bring their money home and this should result in still further advances in the dollar.

The nations of Europe, by a curious perversion of morals, have made it a point of pride to repudiate. Even though it is obviously in their interest today to pay their debts, as their constant insistence at London upon a stabilization upward of the dollar evidences, they are not paying them. Hitherto this country has been demanding payment in the interest of our taxpayers and our treasury. That appeal was ineffective because our taxpayers and treasury are not objects of great concern in London and Paris. The moment has now come when we can conscientiously demand our money in the interest of the allied nations themselves and at the same time we can present a ready-made and simple plan for collection which obviates the transfer problem about which so much has been written and said.

AN APPEAL TO REASON.

The July issue of Foreign Affairs opens with the most notable contribution yet made to that review and to the discussion of our international policy in recent years. It is an article by John Bassett Moore, late member of the international court and the most distinguished of our authorities on international law and diplomacy. Prof. Moore entitled his article "An Appeal to Reason," to reason which the good Lord knows has been a rare visitant of late years to the diplomatic pronouncements and procedure of our government.

Prof. Moore deals specifically with an article by our late secretary of state, Mr. Stimson, and especially with the major assumption upon which the Stimsonian doctrines are based, namely: That world opinion has undergone a revolutionary change, a revolution in human thought expressed and largely effectuated by the Kellogg pact "outlawing" war. We all, as Prof. Moore remarks, wish the parties to this treaty would observe it, but, says Prof. Moore, "when I am told that the renunciation and the promise constitute an epoch in history, and denote on the part of the signatories, or even any of them, a radical change in attitude toward war and toward the use of the vast armaments which they continue to maintain and show so much reluctance to reduce, I can hardly be reproached for recalling the Law and the Prophets and the Sermon on the Mount. On these foundations great churches have been built and untold millions still worship at their shrines. Fundamentally they all teach brotherly kindness, justice, and peace; and yet the most heavily armed and most warlike of modern nations have been those that profess the Christian faith. It is these that brought to the far east the modern implements of war. I would not destroy the nimbus of the Kellogg pact; but when I am asked to believe that the renunciation and the promise complete a moral revolution, said to have begun during the world war, more radical than the commands of the Almighty and the precepts of Christ had been able to effect, I am asked to exhibit a credulity beyond the capacity of common minds."

This millennial theory preached by Mr. Stimson has been warmly received by our intelligentsia, by the pacifists and leaguists, professors and political clerics who resolute and agitate for every nostrum plausibly labeled as a cure of war. This was to be expected, but the absence of vigorous challenge and exposure of its fallacies from the press, from professional students of international law and diplomacy, and from senators who share with the executive the responsibility of forming our foreign policy has been ominous. Prof. Moore's appeal to reason is the first important protest from professional authority and THE TRIBUNE has been one of the few voices in the American press to challenge the recent course of our diplomacy and point out its implications.

The explanation, we suppose, is in our preoccupation with domestic affairs, resumed after the brief interlude of the late war and intensified by the depression. Therefore we have let organized minorities and officials without respect for the realities of international conditions put forth half baked theories and mischievous proposals for the abandonment of American foreign policies. The assumption of a transformation of human nature, on which they are based, can be made only by one who turns his back upon even the most notorious events of the present. As Prof. Moore pungently remarks: "Nothing could more convincingly betray the fustian texture of the new psychology and will to peace than the circumstances that among its postulates there is not one which is not contrary to palpable realities, to the teachings of history, and to the formulation, in universal legal principles, of the results of human experience." Prof. Moore's discussion of the proposal to abolish the American doctrine of neutral rights, the current pacifist fallacies as to embargoes, the conundrum of the aggressor, and the dangerous implications of that pet of our international altruists, the consultative pact, is weighted with experience, knowledge, and sound judgment. We shall discuss Prof. Moore's opinions on these inspirations of the new diplomacy in later editorials. Meanwhile we call attention to this important and timely article. It is a blast of fresh air in the sick chamber of American diplomacy.

GOVERNMENT RAIDS ON CAPITAL.

Otto Kahn followed the Morgan partners in the Pecora quiz into private banking. Mr. Kahn's experiences as a distinguished patron of the arts have given him more acquaintance with public speaking than J. P. Morgan has had, and that, with his affability as a man of the world, enabled him to get along with his inquisitors on the whole amiably and to make some philosophical excursions into the field of taxes and economics.

The Kahn firm, like the Morgan firm, suffered losses and these losses went into Kahn's tax schedule and, being set up against his income, left no income and produced no taxes. The government, having sought to seize capital gains, was obliged to stand the consequences of capital losses in bad years. The federal tax collector had gone outside the field of incomes and the game went against the collector.

Mr. Kahn in his discussion of the causes and consequences of this tax folly drew attention to two bad features. When the bull market was running away from all common sense and when the stocks had reached the peak which scared every sensible and informed man, the investors refused to sell and check the inflation because if they did so the government would descend upon their capital gains and expropriate a large part of them. Consequently the tendency of the market was towards panic.

Then again, when fortunes were being wiped out and the tax year was coming to its close, the system of taxation impelled the losers to sell in order to take their losses and reduce their taxes. Thus one feature of the tax law contributed to the inflation leading to the crash and another feature made the collapse worse. The tax policy of the federal government was an unsettled and, as it proved, a disastrous factor in the frenzied procedure of American securities and speculation.

The government attempted squeeze plays and squeezed itself. Its principles of taxation are laid down by men who think or pretend to think that general prosperity can be promoted by government expropriations of private wealth. This year's experience with increased rates shows decreased returns. Nevertheless, the folly prevails of trying to recover from diminishing returns and depleted revenue by doing more of the thing which has caused the depletion. As taxes become harder to bear, the policy is to make them less bearable.

If government confined itself to taxes which incomes could stand without destroying the producers and confined its taxes to incomes and did not make them raids on capital, it would get its revenue and it would not destroy the economic structure of the country.

THE GAME OF A CENTURY.

By Thursday evening there should be an answer to the unanswerable, unless the athletes are still performing prodigies under floodlights and Friday's dawn comes to find them stuck in the first inning because of hitting that can't be stopped or in a string of zeros bigger than the tail of the world debts because the pitching can't be hit. It is to be hoped that the management has made provision for enough accountants and carpenters. The scoreboard in Comiskey park may run several times around the place before the incredible possibilities of the event have been exhausted.

The only thing predictable about the game between the best of the National and American leagues is that the whole matter is unpredictable. Forty-nine thousand citizens will never be the same again. They are the ticket holders. They probably will be somewhat annoying to their neighbors for the rest of their lives. They are bound to be anecdotal in a persistent way, regardless of the passage of years, and their acquaintances may take to avoiding them when it is possible to do so undetected. They will "remember when," a delightful preoccupation for the addict but a danger in casual contacts.

If Goliath had met Samson, if Napoleon had encountered Cæsar when he defiled out of the Alps, if John L. Sullivan had faced Jack Dempsey when both were twenty-five or so, if Patrick Henry had replied to Edmund Burke, if Mussolini and Stalin were both Russians, and if Cleopatra and Helen of Troy had entered in the same beauty contest, there might have been something like a parallel to what must happen when Gehrig or Foxx faces Hubbell.

Editorial of the Day

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl, former commander of the Akron, testifying before a congressional committee, called for the construction of a new dirigible to replace the Akron and for the recommissioning of the Los Angeles for training and experimental work at the Lakehurst base, recently ordered closed.

Commander Rosendahl may be forgiven his enthusiasm for the lighter than air craft, since he has devoted practically his entire naval career to their engineering and operation. But the public generally will not share it. Disasters have been too numerous and the utility in war of dirigibles has not been satisfactorily proven. Had the Macon not been practically ready to take to the air at the time of the Akron disaster the latest American experiment in dirigibles would not have been built.

Our naval construction funds are entirely too limited for us to pour out on experimental defense machinery the lavish sums that will be required. An expensive and disastrous interlude is over. We have got to build ships.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

GREAT WORDS IN AMERICAN HISTORY.

"Let us avoid all foreign entanglements."—George Washington.

"Give me liberty or give me death."—Patrick Henry.

"We have met the enemy and they are ours."—Commodore Perry.

"A little more grape, Capt. Bragg."—Gen. Taylor.

"Let us have peace."—Gen. Grant.

"Government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."—Abraham Lincoln.

"God reigns and the government at Washington still lives."—James A. Garfield.

"NO."—Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

THE SECRET SERVICE warns us one and all to be on the lookout for counterfeit five dollar bills bearing Lincoln's picture in which one eye looks like it was winking. Mr. Lincoln may be giving us the wink to warn us the bill is no good, or it may be that inflation swelled his eyelid up like that.

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH we were soon going to say, "O, hello, Russia, I recognize you now that you've come out from behind your whiskers," and trade goods with the Reds. One thing they have that we haven't that would be awful nice for us over here right now is several shiploads of vodka. Vodka is a wonderful appetizer and a stimulating drink, and it's fine for cleaning brass work, filling the gasoline tank, and for killing potato bugs. It always gives a nice wallop to a Manhattan cocktail and removes rust and dandruff and cures warts and ingrowing toenails.

THE NEW LOYALTY.

Let us no more be true to boasted race and clan,
But to our highest dream, the brotherhood of man.
Shall Babel walls of greed and selfishness divide?

Let royal hunting grounds be parceled out anew,
That little children's feet may know the grass and dew.

No more shall Mammon play with pawns of toiling men,
No more shall blood be spilled that Greed may count its gain.

Let patience be our power and sympathy our court,
With love our only law and faith our only fort.
New thoughts, new hopes, new dreams, new starry worlds to scan,

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK.

"I SLIPPED IT OVER on the delicatessen man this morning," the fat man who sat in front of us on the bus was saying yesterday. "I bought some butter and ham and eggs, and they came to ninety cents. I gave him a dollar and he gave me ten cents change. The poor simp, if he had read the papers he would have known the dollar was only worth seventy-five cents yesterday." "Well, well, you can't wonder at the delicatessen man," said the lady with the fat man. "The dollar is jumping around so fast nowadays that it's mighty hard to keep up with it."

"HANDKERCHIEF TOPS for This Summer's Bathing Suits."—Headline. It looks as though they'd have to stick 'em to their skins with mucilage because there really is not enough bathing suit to sew anything to.

PERSONAL—Will the gentleman who celebrated the birth of our glorious country on the Fourth yesterday by shooting his revolver promiscuously about the streets please call at my apartment? One of his bullets took off the top of my left ear, as the bullet was of .45 caliber, and I wish to present him with a .22 caliber pistol so that next year when he is expressing his pleasure over the Declaration of Independence he will not remove the larger part of my other ear, but only make a small, neat hole which will heal quickly. Address Patriot, Gen'l Del.

BET SOME BUREAU in Washington is hopping mad. An Italian lawyer has come out with "A Complete Treatise on the Physical and Moral Education of Cats." Washington was probably getting out a book on cats to follow that absorbing story, "The Love Life of the Bullfrog," and now the Italians have beat 'em to it.

BATHOS.

My mind is amort,
As you plainly see,
Can only resort
To Tweedle Dee Dee

And Tweedle Dee Dum,
The price of gin
And Bacardi rum,
The wages of sin

Are upon my head;
I'll spin once more
And fall down dead.
Oh, saints galore,

Why can't I stop
When reason begs;
Must I always mop
Up the very dregs?

ROGER KELLY.

THE GOLD BLOC NATIONS probably want the next session of the economic conference held in the middle of the Sahara desert or on top of the highest peak of the Himalayas. They feel that if they could meet where there wasn't a cable office or a trans-Atlantic telephone they might have better luck.

WHY A FOUR LEGGED CHICKEN?

RECENTLY the newspapers carried a story about a chicken with four legs and three wings, just hatched somewhere. The theory of this story, I presume, is that this is unusual enough to be news. Of course it is rather stale news because that happens every little while everywhere. Maybe it is the more acceptable as news because most of the readers will find in the item an opportunity to tell about the chicken just like that which they saw once.

How it happens that a chicken gets four legs or three wings or both should be a better story. Not everybody knows about that. After they have read the explanation they can tell it to the other fellow and that makes the story better news—for the man who has the floor.

In the chicken's egg there is an embryo which, when everything is right, can be expected to grow into a chicken. This embryo is commonly invisible. It is, in fact, a single cell. Fertilization consists in the addition to this cell of another cell, but the two fuse and the result is one cell. It is this one cell that counts in the formation of the chicken. All the remainder of the egg—the white and the yellow—is merely food stored there for nourishment of the young chick.

Development starts in the embryo by this one cell dividing into two. These divide into four and so on ad infinitum. Presently these cells begin to arrange themselves to make legs and wings and other structures. Development of the embryo into a chick proceeds in accordance with an inherited plan, everything working out with clocklike precision.

Occasionally, instead of one chick, there are two. We say there are twins. If twin chickens are developing from either one or two embryos in the same egg they are sure to be crowded. An egg was not built for two, but in some cases there are twins nevertheless. As the two developing embryos grow in the crowded space they jam each other. One is liable to overgrow the other, destroying the parts that are overgrown.

That is just what happened in the case the telegraph notice told of. This was not one chicken. It was two or, more accurately, one and a part of another. This chicken was a twin. The embryo of the surviving bird had overgrown that of the twin, destroying all of the visible parts except two legs and one wing. Those two extra legs and one wing are all that is left of a second bird. When careful dissection of monstrosities of this type is made other parts of the cannibalized twin are found imbedded in the surviving brother. However, might has made right, and most of the acquired brother has been liquidated—to borrow a phrase used by world economists and politicians.

And that's the whole story. The surviving bird—the conqueror—pays for his success by being fastened to the surviving parts of the dear departed. In most of the battles of the world the victor is chained to the vanquished. In that way he pays the penalty of his victory. Which is news to a chicken.

ATHLETIC FOOT.

M. H. E. writes: Will you tell me the cause and cure of "athlete's foot"? The skin just peels off between and under my toes. It looks a little like broken blisters. My feet perspire freely between toes and burn and sting when I take off my shoes in the evening. The skin splits if I exercise toes and is awfully sore.

REPLY.

Clean with a cold cream. Then paint the areas with Danish itch ointment or one of the other remedies now sold in drug stores. There are many to choose from and drug stores carry an assortment. Most cases are rather readily brought under control, though relapses can usually be expected. Washing the feet with a solution of hyposulphite or one of hypochlorite is an effective measure of prevention.

POWDERED MILK.

M. H. McF. writes: 1. Does the commercial powdered milk contain all of the essential properties of liquid milk? 2. If one puts on weight from drinking fresh milk, should he not benefit similarly from the prepared milk?

REPLY.

1. Yes. There is some loss of vitamin C and, of course, there is little water, but these shortcomings are easily remedied.
2. Yes.

TOBACCO HEART.

Mrs. A. B. writes: I have been told that a physician can tell by a person's heart if he smokes. Is this true?

REPLY.

HALL LIGHTS.

Chicago, June 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can the owner of an apartment building be forced to have the stairway lighted? There are three entrances and four stories. The electricity was turned off several weeks ago. There are many families inhabiting the building. Danger of fire or accident would seem to call for lights. T. Y.

In 283 Ill. 271, 273, the Supreme court held an ordinance requiring light invalid on the ground that the city has only delegated powers which do not include this subject matter. It is the general rule that in absence of such an ordinance or statute, the landlord is under no legal obligation to furnish light. [36 C. J. 36 and 214.]

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ALLEY DUMPING.

Chicago, July 1.—[Friend of the People.]—We burn our paper and garbage when it is cool because we have had no adequate garbage collection recently. Yet there is a garbage and tin can pile half as big as our garage in the rear of our property. The whole alley is a disgrace to any community. What can be done to get it cleaned and the piles of refuse removed? E. B. S.

Report is made that garbage and ashes have been removed, alley swept, and notices served on poultry dealers to desist from practice of dumping their refuse in the alley. Location will be kept under observation.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 5, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—Wipe out the German spy system in this country before the next American army sails for France. This is the order which President Wilson has given to the combined secret agents of the government. Secretary of the Navy Daniels informed the President yesterday that the German government, beyond any doubt, had knowledge of the departure of the Pershing division, and thus was able to intercept the transports with a large flotilla of submarines. The secretary is convinced from the evidence in his possession that the information was conveyed to Berlin in a disguised cable message to a commercial concern in a neutral European country. That there is a German spy in the navy department is not conclusively indicated by the evidence.

LISBON.—A German submarine bombarded Ponta Delgade, a city in the Azores, at dawn yesterday. A girl was killed and several other persons injured. The fort replied to the bombardment. An American transport joined in the firing at the submarine, says an official announcement by the Portuguese minister of marine. The transport was discharging coal when the submarine opened fire.

LONDON.—From twelve to fourteen German air raiders yesterday dropped bombs on Harwich, a seaport town in Essex, it was officially announced today. Eleven persons were killed and thirty-six were injured. Two of the German machines that took part in the raid were brought down ablaze by British naval aircraft and a third machine was damaged. All the British airmen who engaged the Germans emerged safely from their fights.

WAR SUMMARY.—Petrograd says 18,000 men, 29 cannon and 33 machine guns were captured on June 29 and 30. Vienna admits Austrians retired before Russians in region south of Zboroff, but says Russians were checked before Brzezany. Berlin says Russian attacks failed. Paris reports extremely violent fighting was in progress on the Aisne front, resulting in the rout of the attacking Germans with heavy losses. The weekly report of losses by submarine warfare shows a great decrease. The total of twenty merchant ships sunk compares with twenty-eight the previous week and thirty-two for each of the two weeks preceding.

CHICAGO.—Bridewell prisoners between the ages of 18 and 40 will be given their freedom if they wish to join the army or navy, it was announced in an Independence day address by Joseph Siman, the new superintendent. Army and navy officials have not expressed an opinion of the plan.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—Is a copy of the New York Herald dated April 15, 1865, telling about the assassination of Lincoln, of any value at the Fair? I have some old stamps dated 1853 with portraits I do not recognize on them. Are they of any special value?

ANSWER—The Fair does not buy souvenirs, stamps or coins. Get in touch with a stamp collector or museum.

QUESTION—Can a season ticket to the World's Fair be purchased with a 1893 Columbian Exposition 50 cent piece?

ANSWER—No.

QUESTION—Where can I obtain a complete map of the Fair naming all the buildings?

ANSWER—Such maps are for sale at stands in the Fair grounds and outside the entrances.

THE ENEMY OF THE COMMON MAN.

Moline, Ill., July 2. — The editorial "Government and Liberty" today makes a sturdy plea for genuine patriotism on the basis of the American constitution and American history. To think that peoples educated by the most advanced systems of training, as in Germany and the United States, willingly throw themselves into dictatorship, surrendering liberty, scrapping historical inheritance fought for at priceless cost, makes an American heart and mind marvel. Is the American form of government such a worthless thing? The history of absolutism and dictatorship through the centuries shines none too brightly. The swift leap in our land from extreme license in business to abject capitulation to mandates indicates not a reasoned and resourceful intelligence but a profound collapse of intellect and of moral judgment. When once again there will be work, on, as it seems, low wage scales, and the American citizen awakens to the fact that he has enslaved himself, what will he then do? Trained to liberty, taught liberty, enjoying liberty since 1776, having his very citizenship on the basis of eminent liberty, and now bound hand and foot, what will happen? Cringing submission to dictators? Impossible. The other alternative is stern but not improbable.

Again and again THE TRIBUNE editorials on this matter challenge our sober thought. Liberty costs. Lost liberty costs still more. It is the toiler in shop or on field that above all others should think. Wealth may thrive on most if not all forms of government. The commoner becomes a slave under dictatorship once it is established. History's dictators were not supermen for the common man. Orderly freedom as in the republican form of government offers the supreme chance for the common man. Our national task ought not to be the destruction of our form of free government but the firm destruction of every hindrance, high or low, to that government. Can it be that our vaunted educational system has been unable to illumine our generation on the basic worths of American life? Are we grown prostrate in indolence? Do we lack leadership eminent enough to place country above personal advantages?

At any rate, before dictatorship digs its claws irremovably into our national existence, it is to be hoped that some stalwart thinking and acting be done.

SALES TAX STAMPS.

Chicago, June 28.—Inasmuch as the new sales tax goes into effect July 1, should there not be some provision made for the proper collection of this tax? Why cannot stamps be issued for fractions of a cent that the public may buy and tender in the proper amounts to the stores? In this way the state of Illinois would be sure of collecting all the sales tax that was paid. L. M. COHN.

FISHERMAN'S LAMENT.

Chicago, June 30.—I read a letter last summer signed by "Old Fisherman," who complained that there was no place to fish around Chicago. Old Fisherman is right. Although Chicago has thirty miles or more of shore line and a lake containing a variety of fish, there is no place where a man who likes to eat fish that is really fresh may cast his line. Hordes of water polluters or exhibitionists [erroneously called bathers] see to that. The water polluters seem to have no respect for the other fellow's rights or property and, I might add, decency.

Fishermen pay every tax the water polluters pay, and in addition pay 50 cents for a license. Why should the water polluters be allowed to monopolize the lake front?

If swimming must be permitted in our water supply why not set off alternately three or four blocks for swimming and three or four blocks for fishing?

YOUNG FISHERMAN.

THE PALE OF COMMON DECENCY.

Chicago, June 30.—I admit that I may be a bit mid-Victorian in my ideas of diction, but there are a few words in the English language which I consider it better to omit unless they are used strictly according to their most accurate meaning.

The comic strips are the first thing that children look for. If the paper is to be allowed freely without deletion in their hands I believe that some attempt should be made on the part of the publishers and the writers to make it come up to the standard of ordinary street English instead of too frequently being trashy and actually offensive.

As a case in point I refer you to your paper of June 30 in the Winnie Winkle strip, "you big fool." To me that is outside of the pale of common decency and utterly uncalled for under any circumstances. R. H. MCPHERSON, M. D.

SUBSTITUTES IN THE POSTOFFICE.

Chicago, June 30.—In answer to J. L.'s letter about a new deal in the postoffice: If that man has worked steady for 35 years it's about time he took his pension with a smile.

My husband has been substituting for four years, and these last few years has hardly earned the salt in his soup. To us $97 a month would be God sent, when $7 cannot even be earned a month. If more of these old timers were pensioned it would help bring back prosperity, as the young man hasn't even a chance of getting an hour's work with these old fellows hanging on.

A SUB'S WIFE.

THE IRISH EXHIBIT.

Chicago, June 25.—Could I use your column to make a protest against a certain feature of the Irish Free State exhibit at A Century of Progress? The feature is that brazen and voluptuous nude that is hung among the vestments and other ecclesiastical works. In works of art showing the clerical influence, the exhibit is unsurpassed. Yours for separating church and smut.

ECONOMY HITS U. S. DRY BUREAU HARDEST OF ALL

Others Share in Billion Savings Plan.

Washington, D. C., July 4.—(AP)—The administration's economy program already has removed more than four thousand government employés from the pay rolls and hundreds more face imminent dismissal.

This was shown today in a survey of the departments which so far have completed their retrenchment plans. Just what the final total will be no one would estimate.

On the other hand, hundreds of workers are being taken on by the emergency agencies set up by congress to root out the depression. Dismissed employés are hopeful President Roosevelt will decide that they are the ones to be chosen for the new positions.

Hint Comes from Wallace.

No word has come from the White House, but the agricultural adjustment administration has announced that, so far as possible, civil service lists will be used in building up its staff.

The largest reductions in personnel have been made by the prohibition bureau, which let out 1,300 dry agents, and the treasury, which dismissed 1,500 enlisted men and 150 warrant officers of the coast guard.

The administration's plan is to spend one billion dollars less this fiscal year in running the governmental plant. Among those being dropped from the service to keep expenses down are employés of 30 years or more service, married persons whose husbands or wives also hold government positions, and those who worked in bureaus being abolished or consolidated.

Federal Pay Cut, Too.

Salaries of all employés, high and low, have been cut 15 per cent, and indications are that this reduction will be continued until Jan. 1, at least. The slash was based on living costs.

These are some of the personnel reductions so far:

State department, 395; justice (including prohibition bureau), 1,635; treasury, 2,950; commerce, 626; interior, 97; navy, 600; agriculture, 656.

Further cuts are in prospect in some of these departments. Dismissal plans of the postoffice, agriculture, and commerce departments are not complete. Approximately 300 workers in the bureau of agricultural economics have been given an indefinite furlough.

The interstate commerce commission has given a 90 day furlough to 613 employés, with the understanding that as many as possible will be taken back if some means are found. The navy also is considering whether to dismiss 4,700 shipyard employés.

Every effort is being made by the war department to retain its entire personnel through the application of a rotative furlough system. No definite decision has been reached. The labor department has let only four go, but many others probably will go when the naturalization and immigration bureaus are consolidated, probably in August.

Among the independent offices the federal trade commission has dismissed 47, the tariff commission 17, and the radio commission 10.

EX-DRY AGENT SHOT AT HOME OF FORMER WIFE

Omaha, Neb., July 4.—(AP)—Shot three times by an assailant who fired through a window at him as he drank beer with friends last night, Early Haning, former Omaha prohibition agent, died early today at a hospital. He had been living recently at Norton, Kas.

The shooting took place in the basement of the home of Louise Vinciquerra Haning, divorced wife of Haning, who told police he recognized his assailant as Sebastiano Vinciquerra, Louise's first husband. Louise formerly was known to police as "queen" of Omaha bootleggers.

Vinciquerra, taken into custody at a beer tavern, denied being near his former wife's place last night.

Vinciquerra and Haning engaged in a gun fight in March, 1932, at the home of Louise, and both were severly wounded. Haning had married her in 1928 after she and her first husband were divorced. In December, 1931, she sued Haning for divorce and a year later it was granted.

U. S. AND CANADA JUDGES FINISH "I'M ALONE" QUIZ

OTTAWA, Ont., July 4.—(AP)—Justice Willis Van Devanter of the United States Supreme court and Lyman P. Duff, chief justice of Canada, completed today their investigation into the sinking of the Nova Scotian schooner I'm Alone in the Gulf of Mexico, and will submit their report to the United States and Canadian governments.

The two jurists, sitting as special commissioners on the case since Thursday, have studied voluminous evidence regarding the shelling of the alleged rum runner in waters south of Louisiana in March, 1929. It is believed they arrived at an agreement on a joint report.

The I'm Alone was chased from a point near the Louisiana coast to a position 200 miles out in the gulf and there sunk by the United States coast guard cutter Dexter. One sailor was drowned when the schooner went down.

VIRGINIA G. O. P. VOTES FOR WET PLANK FOR STATE

Lynchburg, Va., July 4.—(AP)—The state Republican convention adopted today a platform calling for immediate legalization of beer, prompt provision for a convention to vote on repeal of the 18th amendment and, if and when the amendment is repealed adoption of a state liquor control plan modeled after that of Henry W. Anderson, a member of the Wickersham commission.

Col. Anderson unanimously was elected permanent chairman of the convention. He immediately launched into an address in which he traced the business collapse of the United States to the world war, and said that the secondary period of that collapse was not felt in full measure until 1929.

"The public must realize," he asserted, "that what has been accomplished in the last four months could not have been done before that time."

Asserting that the Democratic party has gone far beyond any dream of concentration of power of the Republican party, he said "in four months the Democrats have violated practically every declaration in their platform."

Storm Damages 150,000 Acres of Canadian Wheat

REGINA, Sask., July 4.—(AP)—Raked by a hailstorm that struck about 80 miles northwest of Regina, through the Huronville district, 150,000 acres of Saskatchewan's fine crop has been partially destroyed. Accompanied by a deluge of rain, the storm broke late yesterday, blowing sheds and granaries about the prairies, killing chickens and threshing thousands of acres of grain crops into the ground.

PRESIDENT BACK AT WHITE HOUSE; RESUMES WORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 4.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt returned to Washington late this evening from his fortnight's vacation cruise and plunged at once into the pressing matters of state which confront him.

Rested and tanned by the sun and wind, the President arrived at the White House about 9:30 tonight. He had remained until after sundown aboard the cruiser Indianapolis, anchored a mile out in Chesapeake bay, off the United States naval academy at Annapolis, Md., seeking a few final hours of relaxation before returning to the capital.

Taken to Waiting Auto.

Just after colors were lowered on the warship, the President and his small party were brought to Santee dock on the academy grounds in a subchaser. He immediately entered a waiting car and was whisked along the crowded Defense highway to Washington. His start for the capital was delayed, it was said, by Mr. Roosevelt's desire to obviate the necessity for the traditional presidential salute of twenty-one guns from the Indianapolis. After sundown no salute is fired.

The President's only visitors aboard the Indianapolis during the day were Mrs. Roosevelt and a party of her friends, and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland. Mrs. Roosevelt arrived shortly after noon, had luncheon with the President and returned to the capital immediately.

Gov. Ritchie Visits President.

Within a quarter of an hour after her departure from the academy wharf, Gov. Ritchie arrived, and was taken out to the cruiser at once for a social call upon Mr. Roosevelt.

International affairs forced their way to the President's attention, however, despite his effort to spend the final day of his vacation restfully. He kept in constant touch with developments at London, it was reported, and plunged, immediately upon his return to the White House, into matters touching upon the conference.

British Foreign Chief Ill; May Quit and Take Peerage

LONDON, July 4.—(AP)—The health of Sir John Simon, British secretary for foreign affairs, is causing increasing anxiety to his friends. A peerage for him has been mentioned if the low blood pressure, from which he is suffering, makes his continuation in office inadvisable. He was reported to have sold his country estate, Fritwell Manor, in Oxford, today.

FIGHT FOR WRIT TODAY TO QUELL CHECKER REVOLT

Company to Ask U.S. Court to O. K. Cab Seizures.

Attorneys for the Checker Cab company plan to carry their petition for a writ forcing 800 insurgent drivers who are operating on the low "15 and 5" rate to surrender their cabs before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today. The case was put over by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward on Monday so that both sides might have an opportunity for a full hearing, and he indicated that Judge Wilkerson, senior member of the District court, should hear the matter.

The cab company's petition seeks to compel the 800 drivers who rebelled against the 20-10 rate on Saturday and started operating for 15 cents for the first third of a mile and 5 cents for each additional third, to surrender the cabs on the ground that their owners are in default on purchase installments, storage charges, and other dues.

Drivers' Attorney to Fight Writ.

Attorney Eugene McGarry, counsel for the insurgent drivers, said he would oppose the writ sought by the company to permit it to proceed with seizure of cabs. He will base his plea on the ground that contracts with the drivers are against public policy. The contracts, as explained in the petition, provide that if the driver becomes indebted to the company his cab, which he usually purchases on the installment plan, may be seized without process of law.

"This is contrary to public policy" said Attorney McGarry. "It is similar to the stipulations on the back of passes the railroads used to issue, whereby the passenger waived all claims in case of accident. The Supreme court held this agreement invalid on the ground that it was against public policy."

Calls Company Inconsistent.

Mr. McGarry also said he would inform the court that the cab company claims ownership of the cabs in obtaining state and city licenses, but in actions for damages it goes into the federal court because it is a Delaware corporation and disclaims ownership.

The Checker drivers, after purchasing their cabs on the installment plan, give a chattel mortgage and a bill of sale to the Checker company for the nominal consideration of $1, and the cabs are then reassigned to them, subject to the company's right to take possession without process of law in case of default. Officials of the cab company were charged with larceny when they began seizing the cabs after Saturday's revolt, but an armistice was reached and the drivers are now permitted to operate unmolested pending the Federal court's action in the matter.

CREWS OF CHINESE CRUISERS SEEK TO JOIN REBELS

SHANGHAI, July 4.—China's only two cruisers, the Haichi and Haian, and the training ship Tsaoho, whose crews rebelled against the Admiral Shen Hung-lieh of the National government at Tsingtao on June 25, are reported to have arrived at the Sisha islands near Hongkong, where the commanders are negotiating with the Cantonese rebel chieftain Gen. Chen Chi-tang.

Meanwhile it was learned that while Cantonese politicians opposed to Nanking would welcome the cruisers, Gen. Chen is hesitating about accepting the overture of the commanders because he fears it would precipitate complications with Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist dictator. Then, too, he does not want to shoulder the responsibility for the upkeep of the three warships. They are of an antique type and of little value in domestic political maneuvers.

The two cruisers have commuted up and down the Chinese coast repeatedly in connection with China's civil strife, but have never been in a battle.

BOARDMAN'S BODY IS TAKEN EAST IN PLANE

Indianapolis, Ind., July 4.—(AP)—Through the firmament in which he had so often winged his way the body of Russell Boardman was carried today to his final resting place.

It was the last flight for the famous Massachusetts sportsman and aviator who suffered fatal injury here Saturday while participating in the New York to Los Angeles air Derby.

Shortly after dawn Boardman's body was lifted gently into a cabin plane at the municipal airport and with his brother, Earl, at the controls the ship headed eastward for Providence, R. I.

The widow awaits the body in the east. She came here following his accident and was in the city at the time of his death yesterday. The brother, who had to come by airplane from Albuquerque, N. M., was at the bedside when Russell died.

COUNCIL GROUP SEEKS MEANS TO CUT DROWNINGS

2,029 Lives Lost Here in 15 Years.

Ald. Thomas A. Doyle [11th], chairman of the city council committee on recreation and aviation, announced yesterday that his committee would undertake an investigation to determine what additional lifesaving methods can be provided at city bathing beaches and swimming pools to prevent drownings.

The inquiry was authorized recently by the council at the request of Ald. John Toman [23d]. Ald. Toman said that in the last 15 years 2,029 persons have lost their lives in Chicago by drowning. He also asked that the commissioners of the three major park boards be requested to join in the movement to prevent drownings.

Year.	No.	Year.	No.
1919	104	1927	173
1920	110	1928	144
1921	133	1929	134
1922	153	1930	167
1923	136	1931	142
1924	125	1932	117
1925	142

"The purpose of the inquiry," said Ald. Doyle, "is to afford, if possible, better protection and safeguards to the residents and visitors who make use of the public and private bathing beaches and swimming pools in the city."

CANADIAN RAIL WORKERS REJECT 10 PER CENT CUT

MONTREAL, July 4.—(AP)—The Canadian branch of the railroad employés department of the American Federation of Labor, division No. 4, comprising 35,000 shop tradesmen, has informed the Railway Association of Canada, that its members have undergone enough salary cuts and will not accept the proposed additional 10 per cent cut in basic rates, it was learned today.

The workers announced their willingness to continue working for another year under the 10 per cent cut now in force, but stressed the fact that any new wage cuts are not justified.

No statement could be obtained from the Railway Association of Canada except the announcement that the decision of the men had been submitted to the different railroads affected.

One Killed, Two Others Injured in Plane Crash

Keene, N. H., July 4.—(AP)—An airplane passenger was injured fatally and a passenger and pilot were seriously hurt today in a crash near the Keene airport. Carl L. Demerse, 23, of Marlboro, died several hours after the accident. The three were returning from a flight of short duration. When about 1,800 feet in the air the plane went into a flat spin and crashed into a wooded swamp.

Four in One Family Killed as Auto and Train Collide

Burbank, Cal., July 4.—(AP)—Four members of the Henry Epstein family of Los Angeles were killed as their automobile collided with a Southern Pacific passenger train at a crossing north of here today. The dead are: Henry Epstein, 40; Mrs. Marie Epstein, 40; Gwendolin, 16, and Lawrence, 11.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith Succeeds Mrs. Boole.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ida B. Wise-Smith, Des Moines, Ia., today was elected to succeed Mrs. Ella A. Boole, Brooklyn, N. Y., as president of the Women's Christian Temperance union. Mrs. Boole was not a candidate. She announced she intends to devote all of her time in preparation for the convention next year of the World's W. C. T. U., of which she also is president.

Mrs. Wise-Smith is a veteran in the organization and was vice president this year. Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, New York, was elected to succeed her as vice president.

The other officers, all reelected at today's session are Mrs. Anna Marden De Yo, Evanston, Ill., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, Evanston, treasurer; Mrs. Sara K. Hoge, Lincoln, Va., recording secretary, and Mrs. Nellie G. Burger, Springfield, Miss., assistant recording secretary.

The convention adopted resolutions demanding that aliens be excluded in counting population for apportioning representatives to congress. Another resolution sought regulation of the motion picture industry.

What Resolution Proposes.

The alien exclusion resolution read: "We favor an amendment to the United States constitution excluding aliens from the counting of population in apportioning members to the house of representatives."

Condemning motion pictures as encouraging the violation of laws, giving a distorted view of American life in portraying drinking as a harmless pastime, the resolution on motion pictures was unanimously adopted by the convention. A hearing on the subject of regulation by the federal government of all films entering international or interstate commerce was asked in the resolution.

Arthur Barnhart, Chicago lawyer and Illinois dry leader, addressed the afternoon sessions of the convention today. He declared that America is faced by a crisis in democratic government in that the "defense of the American people's right to self-government on the liquor issue" is at stake.

Present day politicians were termed autocrats by Barnhart. "They are more astute than the old time autocrats; they are skilled in the art of fooling the people, which is necessary in a democracy."

Flays Administration.

The attitude of the Democratic national administration is to "cut in" on the profits accruing from the liquor traffic that once went to the bootlegger, Barnhart asserted.

The Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, New York, of Marble Collegiate church, told tonight's session that the real reason for repeal sentiment was the fall of idealism.

SEVERAL NAMED AS POSSIBILITIES FOR PARKS JOB

Washington, D. C., July 4.—(AP)—Speculation turned today to possible successors to Horace Albright, national park service director, following his expected retirement Aug. 1 or soon after.

Arno B. Cammerer, now associate director, is considered in some quarters as the first choice of Secretary Ickes for recommendation to President Roosevelt, but A. E. Demaray, assistant director, is also mentioned by observers. The possibility was also seen that the job might be filled from outside the present park service.

While Albright himself has declined to confirm or deny the reports he would resign, close associates said unhesitatingly that was his intention. They added that Secretary Ickes had asked him to remain, but that Albright desired to terminate sixteen years of connection with the service which he entered at the time of its formation. He has been director since Jan. 12, 1929. He entered government service in 1913.

The retiring director is understood to have accepted an offer to become vice president and general manager of the United States Potash company, which operates near Carlsbad, N. M. Before entering the park service he studied and practiced mining law.

GUNMAN ROBS COLLECTOR.

Rider in Fair Pageant Injured as Pony Falls

Albert K. Kelly, 36 years old, 945 South Circle avenue, Forest Park, suffered a fractured left arm last night when the pony he was riding as a pony express messenger in "The Wings of a Century" pageant at the World's Fair stumbled and fell upon him. Several hundred spectators saw the accident.

LAUNCH DRIVE TO ERADICATE THISTLE PEST

Delinquent Land Owners Face Prosecution.

BY PAUL POTTER.

A campaign to enforce the Illinois noxious weed law and to prosecute land owners in Cook and neighboring counties who do not destroy the illegal Canadian thistles is being launched by local and state officials.

Announcement was made yesterday by W. W. McLaughlin, director of the state department of agriculture at Springfield, that Albert C. Wilson, chief seed analyst of the state, would be in Chicago this week to confer with Mayor Kelly and county officers. Immediate action is needed, he pointed out, since the thistles are in full bloom and if not mowed immediately they will begin to scatter seed.

Power to Destroy Thistles.

The law provides for thistle commissioners to be appointed in each city or town. These men are expected to make a survey of their territory and report the existence of either the white or purple flowered thistles. They have the power to enter upon such land and destroy the weeds if the owner fails to do so. The expense of this work is chargeable against the property. In addition the owner who is lax is subject to a fine of $5 to $300.

A survey of the Chicago region yesterday disclosed the peril to property from the rank growth of thistles. Only along railroad rights of way, along certain highways, and in the forest preserves, and in some farm or subdivision areas have the weeds been cut. The infested areas should be burned after cutting.

The experience of farmers indicates that a mower set low will cut the thistles more effectively than a man with a scythe can. Even the cutting is ineffective in badly infested areas, where the plants spread by root systems as well as by the fine seeds which are blown for miles on a windy day. In such cases it is recommended by state and county authorities that some chemical treatment be applied.

Farm land is best cultivated with a disc or other sharp edged implement, to lay the roots open to the sun, according to the state department of agriculture. The mowing will keep down the weeds but not annihilate them. If the thistles can be prevented from forming leaves they will die out in a couple of years.

The chemical treatment being used by some county farm bureaus and the state consists of spraying with a solution of sodium or calcium chlorate on the infested areas. Two such treatments in successive years will completely destroy the thistles, it has been found. The rate of application is one to one and a half pounds of chlorate to a gallon of water, sprayed so as to cover the weed areas thoroughly. Some care is necessary in applying the spray, as the chemicals are inflammable when dry.

VISITORS TO THE TRIBUNE MUSEUM EXCEED 10,000

More than 10,000 persons have visited the historical museum on the twentieth floor of Tribune Tower since its opening on June 2 in conjunction with A Century of Progress. The visitors have come from every state in the Union, except Rhode Island, and from about thirty foreign countries.

The principal countries of Europe, the British dominions, and the American territories are represented on the register signed by the visitors, and there is one name from the Republic of Lebanon and another from Cairo, Egypt. Visitors to the museum average about 300 a day and an average of 150 persons visit THE TRIBUNE'S observatory tower each day.

The historical museum traces the growth of the country, the city and THE TRIBUNE during the last three-quarters of a century and photographs, models, pages of THE TRIBUNE, and other exhibits illustrate every phase of newspaper activity from logging in TRIBUNE timberlands and the making of newsprint to the printing of the newspapers.

Hot Springs, Va., July 4.—(AP)—Mrs. L. Brooks Leavitt, New York society matron and sportswoman, today was recuperating from a serious fall. Her horse stumbled on a mountain trail at Sweet Springs. Mrs. Leavitt was found on the trail and carried to the Covington General hospital. She had fractured a shoulder. Her physician today reported her condition as "satisfactory."

Holds Man's Heart in Hand While He Talks to Him

Kokomo, Ind., July 4.—[Special.]—So badly was Walter Greeson, 55, school teacher and farmer, gored by a bull yesterday that the attending physician held Greeson's heart in his hand while he talked to him. Greeson died.

WIRELESS ON SHIP SAVES LIFE OF CANADIAN

Marquette, Mich., July 4.—(AP)—Wireless probably saved the life of Thomas Thompson, 30, of Port Arthur, Ont.

Last Saturday Thompson was injured in an auto accident near Iron River and was taken to a hospital there, where examination revealed no serious injury, so he proceeded to Mackinac, intending to go on to Ottawa. At Mackinac his condition became worse, so he boarded the steamer Isle Royale, bound from Chicago to Fort William, Ont., yesterday.

After the Isle Royale left Sault Ste. Marie Thompson collapsed, and it was apparent that his condition was serious. The radio operator on the ship sent a message to the Soo, from where it was relayed to the coast guard district commander in Green Bay, Wis. The latter wired Capt. T. E. Deegan, commander of the Marquette coast guards, and ordered him to take Dr. H. B. Markham, marine surgeon here, to the Isle Royale.

The coast guards reached the steamer with the doctor about 20 miles out in Lake Superior from Marquette. Dr. Markham gave Thompson first aid and he was brought here and taken to a hospital. The doctor said his condition still is serious, but that he probably will recover.

JULY 4 DAY FOR THINKING, SAYS MRS. ROOSEVELT

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—(AP)—July fourth is a day when all Americans should think seriously about their duties as citizens, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said in an Independence day greeting to American children living in Mexico.

"I am glad to have this opportunity of sending a message to American children living in the Republic of Mexico," she wrote. "I hope that all of them will be conscious of what it cost their ancestors to bring freedom to this country, and that they will remember that the fourth of July is not only a day for pleasure and a display of fireworks but a day upon which all the citizens of the United States should think seriously about their duties as citizens.

"Their government will be good only if they are good citizens themselves, and one of the ways of good citizenship is to be a good citizen in other countries and improve the respect and affection with which the United States is looked upon by the other nations of the world."

Going to Camp Greatest Thrill for City's Youngsters Now

BY JUDITH CASS.

If you've seen some of our charming and mild mannered socialites buying axes or hunting knives recently don't be alarmed and think they are plotting dire and dastardly deeds, perhaps brought on by too great an influx of visiting relatives and friends here to see the Fair, for the aforesaid weapons are only for their young sons who are going to camp.

Such thrilling words as those four, "going away to camp," are to young boys, especially those who are going to a camp for the first time, and such preparations as have been going on in households where the sons of the families are campers for the summer!

Last week a group of young adventurers departed for the Adventurers' Camp for Boys in northern Wisconsin, where they will do any and every thing that pleases them, for, unlike some of the larger camps where it is necessary to live more on schedule and by routine, the boys at this camp are free to choose for most of the day what they want to do.

Young Russell Kelley, son of the Russell P. Kelleys of Lake Forest; Harry Dickson, whose mother is Mrs. Hodges Dickson, also of Lake Forest; Charlie Kittle, son of Mrs. Leon Mitchell of Rock Island, who formerly lived in Chicago; Dr. W. A. Thomas' son Bill, who at the age of 10 was the youngest member of the crew of young adventurers who sailed with Donald MacMillan to Greenland in 1930; Eddie Bacon, son of the Edward Richardson Bacons of Briar place, and Jerry Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Joseph Rich of Evanston, are some of those at the Adventurers' camp this summer.

These are only a few of the hundreds of sons of well-known Chicago families who have left recently for camps in the north, east or west, for more and more mothers and fathers are realizing that camp life is about the healthiest and most normal life a boy can have in the summer—unless the family is fortunate enough to own a farm—and that to send one's son to a well run camp is a good investment for it pays dividends in something more lasting than dollars and cents.

Character building is the objective more than recreation in the best camps, although practically everything that could add to a boy's enjoyment is included in the list of "things to do" at all camps.

Girls Also Enjoy Summer Camps.

Boys are not the only ones who are able to enjoy camp life, either, for girls have been leaving by the hundreds for girls' camps all over the country. Young Nancy Blaine, daughter of Mrs. Clark Lawrence of Winnetka and granddaughter of Mrs. Emmons Blaine, has gone to the Timberline ranch camp in Arizona where she went last summer, and if we know anything about girls who like horses—and we do—we know that she is about the happiest girl in the world about now.

The girls at this camp have their own horses branded with their initials and they take part in various roundups, rodeos and in riding the range. Nancy is a splendid little horsewoman and has ridden in numerous horse shows around here, but no bridle path riding, even in Winnetka, can compare with the joys of riding in the desert and mountains of Arizona. Later in the summer the girls will take a three day pack trip into the White mountains—the ranch is at Silver Creek in the foothills of these mountains—to visit the Apache Indian reservation, and later they will go to the Hopi Indian reservation to witness the famous Hopi snake dance.

Among other north shore girls who will spend the summer at the Timberline ranch are Louise Galbraith, Nancy Wolcott, Joan Bartelme, Barbara Ballenger, Dorothy Walker, Judith Fox, Harmona Clark, Ann Harding, Barbara Bruce, Marjorie Mock, May Baumann and Marion Grable.

Nancy's stepbrother, John Lawrence, is at Camp Owakonze, in Canada, for the summer, but her mother and stepfather are planning to be at home in their pleasant house on Sheridan road in Hubbard Woods all summer.

Socialites Will See Pageant.

In spite of the fact that every one is worn out by the long and busy week-end, numerous parties of socialites are being planned for tonight's performance of "The Romance of a People," that stirring and colorful pageant portraying the history of the Jewish race, to be given for the second time tonight on Soldiers' field.

THE TRIBUNE is sponsoring tonight's performance, because the seating capacity of the stadium, 125,000, was insufficient for the accommodation of all who tried to see the pageant Monday night. There are to be no reserved seats for tonight, but the amplification of the speeches and singing will be so good that one will be able to hear as well as see from every seat.

With the busiest four days Lake Forest has experienced in some time just over, the women of that north shore village who are interested in the Infant Welfare society will get busy now planning a dinner dance they will give on the 21st. Where it will be held and the other details will be settled this week by Mrs. Walter Hoving and her committee, but that it will be a jolly party and well attended by the smart set are assured.

Gay Time at Wheaton Party.

A gay and festive holiday house party ended last night with the departure of a half dozen guests from the House of Seven Gables in Wheaton. George Bates, whose mother has taken Mrs. Frank O. Wetmore's lovely home on the edge of the Chicago Golf club course for the summer, was host for golf and swimming and tennis, the dinner dance at the club Monday evening, and the polo games at Oak Brook yesterday afternoon.

The George Johnsons, who are former Chicagoans, came down from their home in Milwaukee and John Trainer was out from town. The Horace Wetmores, whose home adjoins the House of Seven Gables [it looks out on the gorgeous big swimming pool and formal gardens] joined in most of the festivity and so did the David F. Tabers [Mrs. Wetmore and Mrs. Taber are sisters].

On the sidelines yesterday afternoon at the polo games this party led the cheering for Oak Brook, for Mr. Bates was playing under the club's colors. This summer he is lining up at least three games a week on the west suburban polo field.

The Chicago Golf club party Monday night [it lasted well on into the wee hours of the Fourth] was a grand and glorious occasion this year. Japanese lanterns strung about the terrace provided a colorful setting and the removal of the out of door dance floor from the side of the swimming pool, where it has been for former Independence day parties, was voted a good idea by all the guests . . . especially those who had experienced an unexpected ducking in times gone by.

Miss Eleanor Holden was out from Lake Forest. The John Blacks had motored west from Chicago and the young Charles R. Lindsays were over from Wayne. John Richardson was host to one of the gayest young parties, Sidney Waud was there with another group, and so were the William A. Ryans.

Final Program of Horse Show.

Every one in the grandstand and boxes at the Fort Sheridan horse show yesterday afternoon was sorry that that was the last day of the show, and already they were planning to return next year. Miss Marianne Stevenson, who got a third in a hunter class with Orlindo, Mrs. Paul B. Magnusen's horse, came back from the stables and sat with Paul Magnusen Jr. in a box.

Near them were Miss Eleanor Thompson wearing a most attractive sport frock of pink, and Bradford Ripley. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. and their daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Bowen, were in riding clothes.

Mrs. Malcolm Graham, wife of the chief of staff of the 6th corps area, was wearing white with a sporty gray tweed coat. Her guests were Dr. and Mrs. George Jordan, Mrs. Jordan in brown silk, with a smart tan corduroy coat, and Miss Kathleen and Miss Manie Graham. With Gen. and Mrs. Frank E. Boles were their son, Midshipman Frank Boles, and Miss Dorothy Munie of New York. The George D. Cowins had guests in their box,

Best of Dogs Are Exhibited at Onwentsia

Lake Forest Kennel Club Holds Show.

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

The second annual licensed all-breed dog show given by the Lake Forest Kennel club, under the American Kennel club rules, was held yesterday in the arena building on the grounds of the Onwentsia club and brought together 282 of the best canines in and around Chicago—sporting, nonsporting, toys, working dogs and terriers.

At one end of the arena were two judging rings, around which tense owners sat while their pets were being judged, and the other half of the enormous building was filled with dogs, continually barking, in three long rows of stalls.

At the southwest end of the arena, where the large dogs were accommodated, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Barnes she in a sports dress of blue silk, were critically watching Mrs. Barnes' father's Irish wolfhound, Champion Brannish of Ambleside. He was to be shown with two others of the same breed raised, as he was, by Mr. and Mrs. Lionel O. Starbuck, Dermot of Ambleside, owned by the John E. Otts, and the Starbucks' dog, Ballyshane of Ambleside.

Mrs. Lester Armour and her daughter, Betty, were going from one to the other of the three dogs they had entered—Laddie, a Scotty, Eagle, a Great Dane, and Stompie, a pointer.

There was a good deal of activity around the wire haired fox terrier benches because there were so many of these dogs entered. When Chieftan was taken out of his stall to be powdered and combed and clipped before he was shown, all of his owners, the junior Thomas W. Thackeray family of Winnetka, stood about him to be sure it was properly done. Mrs. Thackeray, stunning in a gold colored crêpe frock and a floppy-brimmed brown hat, was nearly as excited as her two sons, Thomas III., and Donald.

Mrs. Thackeray's sister, Mrs. Robret E. Kenyon, of Lake Forest, in yellow and brown plaid gingham, divided her time between Chieftan, and the dogs that the Paul C. Loebers had entered from their Deerpath kennels, Champion Littleway Brandy Snap [called Spotty] and a puppy belonging to John E. Wheeler Jr., named Deerpath Piper. Mrs. Loeber wore a gay frock of white with green stripes and her daughter, Ann, wore a candy pink tennis dress. Also with Mrs. Loeber was Mrs. Forest Hall of Dallas, Tex., who had entered her wire-haired Champion Hall Wire High Hat, and Mrs. Harry Lowenbach, smart in a grey wool suit with which she wore a yellow blouse, who showed wire-haireds, too.

Still in the wire-haired class, but with cages along the south wall and entered as pets, were Jib and Jigger, who are grand-puppies of Mrs. Lawrence Scudder's dog and great-grandpuppies of Mrs. Bertram Walker's terrier. They belonged to Mrs. Noel Stattler Young, who, wearing a red silk coat over a simple white dress, was feeding them puppy biscuit with the aid of her very young son, Noel Jr. Mrs. Scudder, all in white, and her children, Clarina, Mary, and Jack, stopped by to pet Jigger.

Priscilla Armstrong, the Julian Armstrong's daughter, and a young playmate, Harriett Sturgis, ate their sandwiches around the stalls in which were two of Mrs. Armstrong's St. Bernards, Al Rakim and Buddy of Riveredge. Mrs. Hammond Sturgis, Harriett's mother, in a tan checked sports dress, watched the judging of setters from a ringside seat. Next to her were Robert Hixon and his young daughter, Joanne.

Alfred Daniel Plamondon Jr., was carrying his candidate for first prize among the Boston Terriers, Plamondon's Peter, when he entered the arena. With him were Mrs. Plamondon, and their son and daughter, Albert III. and Carol. Miss Dorothy Ranney, fashionable in a dress and three-quarter length coat of two shades of blue, and her younger sister, Miss Cornelia Ranney, wearing a dress of pink and a green angora coat, walked around with their Brussells Griffon, Cyrano.

Seen watching the judging were Mrs. Lawrence Stern of Glencoe, and her daughter, Susan, whose cocker spaniel, Alldin Le Noir was entered; Mrs. Charles F. Glore, in white; Mrs. Owen West, attractive in an ensemble of white and yellow, white dress with yellow lacings, and a three-quarter length yellow coat; Miss Elizabeth Bunting in yellow and black, escorted by Everett L. Millard Jr., and Mrs. Frederick De Long, wearing dark print, and her grandchildren, little Elizabeth and May De Long, who were with Miss Sarah Hinde.

Mrs. Ernestine Boyd, who looked very charming in a white knitted dress and a large natural straw hat, and Charles M. Sloan were filled with pride, for Mr. Sloan's Doster of Longwood won first prize in the Dobermann Pinscher class.

THE STAGE

The State-Lake theater will reopen July 23 under the management of the firm of Jones, Linick & Schaefer, who recently acquired the lease on this vaudeville and cinema house. The management announces a contest for the selection of twenty-four girls as members of a permanent ballet group. Elimination trials will begin tomorrow at 10 a. m.

"The Man Who Changed His Name," a play by the late Edgar Wallace, closed abruptly at the Illinois theater last Saturday night. C. C.

American Air Races Attract Throng.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

There were hundreds of society folk with an interest in aviation and a flair for excitement taking their fireworks yesterday at the American Air Races at the Chicago airport. It was the third day of racing under the sponsorship of THE TRIBUNE with a new and thrilling round of nosedives, parachute jumps, and daredevil acrobatics.

Today brings the climax with the fourth and last meeting of the aviation classic.

Howard Gillette entertained a group in his box. His guests included Herman Gade, former Norwegian consul here; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCain of New York City with their two young sons, Charles Jr. and William. Smartly dressed in a blue ensemble and a white fez hat, Mrs. McCain leaned on the rail most of the afternoon, never missing an airplane antic.

Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, and Mrs. Cluverius were enjoying the stunting with Commander and Mrs. A. S. Marley and their young son, Billy, and Lieut. James C. Hammock.

Louis E. Johnson, the national commander of the American Legion, was receiving the greetings of the many friends he has made in his new position. He was attending the races with Boyd B. Stutler of Charleston, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Victor McKenzie. Another visitor who was asked to say a word to the thousands in the grandstands through the microphone was Mrs. Clark Stearns of Miami. Mrs. Stearns is the president of the Women's National Aeronautical association.

A young couple showing great interest in aviation was Mr. and Mrs. George R. Newcombe. They were at the airport Monday, again yesterday, and they may be there today.

Thadeus Buynowski, the Italian vice consul who had a box party at the airport Monday, was there yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Libicki, Mrs. Sophia Berger, and Prof. Adam Heydel. Today the Italian consul, Gen. Giuseppe Castruccio, is expecting to attend the races with a party.

There were plenty of representatives of the younger generation getting a round of thrills with Betty Lund and Roy Hunt performing. Edward Brown and Paul Kreuzkamp of Highland Park were craning their necks over the rail. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Spencer had with them their two sons, Edson and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Warner were entertaining their son, Melbourne.

There wasn't a cooler, calmer looking person in the big crowd than Mrs. Lewis A. Yancey, though it hardly seemed possible when her husband, Capt. Yancey, was up in the air establishing new autogiro records.

Others glimpsed here and there in the box horseshoe were Baron Karl Ferdinand Tinty, the John V. Hunters, the George A. Hickses and the Charles L. Hobbses . . . all of them the guests of Richard Cooper . . . and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight B. Austin with their son, Drake Austin, and Mrs. Stephen A. Drake.

Satin Season Predicted for Fall Clothes

BY RHEA SEEGER.

You can't sidestep satin . . . and all the reports trickling in from all sources shriek daily and hourly about the stuff. You will wear satin hats, satin gloves, satin belts, satin handbags, and what's more you'll put them on as soon as you can if you would be a few laps ahead of the parade.

Satin gloves sound the most intriguing . . . think what they will do for an evening ensemble. Just imagine scarlet satin beauties teamed to contrast the flouncing ruffles of a taffeta gown in the Spanish manner. Or gleaming white affairs with white, red, or almond green.

Half the fun of going places this winter will depend upon how sleek and slender your fingers will be, snuggled in colorful satin gloves.

White satin sailors are grand top contrast for all the slick new satin suits, or you might try a color such as shrimp pink, china blue, or an ice green . . . nothing can be more appropriately effective and becoming. Wear them slanted Spanish-like across the right eyebrow.

Satin belts, bows and ties are new things to use now, to perk up a semi-wilted summer frock . . . satin sashes tied little girl fashion around your waistline and hanging in two long ends and a huge bow will be seen at lots of smart places these summer nights, and satin capes and short jackets you already know are quite the newest, freshest extras for all summer dance dresses.

Some black satin berets have arrived, stitched from the center to the edge . . . rows and rows of stitchings about a quarter of an inch apart . . . everything is stitched, from cottons, to velvets.

M. E. Camp Meeting Told of Educational Needs of Religion

Prof. W. D. Schermerhorn of the Garrett Biblical institute yesterday addressed the Methodist camp meeting on the banks of the Des Plaines river, south of Dempster road.

Prof. Schemerhorn spoke on "A New Vision of Religion" and urged the necessity for a general educational background against which religious precepts may be projected.

Pleading that bigotry and jealousy among churches be laid aside, the Rev. John Thompson of the Chicago Methodist Temple outlined his vision of a new America at the evening service. "Just as governments are recognizing the need of coöperation," Dr. Thompson said, "so also must the churches realize that they should work as partners to care for the spiritual needs of the world."

Good morning!

He is a soldier of fortune and a member of the French Sureté when you meet him. Calamitous circumstances cast him on American shores and, eventually, teams him with one unscrupulous Hogan, who runs a private detective agency.

Hogan's above nothing that will scoot a dollar down his runway. His man Friday is a dope fiend. Shortly after our hero joins forces with Hogan the latter obtains the backing of a w. k. racketeer who, as you will surmise, has his reasons for putting up the money.

Not so much later Detective 62 is sent out to get the goods—or MAKE goods—on a society woman whose phenomenal luck at roulette is spelling bad luck for Bandor's gambling joint. (If you've been paging romance—here it comes—escorted by tragedy and intrigue. . . .)

While not the best vehicle William Powell has drawn, "Detective 62" moves swiftly and holds the interest. Mr. Powell is skillful and convincing in the title rôle. Margaret Lindsay gives a forthright portrayal of the adventurous lass of the upper stratas. She has personality. Arthur Hohl hands out a workmanlike job as the slimy Hogan and the same can be said of James Bell as the dope. Ruth Donnelly's interpretation of Hogan's hard-boiled secretary brings several hearty laughs from the observer. H. E., for hero and heroine.

BUT, Little Girl, Little Boy, you won't ever want to be a private detective after you've seen this number. Nope.

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

"Swell" Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough, who is unknowingly being used as decoy. Maitland plots to trick Rhoda out of a fortune left her by an uncle who died in Rome. Garrick exposes to Rhoda, before Maitland and his gang, their crooked card tricks. Garrick is overpowered by Schewan, Maitland's chief, but manages to defeat Schewan's purpose of burning him alive in his car. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. Garrick knows she has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt he determines to settle the matter in his own way. He kidnaps Maitland and holds him captive until he learns where Rhoda is being held. Garrick learns from his solicitor that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda and hides her in the warehouse where he had held Maitland. The gang learns the location of the warehouse from the renting agent. When Garrick returns he finds Maitland and his gang with a constable. He manages to slip his gun to Rhoda and by simulating insanity Rhoda holds them all at bay and escapes.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

A REWARD OFFERED.

"Wait!" said Garrick. "She used my pistol, didn't she?"

"What if she did, then?"

"If she did, my dear officer, I'm saved!" cried Garrick. "That pistol was loaded with blanks. Maitland, dear old fellow, your anxiety on my behalf was needless! Dear me, what a shock we have all had!"

"And a pretty parcel of fools we shall look cooped up in here when the superintendent comes!" exclaimed the constable.

"We can break the door if we all push together," said Maitland. "I told you it was a plant, officer!"

"You didn't say nothing about it being a plant until we was all cooped up in here!" exploded the constable.

"Don't mind him, officer—he has the 'plant' idea on the brain! I heard him tell Dorling just now that you were a fake policeman."

Garrick kept them quarreling at cross-purpose until the superintendent arrived with a search warrant and let them out.

"What are you doing here?" demanded the superintendent. "And where is the lunatic?"

Over the superintendent's shoulder Garrick smiled sweetly at Schewan, whose face was a study in amazement.

"My dear, you're a loss to the stage!" said Garrick. "I've never seen such a lunaticky lunatic in my life."

"Lunatic has got clean away, sir. She held us up with this gentleman's pistol——"

"It was a put-up job!" cried Dorling — but Schewan silenced him with a glance.

Explanations followed—of a highly complicated kind. The constable admitted that he had put up his hands as had the other men—in the belief that refusal would have meant instant death.

"But when she fired at you, Mr. Garrick, and you felt no pain——"

"I thought I was mortally wounded—so did everybody else!" answered Garrick. "It was surely not the duty of your constable to risk what seemed certain death for all of us?"

The superintendent looked from the hole in Garrick's waistcoat to the scratches on his face.

"May I ask, superintendent, whether I am charged with knowingly harboring a lunatic?"

"There's no charge as far as I know——"

"In that case," said Garrick, "I will leave you to carry out your search."

Garrick picked up his coat, dusted it and left the building. He took a taxi home.

Garrick had a rendezvous with Rhoda for three o'clock—by which time he would have found a place for her. He had in mind some respectable but economical boarding house of the kind that is largely inhabited by young business women who are earning just enough to keep themselves in reasonable comfort.

In the hall his chauffeur was waiting.

"Well, Richards?"

"Could I speak to you a minute, sir?"

That meant that it was something private. Garrick took him into the little morning room behind the dining room.

"You haven't told me anything, sir, and I don't know nothing," said Richards mysteriously while he unbuttoned his tunic and took out a noon edition of the Evening Record. "But I though perhaps you might not have seen this."

The paper was folded back on a column. And in the middle of the column was a large and very recognizable photograph of Rhoda. Under the photograph in bold type appeared the following:

"Have you seen this girl? She is Rhoda Fairclough, aged twenty——" Garrick skipped the close description of her. "Miss Fairclough is a certified lunatic who escaped yesterday from Nympstone House, Slough. Her relatives fear that this unfortunate young woman may do herself or others some injury. Accordingly, her guardian offers through the Evening Record the sum of one thousand pounds reward to any one who can give such information as to her whereabouts which will result in her being restored to Nympstone House or to the care of any police station."

There was a great deal more of it, but Garrick had read enough to realize that his plan of putting Rhoda in a boarding house would have to be abandoned. He dropped the paper and moodily paced the room while it became clear to him that the only way to keep Rhoda at liberty for a month would be to hide her completely from the sight of men. And that—for a month—would take a bit of doing.

"I'm glad you brought this to me, Richards," he said. "As you say—you know nothing. Much better for you, Richards! The point is, are you willing to take some more mystery instructions?"

"Try me, sir!" grinned the chauffeur.

"Good man! Just sit down a minute, will you, while I do a bit of clerking."

For the next five minutes Garrick was busy with pencil and paper.

"Here's a rough list. Add to it anything you can think of. Get the whole lot down to Hammersmith as soon as you can, but before you go, phone Harris to have everything all ready with half a dozen spare tins of petrol and some oil."

"Very good, sir! I'll get right along," said Richards eagerly.

"By the way," he said as the other was leaving the room, "I've lent the Reindert to Maj. Maitland. You could collect it this evening. O—and, Richards—it might be as well to turn over the number plates, and bring the next series into operation."

At half past two Garrick was strolling up Piccadilly in the direction of the Circus. Following him in the crowd, he knew perfectly well, was a plain clothes man from Scotland Yard and a man employed by Schewan.

He went down the subway to the tube railways and, on gaining a platform, mixed with the small crowd that was waiting to get on the train. At the last minute, just as the gates of the train were closing, he stepped back onto the platform. The train started. The platform was momentarily deserted. The two "shadowers" were being safely carried to the next station.

Garrick passed through tunnels to the level of the Bakerloo railway and there took a train to Edgware Road station. When he reached the street level he walked for some fifty yards in that shabby neighborhood, then stopped and gazed with absorption in the windows of a shop that dealt in cheap jewelry.

A few feet away a young woman seemed to be concentrating all her attention on a tray of engagement rings.

"My dear, you're a loss to the stage!" said Garrick. "I've never seen such a lunaticky lunatic in my life. Maitland and Dorling really did think you were mad until you actually turned the key, when they jumped to it."

"It was awful while it lasted," smiled Rhoda. "But now it seems rather like fun!"

"It is fun," said Garrick eagerly. "And there's a lot more coming. There's a photograph of you in the Evening Record, with a thousand pounds reward."

"O!" Her high spirits vanished. "That means that any one in the street may recognize me."

"You're safe enough in the street. But you're not particularly safe in a restaurant where people might let their eyes rest on you. Lots of eyes do rest on you, you know, and I would be the last to blame them. I'm afraid, dear, you'll have to keep under cover for a month."

"I don't mind! But where can I hide?"

"At about ten past five," said Garrick, "a large number of working men and women walk home along the tow path, up stream from Hammersmith Bridge. At ten minutes past five this afternoon, amongst the crowd of factory hands and typists, will be Miss Rhoda Fairclough. She will walk dreamily along the tow path as if she expected some gay Lothario to spring out of the river and carry her off—which is more or less precisely what will happen."

At frequent intervals along the tow path of the Thames, wooden steps are let into the bank to make a landing stage for pleasure craft.

At one of these stages, about a quarter of a mile above Hammersmith Bridge, the motor launch, Leprecaun, drew in. She was rather large and rather luxurious for the Thames, as she had been built for light sea work. She was capable of sleeping and feeding four passengers, a steward and a mechanic.

He spotted her amongst the stream of home going workers when she was some fifty yards away.

She saw him, but gave no sign. She walked on, looking straight ahead of her, then, as she reached the head of the steps, came briskly down.

Miss Pickford Faces Tragedy for Two Years

Suffers Personal Losses in Her Family.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 4.—[Special.]—The Mary Pickford who composedly made the announcement that a formal separation is to take place with Douglas Fairbanks is not the same blithe, smiling Mary Pickford of two years ago.

While her relations with her husband were drifting into divergent currents within the last two years, and while Mary was clinging hard to her career and her local friends in contrast with Doug's yearn for travel, Mary endured several deep personal blows.

First was the death of her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Smith Pickford. When her mother, who incidentally was responsible for much of the astute business management of Mary's wealth, died, Mary sacrificed some of her personal holdings in order to make good on her mother's bequests of $200,000 cash each to Mary's brother, the late Jack Pickford, and her sister, much-married Lottie. Mary converted her own holdings into cash because the items included in her mother's estate—such as real estate—could not have been converted at the time.

Following the death of Mary's mother, the actress' cherished brother, Jack, died. Before Jack made his last gesture in his fight for life—his trip to Paris, where he died—Mary helped her brother straighten out the last of his marital tangles, culminating in a property settlement on Jack's behalf with Jack's third wife, the ex-Follies girl, Mary Mulhern. This was a preface to Jack's divorce from Miss Mulhern. The settlement on her sister-in-law No. 3 drew again on Mary's personal accounts.

After Jack's death some of the sparkle went forever out of Mary's life. Jack Pickford's death was followed by Mary's sister, Lottie's third divorce and fourth marriage, all incidents disturbing to the queen of Hollywood's social life. And while these things were taking place Douglas Fairbanks, on whom Mary had learned to lean during lesser crises in her life, generally was not on hand to help her as he formerly had done.

Without her mother's guiding hand, and with her husband away so long and so often, sometimes shooting at big game, sometimes dining with maharajahs, ambassadors, noblemen and the fine ladies of Europe, Mary learned to steer her own business craft and her private affairs more and more without assistance.

After Douglas had been out of town so many months in each year that his absence began to look like the customary thing, Mary started to reappear in public without him.

She appeared at one party with Charlie Farrell, which caused comment. She appeared at other public gathering places with Gary Cooper. Sometimes the Countess Dentice di Frasso [former Dorothy Taylor of New York] long known as Cooper's close friend, and recently merely Mary Pickford's friend also, was with Mary and Gary. Sometimes it was merely Mary and Gary. But most of all Miss Pickford appeared with Charles [Buddy] Rogers, band leader. On a visit to New York she got off the train up the Hudson, and Buddy whizzed her to New York on a speed boat. She saw Buddy here recently, during a short visit at Palm Springs, Cal., while Buddy was there.

For Mary, at 40, nearing the close of the longest single starring reign in movies, the last year has seen a new outreaching for life and sprightly company. And her new activity has rarely included her husband—Doug.

"It's just a case of incompatibility between Mary and Doug," her confidantes here say. "There's really no other man for Mary and it's not a case of another woman for Doug. Their paths and interests just separated. Why, you know, Douglas Fairbanks never reads a book. Lifetime for him, even at 50 years of age, must always consist of change, commotion, new scenes, new lionizing, new celebrities to entertain and be entertained by. Mary finally just couldn't keep up the pace."

Marie Dressler plays a woman who runs a South sea hotel and outwits crooked traders, beach combers, and other sinister parties in her next film, "Mrs. Van Kleek," for MGM. During the action Marie averts disaster for a pair of young lovers, but who will enact the sweethearts is not decided.

Cubs Certainly Have Support of Children

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Such enthusiastic letters! There certainly is a lot of young Cub fans around town, and do they know their baseball!

Here's a letter from one little boy who's going to be invited.

"Dear Sally:

"I read your invitation in THE TRIBUNE and I am going to try to win. Here's my letter:

"I like baseball very much. I play baseball myself. I like to listen to the Cubs ball game over the radio and I'm very glad when they hit home runs. The Cubs team is the best team there is. All the players are good players. Lon Warneke and Guy Bush are real good pitchers. Charlie Grimm is a swell manager, and the rest of the players are very good. I know they are. W. K."

"Dear Miss Brown:

"My favorite player on the Cubs is Riggs Stephenson. I like him because he is a clean cut player, is a good fielder and batter. He hits when the Cubs need it. He is never taken out of the game for making remarks at umpires. He is one of the players who helped the Cubs win the pennant last year and is one that is fighting to win it this year. L. R. JR."

Well, if "Stevie" plays July 13 you'll see him, young man!

I hope all your letters reach me some time today, boys and girls, because this is the day I select my 100 guests for our party. And Sunday's TRIBUNE will tell the tale of the winning letters.

"Saga of the Sea" Given Reviewer's Praise.

BY AL CHASE.

A BOOK which took ten years to write and which covers nearly half a century of life, is "Log of the Sea" (Harcourt, Brace & Co.), Felix Riesenberg's salty saga of his blue water days. It's a real log of world wandering and adventure in sail and in air, for part of the book tells of Capt. Riesenberg's voyage as navigator on the airship America in the first attempt to reach the north pole by dirigible. The log entries of his sailing ship days are drawn from a wealth of voyaging over the seven seas, colorful episodes of a past era. It's a compelling book for both the sailor and the landlubber, and though it recalls his delightful "Vignettes of the Sea" is more comprehensive and entertaining in every way.

FELIX RIESENBERG.

Gordon Sinclair, a Canadian newspaper man, who can write rings round nearly any Yankee rewrite man we ever knew, has pounded out in "Footloose in India" (Farrar-Rinehart) the most alluringly alliterative, fastest moving, slangiest, slambang travel tale we ever whizzed through. He yanks the reader back and forth across India to the accompaniment of a hilarious running comment on British rule and Indian idiosyncrasies.

It's told in vivid Americanese, but its outspoken Canadian wisecracks on official English stuffed shirts and their high hat methods would bring roars of rage from Britain—if any one in England could understand the author's 1933 U. S. slang.

But probably no one in the British isles will ever get through even the first chapter or know what it's all about. It has had a big sale in Canada, where they bootleg our slang as we do their booze, and should go over big here, for it's a rollicking riot of travel thrills and chuckles.

"One-Arm Sutton" (Viking Press) easily is the best book of its kind of the season—an amazing autobiography of a modern soldier of fortune in Siberia and China. It's loaded with thrillful incidents, riotous episodes and hilarious happenings. Maj. Gen. F. A. Sutton is an unusual combination of adventurer and story teller. He can write as vividly and picturesquely as he can fight. And, believe us, Sutton is some scrapper. It's a man's book, dramatic, forthright, and humorous, but we believe any one of the other sex who likes red blooded adventure will revel in "One-Arm Sutton."

Arthur Mason, whose youthful years spent in sail were told about in "The Cook and the Captain Bold," "Wide Seas and Many Lands" and other delightful volumes of salt water yarns, has dipped into some of his boisterous land days in "Come Easy, Go Easy" [John Day]. It's a lusty, full blooded, straightforward account of the author's search for gold in Nevada, aided by Peppermint, his hard kicking, big hearted ancient white mule, a story of hard living and fast shooting; of fortunes found quickly and as rapidly lost. It is a picturesque, well written, and vivid account of stirring days worth recalling.

"Yes, 'Tis Round," by Albert Field Gilmore [Stratford], is a sedate circling of this old globe by a dignified, intellectual Bostonian, who tells you on page one that he has a companion with him, but who never again in the 393 pages mentions him. Seldom, if ever, have we read a globe trotter's diary that so studiously avoids adventure or human interest. Nothing ever happens except the ordinary—and yet the book is strangely interesting. It's slow moving, but it's full of intelligent comment on things, people, animals, birds, growing things, and world politics.

If you're interested in the occult, or even if you're not, we believe you'll find "Magic and Mystery in Tibet" by Alexandra David-Neel [Claude Kendall] all that the title suggests—and perhaps more. It's a fascinating volume written by a cultured woman who spent fourteen years in Asia's stronghold of the weird, and learned much of Tibetan mysticism—probably more than any other European ever did. The author speaks several Tibetan dialects fluently and has written other works on Tibet in French, Spanish, and German, as well as in English.

We've been omnibused with crime, with love stories, with sea stories and just about everything but travel. And now comes "The Book of Vagabonds," a chunky green and yellow omnibus of peregrinations, published by Coward-McCann, containing well over one thousand pages, spread over three separate travel tales. The trio comprises: "Pearls, Arms and Hashish," by Henri de Monfried and Ida Treat; "Vagabonding at Fifty, from Siberia to Turkestan," by Helen Calista Wilson and Elsie Reed Mitchell, and "From Job to Job Around the World," by Alfred C. B. Fletcher. This should be a wonderful vacation book.

Patou Widens the Shoulders in a New Way

BY SUZETTE BARILLET.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The latest of the crisp fabrics to get a whirl in Paris styles is dotted Swiss. They have a version of it done in silk here, but just the same, most women prefer it in cotton. Gloves, too, are done up in this fabric to wear with matching dresses, or with plain ones.

Dotted Swiss that has its dots embroidered in contrasting color is preferred to the monotone kind. The Jean Patou frock in our sketch is made of the stuff in pure white with coin-size dots of rich green, and you couldn't find a daintier material or color combination for hot weather.

The way Patou makes the shoulders of this dress bigger than any ever thought of is something smart and different. He takes a very wide band of the dotted material and tucks it below the V neckline of the simple bodice in front and back, and then releases the tucks at the arms and zooms the band into big puffs that make the shoulder line about a foot wider. It's the exaggeration that gives it so much charm.

Modern Men Are Needed for 1933 Marriage

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Modern marriage doesn't so much need advice for the bride as it needs more modern minded men, men in tune with the current economic, working wife need! Men willing to forego the hoary idea of themselves as the Big Boss of the place.

Even the mildest of men, the least dominating, cling to the futile hope that marriage to right itself in their eyes must mean the throne chair for them. The truth of the matter is that this throne has toppled as have a good many others throughout the world, that a state of democracy is just as surely the rule of today's successful households as it is of countries. Anyway, the throne idea is dead.

If men would capitulate on this one point, abdicate in favor of a more smoothly workable home program, divorce wouldn't be half so rampant.

It isn't woman's fault that she must occupy the position of part bread winner today. She's earning because she has to in order to maintain a better living status than is possible on a single pay envelope. She's in the field to raise the living standard for her children, to give them educational advantages perhaps denied to her. Anyway, she's not working for the fun of it, nor in order to escape dishwashing only. Not today, whatever she may have been accused of a couple of years back.

All right, now! She, a breadwinner herself, a part time housekeeper expected to do a whole time house worker's duties often, marries. Marries a man who thinks like his grandfather that women should be clinging vines. Anyway, clinging enough to recognize in him the sturdy oak. He's just another oak in the modern scheme of things, in reality. That's one point of view for him to adopt to make domestic life happier.

Charles Pike Heads Bar Harbor Club.

One of the first letters to come from our Bar Harbor correspondent reports that Charles B. Pike has been named the president of the fashionable Kebo Valley Country club. Mr. and Mrs. Pike are now on their way home from Europe and will be at their Bar Harbor estate later in the season.

The place the William McCormick Blairs have taken is known as Bow End and is at Hulls Cove near Bar Harbor. Mrs. Blair's mother, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, who has opened her summer house, has with her Mrs. Louise de Koven Bowen and Mrs. George R. Dean. Mossley hall, the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Howard, is another Bar Harbor house that has already been put in order.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hyman and their debutante daughter, Miss Jean Hyman, left Saturday by motor for their summer home at Harbor Point. Mr. and Mrs. Hyman will be there for most of the summer, but Miss Hyman will spend the month of August traveling about, visiting friends. She may go to California with Miss Nancy Morse and her mother, Mrs. George A. Richardson, but her plans are very unsettled.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes are already in Harbor Point. Their son, Nelson Jr., sailed abroad a short time ago.

The William Waller Jr. family is getting settled in Harbor Point also. The younger children are there; Miss Virginia Waller and her brother, William III., are motoring up this week, and their parents are going by train at the same time.

Mrs. F. M. Gordon at Harbor Point.

Mrs. Frank M. Gordon and two of her three daughters, Isabel and Evelyn, have left for their summer place at Harbor Point, Mich. Miss Marion Gordon, who is to be maid of honor at the Kramer-Lamport wedding Saturday, will join her family early next week. Mr. Gordon will spend weekends at the Point all summer.

The Joseph E. Otises already are installed in their Harbor Point house for the season.

Norman Williams and Norman Jr. spent several days here recently seeing the Fair on their way from their home in Woodstock, Vt., to a ranch in the west where they will vacation for a month or so. Miss Joan Williams was not with them, as she is spending the summer at Gloucester, Mass.

A charming ex-Chicagoan who is here for a visit with old friends and to see the Fair is Mrs. Nancy Cox-McCormick, the well known sculptor, who is at the Dearborn-Plaza hotel. After she has "done" the Fair she is planning to visit Mrs. Holbrook Clarke in Geneva, and later she probably will go to her old home, Nashville, Tenn., for a visit before returning to New York where she lives now.

The T. Philip Swifts and their children left Saturday for a three weeks' vacation on the A Bar A ranch in Wyoming.

Mrs. Charles H. Besly will be saying au revoir to her daughter, Mrs. Frank B. Tours, and her two little grandsons, Gregory, who is two and a half, and Christopher, who is only three months, the middle of this month, for they are departing at that time to join Lieut. Tours in China, and they will not be back in Hinsdale for at least another two years.

The James Minottos and their son and daughter, Demetrius and Idamay, will arrive on Saturday to spend the rest of the summer in the Robert S. Hotz house in Lake Forest. Mrs. Hotz and the children are leaving Saturday for a month or two at Desbarats, and Mr. Hotz will be in town while they are away. Mr. Hotz's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Luce, are planning to come to Chicago in August for a visit.

More Interesting News of Travel.

More travel notes: The young Henry Batholomays have left their Winnetka residence to spend a month with his parents at Lake Geneva. Their sons, Henry and Billy, went along and so did Larry Brashears . . . Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Green and Dwight Jr. of Winnetka sail today for a six weeks' motor trip through France, Switzerland and England. Young Dwight is to enter Princeton in the fall.

The James Scott Kempers of Winnetka are at home from a trip abroad. Mr. Kemper attended the convention of the International Chamber of Commerce in Vienna and visited the economic parley now in session in London. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Wales and their daughter, Betty, sailed on Saturday for a six weeks' cruise through the Norwegian fjords.

Tape Measure, Scales Two Weight Checks

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In some ideal proportions I ran across the other day I note it is said that the bust and the hips should measure the same. It is admitted, however, that it is so ideal a proportion it is rarely ever met with.

Personally, I think it is the "fashion ideal," rather than one of health. The fashion drawings, you know, permit of as little "hippage" as is necessary to indicate that hips are part of the anatomy. Heights, too, in these drawings are grossly exaggerated. Ordinarily, hips are allowed a couple of inches more than the bust. In very good figures, indeed, the bust may be 36 and the hips 37 or 38.

In this same "ideal" chart above referred to it is said that the distance between the shoulder and the tip of the bust should equal the distance between the tip of the bust and the waist. Here, again, we might quarrel with the proportions, but the point of all this is that measurements truly are beginning to take the place formerly occupied with pounds in figure conversation.

People are talking more now about how an inch was scuttled off the hips or waist than formerly. I even heard one telling how she had lost one and a half inches off hips and waist, and when asked what that meant in pound loss, admitting she didn't know. The better system would be to keep records of both weight and inches.

The bathroom scales are too valuable a check to be ignored. Since they are so reasonably priced now, no home should be without one. That is, no home where the girls are given to repeat dessert orders.

Their particular advantage is that you can't cheat with them. They're cruelly honest. The tape measure can be pulled in a little tighter than is justified. But, as I say, the perfect system of keeping the figure in tow is to keep both police eyes on it—the scales and the tape measure. Another thing in reducing with exercise: Often the weight doesn't change much, whereas the proportions might be appreciably improved.

MINUTE MYSTERY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

FORDNEY PENETRATES A DISGUISE.

It was a hot July afternoon. The local train carried no parlor car. Prof. Fordney, who liked his comfort, heaved his bulk into a seat of the dusty, dirty day coach with a sigh, pulled out his handkerchief and mopped the perspiration from his face.

His seat companion, whose countenance and manner proclaimed him a Jewish gentleman of the old school, politely moved over and with a slight accent spoke about the heat. Fordney agreed it was terrific.

The Jewish gentleman wiped the perspiration from his forehead and opened the newspaper on his lap. His eyes popped and he uttered a startled exclamation, "Oy Gevalt!"

"I don't suppose you read Hebrew, my friend?" Fordney replied that he didn't.

As the Semetic began to trace the headlines, pausing at the first word on the left hand side, Fordney noticed that the fingernails of the otherwise immaculately groomed man were heavy with dirt.

"Do you know him?" inquired the professor.

"Know him? Why he's one of my best friends!"

"Of course, you had nothing to do with it?"

"Me! Why do you ask such a ridiculous question?"

"Well," Fordney replied quietly, looking at the man's hands. "I just thought you might. Your disguise is almost perfect, but of course I know you're not Jewish. That was my first lead and that's why I've been trailing you. We're getting off at the next stop."

WHY DID FORDNEY SUSPECT HIM?

BY MARY MEADE.

Is Winter still dining with you in the mornings? You've most likely shooed it away from the lunch and dinner table, but we all seem more reluctant to invite Summer in to breakfast.

So if you've noticed that the family is indifferent to the breakfast platter of ham and eggs and the bowls of cereal, perhaps it's because you're forgetting to vary these dishes with the arrival of summer, when everything, including meal times, should be getting a new deal.

And the best variations I know are fruits. Right now the markets are flooded with fresh ones waiting for a chance to help enhance breakfasts with that special summery touch.

Apples combine delightfully with pancake and muffin batter, or may glorify omelets. And have you ever stuffed them with sausage meat and baked them?

Apricots make a delicious sauce for omelets; also their dried cousins are excellent in muffins.

Bananas rolled in bacon and baked are most breakfasty.

Cantaloupes, with their convenient cup shapes, offer themselves as dishes for raspberries, strawberries, or toasted cereals. A cantaloupe boat [made by cutting large cantaloupes in six sections], with a small cluster of seedless green apples in one end and a ball of honeydew melon and one of watermelon balancing them in the other end, is a knowing appetizer for summer company breakfasts.

Grapefruit halved and centered with mint jelly or with grapejuice will give a pleasant change from the marschino center.

Oranges you will like sliced very thin and sprinkled with chopped mint. We serve them sectioned, rolled in honey and then in crispy flaked cereals. And be sure that you're well acquainted with orange waffles and orange muffins.

Peaches, peeled and placed on grape leaves gladden the eye as well as tickle the palate.

Pineapple in muffins, waffles, or the sections served with mounds of powdered sugar makes excellent eating.

Red Raspberries, served with ripe currants and powdered sugar, are an English delicacy which we have borrowed. Raspberries also are the makings of cereal "sundaes." Simply scatter fresh ones over flaked cereals.

Or, finally, complete fruit breakfasts spell cool perfection for the most scorching summer mornings. Picture this one: On a glass plate on cool grape leaves arrange a slice of fresh pineapple, a few large red strawberries, half of a fresh peach, small bunch of seedless grapes, one or two plump, ripe prunes, several sections of grapefruit and of orange, and slices of banana. Just try to imagine a prettier breakfast plate. Served with crisp rolls and iced tea or coffee, it sets a cool note for the whole hot day.

The detachable bib collar on this smart frock is quite unusual, but if you don't care for it take it off and finish the neck with the scarf collar shown in the small view. A poppy red and white printed silk crêpe, with a white crêpe collar, would be lovely.

Offender Is Rested, Bathed Before Judging

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Twelve years ago Camille Kelley was appointed to a judgeship, the first woman ever to preside over a Juvenile court in the south. She is quoted in a recent newspaper interview as saying some very interesting things.

For instance: "I never talk to the little prisoners when they are brought in," she says. And goes on to tell what happens to them. First, they are bathed and fed and given clean clothing and put to bed for a good sleep. She says that then, when they are comfortable—which really means in a relaxed and normal condition—she can reach them.

"A Daniel come to judgment," I should say. Many a mother, and many a father, too, would do well to emulate Judge Kelley when they have a serious matter to settle with a boy or girl. The tired, tense, or highly emotional moment is not the time to deal best with a son or daughter who seems to be at some crisis of behavior.

Judge Kelley has come to the conclusion that "bad" boys are chiefly nervous and discontented children, and she works with them on that assumption.

TEACHERS URGED TO TAKE ACTIVE PART IN POLITICS

Educators Hold Sessions on Holiday.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

Leading educators of the nation brushed aside holiday pleasures yesterday to continue their struggle with the problem of schooling the 30,000,000 students of the nation. Where to get more money for education in this day of reduced budgets and how to train children in a rapidly changing social order are the main questions at the convention of the National Education association.

Some suggestions for a way out of the muddle were offered at a general session in the morning at the Eighth Street theater. The speakers were Willard E. Givens, superintendent of schools at Oakland, Cal.; Dean Charles H. Judd of the School of Education at the University of Chicago, and William John Cooper, United States commissioner of education.

Elect President Tomorrow.

A woman will take over the post of president of the association next year. The two nominees are Jessie Gray, a classroom teacher of Philadelphia, former president of the Pennsylvania State Education association, and Anna Laura Force, principal of the Lake Junior High school of Denver, former president of the Colorado State Teachers' association and vice president of the National Council of Administrative Women. The election will be held tomorrow.

A man serves as president one year and a woman the next, a custom established many yars ago to satisfy both the schoolmasters and schoolma'ams in the organization, it was explained.

Urges Interest in Politics.

Dr. Givens declared that it would help things a lot if the teachers took a more active interest in practical politics.

"The school is the coördinator of all the right-minded agencies in a conscious effort to combat the growing and engulfing influence of graft, gangsterism, and general breaking down of organized society," said Dr. Givens. "Teachers must become politically conscious and aware of the tremendous responsibilities which fall upon them in the definite working out of our social program.

"Many will howl to high heaven when such a proposal is made and decry any political activity on the part of teachers. If it is not the job of the teacher-citizens to educate to a higher basis, whose job is it? Only by education in its largest sense will we ever elevate ourselves to better cope with our economic, financial, social and moral problems."

Dean Judd told the educators that it wouldn't help things at all to reduce school budgets. He urged the teachers to instruct their pupils in revenue questions in order that they might carry back home to parents the value of the school dollar.

Another menace to education, Dr. Judd said, was the machine age. He charged that the machine was threatening to create a caste system in the country.

"With 425,000 graduates of high schools and institutions of higher learning and thousands finding it necessary to drop out of school before completing the curriculum," said Dr. Judd, "one realizes the magnitude of the problem which confronts society of turning into useful channels the energies of young people.

"Society is not taking proper care of its young people. Inadequacy in the treatment of youth is not a mere passing symptom of the financial depression. For more than two decades industry and commerce have not kept pace with the growing ability and desire of young Americans to contribute to the work of the world."

The schools, Dr. Judd insisted, must not surrender their cultivation of intelligence to industry's trend toward mechanization for this would split society into classes and castes. He urged teachers to resist attempts to "reduce education to the status of 1870" by showing the public that the fault lies in governmental machinery and "iniquitous taxing systems."

Cites Need of a New Course.

Commissioner Cooper asserted that it might help things if the teachers would develop a new course on "problems in democracy." He stressed the need for the teaching about the governments of other nations in the light of a growing internationalism.

The question of school budget cuts again cropped up in an afternoon session of the N. E. A. department of supervisors and directors of instruction at the Stevens hotel. William S. Gray, professor of education at the University of Chicago, defended expenditures for supervisory staffs.

"A vigorous supervisory policy promotes far more rapid progress in improved teaching than is usually attained otherwise," said Prof. Gray, "and it points out the fallacy of economics which result in decreased efficiency of the teaching staff due to inadequate leadership."

Mind Development Discussed.

The causes of the right or wrong development of a child's mind were discussed by Mandel Sherman, professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, in another afternoon session before a vocational guidance group at the Congress hotel.

Insanity, crime and neurosis, on the increase year by year, are the result of too much individual frustration under the long taught American credo of success, Prof. Mandel told the teachers. He said that for years a child is taught the virtue of success, but has never been trained to meet failure.

"Take a class of forty children," explained Prof. Mandel. "How many of them will attain success as we measure it under our system of competition? Not more than 5, 10, or perhaps 15 per cent."

While the more zealous of the educators toiled with their special school problems, there were many of the 10,000 out of town guests who decided to enjoy the holiday in the conventional fashion. A group of women teachers left in the midst of a speech on "Psychological Approach as a Means of Character Training" at the Women's Athletic club.

"Let's go out to the World's Fair," said the teacher leading the group. "A little education is all right, but there's a limit to how much we can digest. Anyhow, they say the Fair is an education in itself."

FACES CHARGE OF ATTEMPTING TO ATTACK BOY

John Barnhart, 24 years old, 8059 Loomis street, who is alleged to have attempted to attack a 6 year old boy on June 23, will be arraigned in the Stockyards court tomorrow on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Reports made to the police tended to show that Barnhart seized the boy, Jerry Jayson Jr., 1405 West 71st street, and after taking him into a schoolyard at 71st and Loomis streets stripped his clothing from him. Several youths of high school age caught him with the boy, it was stated, and after beating him turned him over to the police.

Although a complaint was signed against Barnhart by the boy's mother, he was not sent to the bureau of identification and was later released on bonds of $25. The case was called once before, but a continuance was granted to allow the defendant to get a lawyer.

NEW U. S. HOG TAX PLANNED TO AID CORN GROWERS

[Copyright: 1933: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., July 4.—(AP)—Farm administrators have drafted tentative plans calling for a processing tax on hogs by Oct. 1 to provide up to $150,000,000 to finance application of the farm act to corn and swine.

The plans will not take final form until after a meeting of corn and hog producers and their representatives. Secretary Wallace has suggested they meet in mid-July to obtain a cross-section of sentiment regarding the employment of the act to the two related products of the corn belt that have suffered from low prices in recent years.

May Be Fourth Tax.

If the levy is approved in connection with a corn-hog program to be worked out by Aug. 1, it would be the fourth processing tax to go into effect before winter sets in.

The 30 cent a bushel wheat tax will become effective at midnight July 8; a maximum processing tax on cotton, probably four cents, is to become effective on Aug. 1, if the acreage reduction campaign now under way in the cotton belt succeeds, and a processing tax of about six cents a pound is to be levied on cigar leaf type tobaccos by Oct. 1.

Farm administrators will concentreate this month on devising the corn-hog program, which Wallace regards as presenting some of the most difficult questions of any of the basic commodities listed in the farm act.

Wallace Raises Corn.

A corn farmer in his own right, Wallace has been an intensive student of corn-hog economic questions for more than 20 years. As editor of Wallace's Farmer at Des Moines, he has advocated curtailment of production. Wallace recently urged that the acreage of corn, grown chiefly as hog feed, should be reduced at least 20,000,000 acres next year.

Wallace has suggested that a program be worked out to obtain agreements this fall from farmers to reduce their acreage next spring. Cash benefits would be paid in return for those pledges, the funds to be supplied by a tax on hogs. In addition to providing revenue, plans for the tax would strive to reduce the tonnage marketed annually. This would be accomplished by putting the tax on a graduated basis—the rate to increase in proportion to the weight of the hog in order to encourage the marketing of younger and lighter swine.

Collected at Packing Plants.

The processing tax would be collected at packing plants. At least $150,000,000 in revenue would be required to carry out a comprehensive acreage reduction plan. About nine per cent of the corn grown is used in plants manufacturing human food, starch, alcohol, and other materials. A levy on this type of processing also might be provided.

Meanwhile negotiations are being continued for a trade agreement among packers. Earlier administrators held some hope that an agreement of this kind might be all that would be necessary to curtail production of hogs, if packers would agree to a price scale calling for higher prices for medium weight swine. Confidence that an agreement could be drafted which would achieve the aim of the act, however, has faded in recent weeks.

150 FOREST PRESERVE EMPLOYES TO HELP CLEAR STORM DEBRIS

The Cook county board yesterday came to the aid of farmers in Palatine, Hanover, and Schaumberg townships, where a storm early Sunday caused damage estimated at $1,500,000. President Emmett Whealan of the board arranged for 150 forest preserve workers to report at the village hall in Palatine this morning to be assigned work in clearing away debris and removing carcasses of horses, cattle, and hogs which perished in the storm.

An effort also was being made last night to obtain added help from the Skokie valley camp of conservation workers operated for the Illinois emergency relief commission. According to estimates of Justice of the Peace Henry J. Harz of Palatine, 200 barns were blown down and the storm practically ruined 250 farms in the northwest quarter of Cook county.

Plans formulated last night, following a massmeeting of officials of the three townships Saturday night, would call for added aid of from 200 to 500 men in order that the farmers may clear their buildings and sow such emergency crops as millet and Sudan grass, to replace crops that were destroyed.

In addition to the relief being supplied by the county, local business men and officials and the Pure Milk association are expecting to lend a hand in the rehabilitation.

CHURCH SOCIETY MEETS SATURDAY IN MILWAUKEE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—[Special.]—Milwaukee will be host for a week beginning Saturday to the 34th convention of the International Society of Christian Endeavor. Because Milwaukee is known as a musical city, this organization, which two years ago held a praying convention at San Francisco, will hold a singing convention in this city.

While the convention sessions are devoted to inspiration, education, devotion, and recreation, music will be the main feature. The convention will, in fact, open Friday night with a preconvention dinner at the Schroeder hotel, at which all the Milwaukee convention workers will meet the officers of the international society and the president, Daniel A. P. Poling of Boston, who will give his keynote message to the workers. Homer Rodeheaver, revival song leader, will make his first appearance in Milwaukee at this time and lead the congregational singing with his silver trumpet.

600 Voices in Chorus.

Forty-eight of the best known Christian Endeavor hymns have been bound into the convention program and will form the basis of all the singing. In addition, a special hymn written by Mrs. Hattie May Jackson of Shorewood is included in the book and will be sung on every possible occasion. Special permission has been had from the hotels and restaurants for groups of young people, of whom at least 15,000 are expected, to sing their hymns at meals and at impromptu meetings in the halls and corridors.

A special chorus of more than 600 voices has been in training at the Plymouth Congregational church for the last nine weeks, at first under the direction of Prof. Samuel A. Thorne of the State Teachers college and later under Prof. Daniel A. Protheroe of Chicago. Prof. Protheroe wrote the music for Mrs. Jackson's poem, and many copies will be distributed.

Sing Every Night.

This chorus will sing at every night session of the convention and several special numbers are included in the program. Wednesday night is to be music night at the convention and the choirs of the St. Mark's K. A. M. E. Welsh Presbyterian and Grand Avenue Congregational churches will sing Handel's "Hallelujah" chorus, "He Shall Feed His Flock," and "Come Unto Him" from the "Messiah."

Eighty-five banquets, suppers, dinners, and luncheons for state and denominational gatherings have been arranged for the many hotels of the city and at each of these the music committee of the convention leaders has arranged to provide for musical entertainment. The committee consists of John E. Jones, chairman; Esther Flicek, Loren Janzer, Robert Erdman, Elinor Kemnitz, Mrs. Karl F. Miller, Harold S. Day, Miss Marlis Janzer, the Rev. Fred H. Fahringer, and R. Bruce Douglas, marshal.

The Wisconsin Christian Endeavor union, at which 1,000 delegates are expected, will hold its sessions at the auditorium beginning next Monday. The Illinois Christian Endeavor union, with 500 delegates, will open its meetings Wednesday, July 12.

Housekeeper Takes Her Life in Doctor's Home

Mrs. Mary Muller, 50 years old, a widow employed as a housekeeper by Dr. A. H. Gordon, 858 North La Salle street, committed suicide in the basement there last night by hanging herself from a rafter. Dr. Gordon found her body when he returned home after making a number of calls. He told the police that Mrs. Muller, whom he had employed for twenty years, had been suffering from a nervous disorder recently.

HURT IN FALL FROM BUS.

Mrs. Millie Meyer, 57 years old, of Erie, Pa., injured her hip yesterday when she fell from a bus as it stopped at the Chrysler building in the World's Fair grounds. She was taken to the Chicago Memorial hospital for treatment.

LAWRENCE BLOWS UP HIS ROMANCE TO RADIO MUSIC

Walker, who is 27 years old, was alone in the apartment. He was blown out into a hallway as all the windows were shattered. The police took him to the Rogers Park hospital, where it was discovered his injuries were not serious. He then told his story of what had happened.

"I have been estranged from my wife," he said, "and I called her today. Before I called I had been down to the beach with some friends and we had a little corn liquor. Well, I didn't get Grace. I got her father, and was he sore? He talked real mean.

"So I decided to end it all. I turned on the gas and the radio and left the pilot light on the kitchen stove burning. A lot of people might think this was just a gas explosion, but it's really the blowup of a beautiful romance."

TWO DISABLED BOATS TOWED IN FROM LAKE

Two disabled motor boats were towed to the Central coast guard station at the mouth of the river last night by crews under command of Capt. John O. Anderson.

One was towed from a point a half mile out in the lake off East Bellevue place and the other from a short distance off the loop.

The boats were tied up at the station and the passengers sent ashore in boats from the coast guard station. The names of those aboard the motor boats were not learned.

WHITE SOX BREAK EVEN; CUBS SPLIT WITH REDS

INDIAN RUNNER WINS STARS AND STRIPES HANDICAP

GALLANT SIR IS 2D; 30,000 SEE UPSET VICTORY

Watch Him Runs 3d at Arlington.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Indian Runner, the story book horse of American racing, smashed his way to a thrilling victory in the Stars and Stripes handicap at Arlington Park yesterday afternoon.

He dashed past the winning post leading Gallant Sir, the Pacific coast champion, by a neck amid the wild cheers of 30,000 holiday spectators. It was one of the largest crowds that ever has gathered at the Arlington track. Watch Him, owned by Mrs. John Hertz of Chicago, was third.

Indian Runner didn't beat Equipoise because Equipoise had been scratched out of the race. At the rate Indian Runner was traveling at the finish, the mighty Equipoise might have received some dust in his eyes.

Headley Lost Confidence.

The story of Indian Runner is well known to most Chicago racegoers. He is a stylishly bred son of Dis Donc-Indian Maiden. Hal Price Headley of Kentucky bred him and thought the big brown colt would win last year's Kentucky Derby. Mr. Headley was offered as much as $35,000 for his horse. He turned it down. Then Indian Runner disappointed Mr. Headley so often he finally dropped him into a $2,500 claiming race.

That was just a year ago at Arlington Park. He was claimed by D. A. Wood of Benton, Ill., in whose green, red, and white jacket Indian Runner scored his victory yesterday. Never in modern American racing history has a selling plater reached such heights.

It's a yarn about a black sheep in a great family, which suddenly reformed and decided to live a better life and go on to do things in a better way.

Gallant Sir Gets Breaks.

Gallant Sir didn't seem to have an excuse to offer for his beating. He had perfect luck right from the break but at the head of the stretch, where it was expected would go on to smother his opposition, Gallant Sir faltered. Indian Runner went past him so fast that he didn't seem to know what it was all about.

Indian Runner never gave him a chance in the drive down the stretch, and, while he made the finish look close, Gallant Sir simply couldn't catch him.

Bahamas, a colt from the Pacific coast, was the early leader around the Post and Paddock club bend. Gallant Sir was running second and the 3 year old Head Play was in third place. Indian Runner was back in fourth place. They ran in this order down the back stretch and Indian Runner was picking them up by a few inches at every stride.

Heading into the run for home, Indian Runner got through on the inside next to the rail and sprinted out to a two length lead over Gallant Sir, which had tried to take the lead at the same time. Gallant Sir came in mighty strides near the finish and was gaining on Indian Runner, but the latter seemed to know just how far he was to run. He let Gallant Sir pull up within a neck, but would not surrender the lead.

Complainant Is Suspended.

Indian Runner was going along so nicely it looked as if he might be able to go at top speed indefinitely. His time for the mile and an eighth was 1:51 2-5. The track wasn't at its best,

DUBLIN IRISHMAN SHOOTS A 67 IN BRITISH OPEN

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 4.—(AP)—Thirteen Americans, including the defending champion, Gene Sarazen, and one amateur, George T. Dunlap Jr. of New York, qualified for the British open golf championship today.

But the honors went to a smiling Dublin Irishman, Pat Nolan, who scorched the old course in the final 18 holes of the 36 hole qualifying trials with 67 strokes, shattering all St. Andrews records and giving him the medal with a total of 71—67—138.

The championship itself may cross the seas to America for the tenth straight year, but the hoary Scots of St. Andrews now feel that by dint of Nolan's 67 British golf can lift its head again.

Horton Smith Second.

Hard on the trail of Nolan, though distanced by four strokes in the play that will mean nothing when the 72 holes of championship competition start tomorrow, came Horton Smith, Chicago professional, with 71—71—142.

Billy Burke was in the third place with Syd Fairweather and E. W. K. Kenyon, British professionals. They had 146s, Burke's by reason of a 72 and a 74. The rest of the qualifiers trailed down to the 158 stroke limit that left 117 players in the title hunt—18 holes tomorrow, another 18 Thursday, and a final 36 Friday.

Misfortune visited only two Americans in the field that started yesterday. Joe Ezar, the wild Texan from Waco, landed outside the qualifying rail with 81—77—158, while Robert Sweeny, an American student living abroad, finished far over the line with 86—78—164.

Every member of the American Ryder cup team qualified, Sarazen and Olin Dutra shooting identical rounds of 73—75 for 148, while Walter Hagen had 74—75—149, Ed Dudley 78—73 for 151, and Leo Diegel put two 75s together for 150.

Shute and Wood Qualify.

Dunlap, whose 71 yesterday equaled the best of the day, faded off today with a 79, but his 150 kept pace with Diegel. C. Ross Somerville, Canadian who holds the United States amateur title, carded 79—75 for 154 to match the total Johnny Farrell achieved with a pair of 77's. Paul Runyan came in with 77—76 for 153 while Denny Shute and Craig Wood just made the grade with 156 each. Wood made a splendid comeback to get his place with a 74 today after a near disastrous 82 yesterday, while Shute reversed the procedure, skidding off to 81 today after starting the play with a 75.

Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot star who campaigns seriously now from New York, was only a stroke back of Burke with 73—74—147, tied with Archie Compston, giant British professional, who had similar rounds,

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 4.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinals' star pitcher, was fined $100 by Manager Gabby Street today for getting on the wrong car of the right train.

The Cardinals had an exhibition game scheduled in Elmira, N. Y., yesterday and when the train reached Harrisburg from New York, all the players were in the right cars but Dean.

Dizzy was sound asleep in a Pittsburgh-bound car. He woke up in Pittsburgh to find he was 24 hours ahead of the team. The Cardinals played here today.

EX-WHITE SOX BOSS BATTLES POLICE IN HOME

James J. Callahan, one time famous baseball player and former manager of the White Sox, was taken to Mercy hospital yesterday after he had resisted two detective bureau squads for more than a hour in his home at 4816 Kenwood avenue. The police were called when neighbors observed Callahan, who is 59 years old, smashing the windows of his home with a cane.

Two tear gas bombs were thrown into the house, but Callahan barricaded himself in an upstairs bedroom and escaped the fumes. He warned the detectives that he had them covered, but when they broke open the door they found him armed only with a cane. When finally subdued by the police and taken to the Hyde Park station, where he was met by the family physician, Dr. J. E. Leahy, Callahan said his family was away and he had been drinking too much.

CRONIN HOLDS FRACTIONAL LEAD OVER SIMMONS

Out of a day of doubleheaders yesterday, Joe Cronin, manager of the Washington Senators, emerged with the batting leadership of the American league by the narrowest of margins. In the Senators double victory over the Yankees, Cronin connected with four hits to boost his slugging average to .3682, just a fraction of a point above Al Simmons, who hit safely only twice in eight trips to the plate.

SOX WIN, 6 TO 3, AFTER LOSING TO CLEVELAND, 5 TO 2

Cleveland, O., July 4.—[Special.]—The White Sox snapped a four game losing streak today when they won the second half of the Fourth of July doubleheader with the Indians, 6 to 3. They lost the first game, 5 to 2, before 15,000.

The victory was due mainly to the relief hurling of Joe Heving, who entered the game with two out in the second inning after John Whitlow Wyatt had walked four men to endanger a 5 to 0 White Sox lead. Heving allowed only one run and seven hits thereafter, fanning three and walking only one.

Although Wyatt was ahead when he departed, Heving was credited with the victory, his second of the season. The Sox knocked out Sarge Connally in the second inning, and before Bean could get them out they scored three runs on four hits.

Simmons Fails 3 Times.

Failure of the Sox hitters, especially Al Simmons, allowed Willis Hudlin to last throughout the first game, with Milt Gaston his pitching victim. Simmons came up three times with runners on bases, and each time he failed. Once he hit into a double play. Frank Grube bounced into three doubleplays in this contest.

The second game victory was accomplished after Manager Fonseca had demoted Jack Hayes from the leadoff position, which he had occupied all season. Swanson was elevated to that spot and Sullivan to third. Hayes was dropped to the seventh place.

FIRST GAME

The Indians went to work on Milt Gaston after three scoreless innings in the first game. Averill opened the fourth with a drive that went for a double when Haas barely touched it after a long run. Vosmik singled over second, scoring Averill. Kamm forced Averill, but reached second when Hayes threw past Sullivan. He went to third when Hale bounced a hit off Dykes' glove and scored while Hayes was throwing out Pytlak.

The Indians then rested until the sixth when, with one out, Vosmik bounced a hit over Gaston's head. He went to third on Kamm's single to center and Kamm went to second when Haas tried to catch Vosmik at third. Vosmik scored on Hale's long fly to Haas. Pytlak beat out an infield single, Kamm being held to third. Cissell then singled to center, scoring Kamm. Haas threw past Dykes trying to catch Pytlak at third and Pytlak scored.

Meantime the Sox were messing up

Cronin, Gehringer Form Great Combination at Second.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The American league all-star combination will present more than a powerful hitting array against the cream of the National league in the big battle scheduled for Comiskey park tomorrow. The American leaguers not only can hit—on paper the most formidable attacking team ever put together—but also can field.

No tickets are left for the game. The sale of bleacher seats on Monday exhausted the supply of 49,000 tickets.

From top to bottom of the lineup the veteran Connie Mack will have at his command, no matter what changes he might make, defensive ability that couldn't be improved upon to any extent even if the player selections had been made on that quality alone.

Even picturesque Babe Ruth, staggering around in his declining years, still can rise to the occasion defensively—if the chance isn't too difficult.

Good Second Base Combination.

The second base combination is all-important on any team. Mack shouldn't have to worry about what Joe Cronin or Charley Gehringer might do. Both cover ground well to either side, get the jump on slow bounders that call for charging in, and can throw. Neither has any fielding peculiarities that should make it difficult for one to fit into the style of the other in double or force plays.

The world already knows that Lou Gehrig handles himself pretty effectively around first base. He isn't fancy in his work, but try to hit or throw a ball past him. If he can reach them he'll hold them. Jim Foxx is another who plays first base the same way—a bit lacking in style, but nevertheless effective. If Mack should give Foxx a whirl at third base, where he hasn't played for quite a stretch, he might have trouble, but it wouldn't be in his throwing. Foxx can throw strikes across the infield more consistently than a pitcher can throw them from the mound to the plate.

Dykes Above Average.

As a third baseman Jim Dykes, one of the two White Sox delegates to tomorrow's convention of all stars, hasn't been fielding any too well this season, but even with his errors he still is above average. Despite his age he still moves freely to either side. His greatest annoyance this season has been caused by dropping batted balls after he gets his hands on them. A lot of American league

Hubbell Substitutes Speed for Screw Ball at Times.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Every time a fan talks about Carl Hubbell he talks about his screw ball. Since Carl has been designated by John J. McGraw as the man who will be the National league's starting pitcher in tomorrow's game of the century, it is probable that the American leaguers will go to the plate looking for nothing but said famed screw ball.

And that's where Hubbell will fool them. The screw ball is Hubbell's best ball, of course, but he has plenty of other foolers. He also has the knack of discovering when a batsman is getting set for his screw ball. That is when he usually lays in his fast one, which, incidentally, is one of the real good fast balls of the league.

But Hubbell has other ways of crossing up the boys. Batsmen report that he has thrown them practically nothing but screw balls in one game and that in the next game Carl will feature fast balls just as consistently.

Wilson Praises Hubbell.

Following Hubbell's 18 inning, 1 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last Sunday, Catcher Jimmy Wilson of the Cards, who will be a teammate of Hubbell's in tomorrow's game, said that he believed that Hubbell could have pitched shut out ball for another 18 innings, had it been necessary. He characterized the Giant star's performance as one of the most magnificent he ever had seen. And in that same game Jim caught Carleton, who also pitched shutout ball for 17 innings and then gave away to a pinch batter.

In that game Hubbell, as usual, displayed marvelous control. He didn't walk a batsman in 18 innings.

Players who discussed Hubbell's great performance Sunday expressed varying opinions as to whether the long game would have after effects which would hamper his work tomorrow.

Feels Muscles Tighten.

Carleton said that after 17 innings he felt the muscles under his arm stiffening and asked that a pinch hitter be sent in for him, but that he had studied Hubbell and didn't believe he was suffering from any such distress.

Guy Bush, who once pitched an 18 inning game, said in discussing the game with Carleton, that he had felt muscle stiffness similar to that described by Carleton, but that he recovered rapidly and felt no ill effects his next time out. Other players were convinced that Sunday's long game

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Twenty-two thousand customers thought the Cubs had awakened from their eastern daze when they saw Guy Bush and the lads turn in a handsome 4 to 0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the first game of yesterday's double header. But when the Reds kicked the champs around for a 8 to 1 decision in the second game there were added noises in the stands suggestive of what sometimes is known whimsically as the old razzberry.

The first game, taken by itself, would have been a pretty homecoming. Bush was in superb form and allowed only five hits. Jim Mosolf, making his Wrigley field debut as a Cub, made two singles and a double his first three times up and scored the first two Chicago runs, the first on a triple by Demaree and the second on a triple by Babe Herman.

Herman forthwith scored run No. 3 on Grimm's double. Hits by Demaree and Grimm accounted for the Cubs' last run.

Root, Grimes Pounded.

The second game was all right for four innings, in which there was evidence that Charley Root had returned to form. But it proved a mirage later on, for Charley bogged down in the fifth and sixth, a homer by Johnny Moore in the fifth accounting for the first run of the game and another by Chick Hafey with two on in the sixth accounting for three more.

Burleigh Grimes made a rather ludicrous attempt to stem the tide after Root had gone away. It was necessary for Roy Henshaw to put out a fire that old Burleigh kindled in the seventh. Henshaw, however, didn't get his chance to give his two wabbly predecessors a pitching lesson until three runs had been made off Grimes.

The game the Cubs won was the fourth they have taken from the Reds this year. The Reds' ninth victory over the Cubs was accomplished by Allyn Stout, the seventh pitcher Manager Donie Bush has dug up who is good enough to lick the champs.

FIRST GAME

In the sixth the customers were regaled with a series of extra base hits which netted a pair of runs. Mosolf led off with his third successive hit, a double to right. It was a normal triple, but Jim, under ground rules, had to go back to second when the ball rolled under a gate. Babe Herman followed with a triple, scoring Mosolf. Babe, after waiting for a couple of putouts, scored on Grimm's double to right. Jurges was given an intentional pass. Then Bush was thrown out by Kolp.

Demaree Beats Out Bunt.

Demaree opened the eighth by beating out a bunt and went to second on Hartnett's sacrifice. Grimm again came through with the punch, this time singling to right to send Demaree home. Charley took second on the throw in, but Jurges and Bush were easy outs.

The only serious threat the Reds developed came in the sixth inning while the Cubs were leading, 1 to 0. Moore doubled, Kolp fanned, but Adams beat out an infield single, Moore stopping at third. Grantham then tapped in front of the plate and

BRAVES TRIUMPH OVER GIANTS IN DOUBLE HEADER

Take First Game, 3 to 0; Win Second, 8 to 5.

Boston, Mass., July 4.—(AP)—The Boston Braves twice defeated the league leading New York Giants today, 3 to 0, and 8 to 5, in a double header featured by the hitting of Wally Berger and the pitching of Ben Cantwell.

The defeats cost the Giants a game of their lead in the league race, as the St. Louis Cardinals broke even in two games with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

numerous scoring opportunities presented mainly by Willis Hudlin's wildness. Sullivan led off with a single in the third. Grube went out, Boss to Hudlin, who covered first. Grube, however, charged into Hudlin, knocking him to the ground. Sullivan set sail for third, but oversild the base and was tagged out by Kamm, who made a nice stop of Hudlin's quick throw.

Hayes and Haas walked to start the fourth, but Swanson popped to Hale. Simmons then hit into an easy double play. With one out in the fifth, Dykes and Sullivan walked, but Grube bounced into the third double play Cleveland made in consecutive innings.

Sox Avert Shutout.

The Sox averted a shutout in the ninth. Appling and Dykes singled to center and Appling scored when Sullivan singled to right, Dykes going to third. Kamm speared Grube's hot drive back of third, nipped Sullivan at second, and Hale whipped out the slow footed Grube at first, Dykes scoring. Pinch hitter Webb then popped to Hale.

SECOND GAME

The White Sox opened with a revised batting order and presented Wyatt with a lead in the first inning. Swanson walked and scored when Haas singled against the box seats in left field. Sullivan beat out a hit to Boss, Haas advancing to third, whence he scored on Simmons' long drive to Galatzer.

Hayes opened the second inning by walking and went to third on Grube's single to left. The attack was held up while Wyatt forced Grube. Swanson's single over second scored Hayes and Bean immediately relieved Connally. Haas' bunt filled the bases and after Sullivan popped to Cissell, Simmons sent Wyatt and Swanson home with a single to center field.

Vosmik flied to Haas in the Indians' half before Wyatt walked Kamm, Hale and Myatt. Kamm scored while Cissell was forcing Hale at third. Then Wyatt walked Bean, Heving was rushed to the rescue.

The Sox went ahead, 6 to 2, in the fourth when Swanson beat out an infield hit, went to second on Haas' sacrifice, took third as Hale threw out Sullivan and scored on a passed ball.

Myatt opened the Cleveland seventh with a double, went to third on Cissel's single and scored on Pinch Hitter Porter's long fly to Swanson. Bean and Wes Ferrell stopped the Sox from the fourth on.

MOON MULLINS—UNCLE WILLIE'S HEALTH LOOKS BAD

Golf School Stars Get Form Test Tonight

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Tonight is graduation night in THE TRIBUNE Golf school, which has been in session on the 27 member courses of the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association for the last six weeks, with an enrollment of 17,000 in the greatest instructional and competitive project in the history of the game.

The first of the two commencement exercises of the school, the form contest, will take place tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Mid-City course, Grace street and Western avenue. The competition will be based solely on form. No balls will be hit, since the contest will be confined to such fundamentals as swing, stance and grip. Each of the 108 finalists—four from each of the 27 classrooms of the school—are asked to appear at the Mid-City course at 7 p. m. to obtain the arm bands which serve to identify them during the contest. A driver will be the only club necessary for the final tonight.

Jury Composed of Stars.

The pupils who will receive their diplomas tonight are certain of expert judges for a jury of five of the greatest competitors and instructors in the game will rate them. That jury is composed of Tommy Armour of Medinah, winner of every major title that can come to a professional golfer; Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, holder of the Illinois professional and Canadian open championships; Jock Hutchison, Glen View veteran; Bob MacDonald, recognized as one of the finest teachers in golf, and Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, winner of the recent North Shore open and runner up in last year's national P. G. A. tournament. Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, vice president of the association, will be master of ceremonies.

The 108 finalists tonight will be divided into their four classes—man's, women's, boys' and girls'—and each division will swing in unison before the five judges. Each pupil will then swing individually, until all 108 have been seen in action. Each student will be rated on the basis of 500 points, 100 from each of the judges. The pupil drawing the greatest number of points will be adjudged the winner in his or her class.

Meet in Tourney Saturday.

Tonight's final will not conclude the graduating exercises of the school, since each of the winning 108 will have their chance to demonstrate the practical benefits of their lessons on Saturday, when an eighteen hole medal play tournament will be held Saturday at Northbrook, formerly the University private club, located on the Dundee road, a mile and three-quarters west of the Waukegan road or one mile each of Milwaukee avenue. The boys' class will tee off first, starting at 11 a. m., followed by the girls' division at noon, the women at 1 p. m. and the men at 2 p. m.

None of the prize awards, which include 140 playing memberships, golf trophies, balls, clubs and bags, will be awarded until after the medal play tournament on Saturday. Each of the 108 finalists in the two tournaments is already assured of at least one prize, since the Daily Fee association will award to each of them a playing membership good for the balance of the season at that course at which they took their lessons.

The association will present the eight winners of the two finals with a playing membership which will entitle them to full play at any or all of the 27 member courses of the association. Each of the second and third place winners in the two finals will receive a dozen balls. THE TRIBUNE will present the four winners of tonight's form competition with a silver loving cup, and the four victors in Saturday's medal play tournament with a bag and a set of six clubs.

Continue Lessons at Several Courses.

The clubs which participated in the school during its six weeks follow: Big Oaks, Elmgate, Pickwick, Vernon, Rob Roy, Northbrook, Hillcrest, White Pines, Kinsman, Westgate Valley, Mid-City, Evergreen, Harlem, Antlers, Woodridge Golfmoor, Cog-Hill, Chicago Meadows, Pipe O' Peace, Glenbard, Midwest, Indian Head, Hickory Hills, Oak Hills, Walnut Hills, Lake Avenue Day-Nite Golf, and Techny Fields.

The enthusiasm with which the school was greeted upon its opening and the manner in which it was sustained throughout the six weeks of free lessons was such that a number of the courses, including Westgate Valley, Harlem and Mid-City have decided to continue the series throughout the season. Les MacArthur of Chicago Meadows is conducting a match play tournament to which all pupils who have attended the school are invited.

Morgan Beats Lundgaroot for County A.A.F. Net Title

George Morgan won the men's singles tennis championship of the Cook County Amateur Athletic federation by defeating Lars Lundgaroot, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 16-14, at the Fullerton Tennis club yesterday. A. L. All-Stars Field as Well as They Slug adherents thought that Ossie Bluege, because of his fielding and present hitting pace, should have been named the hot corner occupant.

In the outfield is where the American leaguers really will shine. The noted Al Simmons has no superiors in left field. The Milwaukee Duke is a Dead Eye Dick on fly balls, an excellent thrower and a perfect judge of where the ball should be thrown when runners are moving. Al will have the added advantage, although not needing it, of being in his home precinct.

Great Fly Chasers.

For center field Mack will have available the best pair of fly chasers in the league. If he starts Earl Averill of the Cleveland Indians, as promised, he will have Sam West of the St. Louis Browns to fall back on. West is conceded to have a slight edge over Averill when it is a matter of traveling distances to pull in long fly balls. Ruth probably will be kept in right until the sun gets far enough around to bother him. That's why he always has been moved to left field when the Yanks play in Chicago. After Ruth has had enough, his place will be turned over to Ben Chapman, the Yanks' speedster. He'll be an improvement over Ruth as a fielder and as a hitter is almost as dangerous. Incidentally, Chapman, who is a brazen fellow on the bases, probably will give the two National league catchers something to worry about whenever he is on first.

Nothing much need be said in behalf of either of the two American league catchers—Bill Dickey of the Yanks and Rick Ferrell of the Red Sox. Both can take care of themselves.

CLARKSON WINS ALL AROUND FLY AND BAIT TITLE

Bob Clarkson of the Chicago Fly Casting club won the all around fly and bait casting championship of Illinois yesterday with a total of three firsts for the two day meet. The event was held in Garfield park.

Conrad Nordholm of the Chicago Fly Casting club tied for first place with Edwin Sutter and Charles Edwards, also of the Chicago Fly Casting club, in the ⅝ ounce accuracy bait. The score was 98.

In the fisherman's dry fly event Eddie Davis and Chester Bruns, both of the Lincoln Park Casting club, tied for first place with a score of 96.

Bet $670,724

THE holiday crowd, which the officials of the Arlington Park Jockey club claimed was a record breaker yesterday, wagered $670,724 on the eight races. This was more than was wagered on last Independence day.

First race	$ 55,838
Second race	66,474
Third race	72,303
Fourth race	94,518
Fifth race	97,115
Sixth race	95,679
Seventh race	92,485
Eighth race	96,312
Total	$670,724

If the attendance reached 30,000 everybody present wagered $22.35 during the afternoon. At least that would have been the average for such a crowd.

After scratching Equipoise out of the Stars and Stripes handicap early yesterday morning Trainer Thomas J. Healey said: "I was not satisfied with his condition."

He made the decision after a long distance telephone conversation with Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, during which the condition of the champion was discussed.

Healey said the muddy track which had prevailed at Arlington for four days made it impossible for Equipoise to get in the one workout needed to put him on edge. "We didn't want to see him beaten because he wasn't quite up to his best effort," Healey said. "Equipoise is a horse that shows you when he is ready. When we brought him out on the track for a final 'blowout' he gave unmistakable signs that he wasn't ready."

Fear Return of Injury.

Clockers thought Equipoise showed signs of lameness and there were reports the old quarter injury, which kept him idle as a 3 year old, had returned and that it might be many weeks before he will be able to race again.

There was genuine grief in the Whitney camp when Equipoise was withdrawn from the race. Many in the crowd complained because they were not going to see him run. Still, they bet just as heavily on the 12 horses which were left in the race.

May Clear It Up Today.

Trainer Healey indicated last night that he might have an important announcement to make about Equipoise today.

Gov. Guy B. Parke of Missouri was one of the interested spectators. John Enright of the Urban League club picked a couple of winners for him and he thought it was a fine afternoon's entertainment.

Former Gov. Walter H. Kohler of Wisconsin was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McCullough at luncheon in the Post and Paddock club at Arlington Park yesterday, coming from his home at Kohler, Wis., by airplane. Others in the party were Mrs. Kohler, Judge Denis Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Abner J. Stillwell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Hurley Jr., Edward N. Hurley Sr., Mrs. Britton I. Budd, and P. H. Joyce.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Armour had among their guests Joseph T. Ryerson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Ambrose Cramer, Mrs. Farwell Winston, Alfred Shaw, and Col. Noble B. Judah.

Others who had numerous guests included John Hurley, Albert D. Lasker, Harry Lobdell, K. L. Ames, Ben Leslie Behr, Norman Church, Mrs. J. F. L. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Niblack, and Mrs. August Gatzert.

500 TO SEEK JEWISH TRACK TITLES TODAY

The Jewish track meet scheduled for Douglas park at 5 o'clock this afternoon will take place as originally arranged. Following the track meet, the participants, led by Phil H. Liederman, chairman of the field day activities, will go in buses to Soldiers' field, where they will take part in the second presentation of "The Romance of A People."

Five hundred qualifiers from the preliminary track meet held June 28 will compete for the Korshak trophy this afternoon in a 42 event schedule. The individual winners will receive diplomas for their victories in the preliminary and the final events.

POSTSCRIPT, given a hustling ride, worked her way up fast in first three-sixteenths, came away rapidly after reaching stretch, but was kept under vigorous riding to end. FLAGHORN saved ground at stretch turn and weakened near end, but outstayed LONG BIT. Latter, given a poorly judged ride, responded well when urged hard and was strongest of all at the end.

Irvine. Went to post at 2:57¼. At post 2 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

HAPPY ANNE, beginning fast and nicely in hand for three-eighths, came away gradually when approaching the stretch and, holding on well, outstayed SINGING HEART. Latter lost much ground and closing with good speed under strong urging, was wearing down the winner. TICKORY TOCK saved ground, failed to keep up at the stretch turn, but held on fairly well in final drive.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 3:26. At post 1¼ minutes. Start good for all but Double Date from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

PHARAHEAD, taken under steadying restraint after a quarter and rated to stretch, continued well following a brisk shaking up, but had little left. PETE, a strong factor from the start and on inside for seven-eighths, came out at stretch turn and, while unable to get to winner, held on well. GRAMARYE, taken far out of it, wore down tired horses in final quarter. BATTLING GIRL weakened badly.

Winner trained by W. Irvine. Went to post at 4:02. At post 4 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

RUSH HOUR, strongly restrained for a half-mile, took command with a rush and, holding on well, held HELIANTHUS safe. Latter, on outside throughout, stood driving gamely and was slowly gaining on winner in closing strides. PAIRBYPAIR had speed from the start, was under strong urging after reaching stretch, and weakened in final eighth.

INDIAN RUNNER, away fast and saving ground while rated close to the pace, went to GALLANT SIR with a rush when leaving the back stretch, appeared clear when he went to inside in stretch, and won well in hand. GALLANT SIR had speed from the start, took a short lead approaching the far turn, could not withstand winner when entering stretch, was taken up slightly when INDIAN RUNNER swerved over and, holding on gamely under his impost, gained fast as A. Tipton eased the winner near end. WATCH HIM, far back for three-quarters, made up ground fast thereafter.

ESSEFF, rated under snug restraint for three-quarters, responded smartly when called upon and drew away steadily the last three-sixteenths, winning under strong hand riding. TECHNIQUE forced the early pace under mild restraint, could not get to leader with a bid when entering stretch, and weakened but outstayed STRIDEAWAY. Latter, on inside and far back early, came out at stretch turn and closed resolutely.

MONEL, going in his best form and taken into the lead, was under snug restraint for five-eighths, began to draw away at stretch turn and, taking a safe lead, won easily. BEAU JOLIE, well up from the start, had to race wide the first three-quarters and weakened slightly, but outstayed UNENCUMBERED. Latter also raced wide much of the trip and closed gamely on outside.

Winner trained by A. L. Gaal. Went to post at 6:21¼. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

GALAHAD, well up after three-eighths, went around the leaders slowly at the second turn and held on well after drawing clear, but had little left. ELCIDIO, a strong factor throughout and lucky to keep up when in close quarters at second turn, stood mild drive gamely. SCIMITAR, also well up from start, came again mildly in final eighth.

Dark Secret Is Neck Victor in Handicap

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—The Wheatley stable's Dark Secret, a son of the Kentucky Derby winner, Flying Ebony, added his name to the roll of winners of the historic Brooklyn handicap when he led from start to finish at Aqueduct today to win by a neck in a thrilling finish. Second to the wire after a long, hard drive through the final furlongs was Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch, which gained the place by three lengths from James Butler's Apprentice.

An enthusiastic holiday crowd of 10,000 witnessed the running, Mayor John P. O'Brien and Mrs. H. C. Phipps being among those present. Mrs. Phipps with her brother, Ogden Mills, own the Wheatley stable. The victory had a value of $3,380 to the winner, who was timed in 1:51 1-5 for the mile and a furlong.

Coupled with Blenheim.

Dark Secret ran coupled in the betting with Blenheim, which won the Brooklyn last year, and which had a chance to be the first racer to take the stake twice in succession. He finished well back. The order of finish after the placed horses was War Glory, Blenheim, White Colver II., and Caesar's Ghost.

War Glory, which won the Dwyer in sensational fashion, went to the post a slight favorite at 2 to 1. The entry of Dark Secret and Blenheim closed at 11 to 5 after opening at 2 to 1. Dark Secret carried 115 pounds and by the result has gained the most important victory of his career.

Double for Mills.

The result gave Hank Mills, who is the leading rider of the meeting, a double for the afternoon. He previously had had the leg up on the Dorwood stable's Morfair, which made a successful comeback to competition in the turf aid handicap.

MOTOR INJURIES FATAL TO 3; 1933 TOTAL NOW 500

Half Thousand Reached Later than Last Year.

Three automobile deaths yesterday increased the 1933 motor toll in Cook county to 500. The advance in the campaign against motor fatalities is indicated by the fact that the 500 mark was reached last year on June 15, 19 days earlier than this year. On July 4, 1932, the year's total had risen to 562.

Miss Angeline Inorio, 20 years old, 2507 West Superior street, was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding struck a trolley pole and she was thrown through the windshield. She died in the county hospital. Pasqualle Parilli, 2053 West Erie street, her sweetheart, who was driving, was going at high speed in Chicago avenue when he lost control of the car and it struck a pole at Racine avenue.

Two Others Severely Injured.

Miss Bernice Wurglitz, 21 years old, 1457 West Huron street, suffered a possible fracture of the spine, and John Stufo, 22 years old, 835 North Francisco avenue, a possible fracture of the skull in the same accident. They and Parilli, whose injuries were slight, were taken to the county hospital.

Joseph Lukaszewski, 65 years old, 1115 North Damen avenue, was killed last night when three youths in an automobile drove onto the sidewalk at Emily and Hermitage avenues and struck him down as he was talking to a friend.

In the car, which was without license plates, were Benjamin Koczar, 22 years old, 2259 Greenview avenue, the owner; his brother Stanley, 27 years old, and Albert Pater, 24 years old, 1030 North Paulina street. The Racine avenue police, who held the trio, were unable to learn which one was driving.

Restaurant Owner Dies of Injury.

Gus Lipas, 33 years old, owner of a restaurant at 1224 East 63d street, died in the Illinois Central hospital of injuries he had suffered June 29, when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of his restaurant. Frederick Bauske, 23 years old, 1522 West Marquette road, driver of the car, has been notified to attend the inquest today.

Abraham Byer, 5558 West Harrison street, suffered a fracture of a leg and his wife, Jennie, a broken nose yesterday when the car in which they were driving friends home from the World's Fair collided with a Checker taxicab at Monroe and Green streets. Four other occupants of the car were slightly injured.

DAUGHTER BARS PUBLIC FUNERAL FOR YRIGOYEN

BUENOS AIRES, July 4.—(AP)—Because the Argentine government refused to permit an exhibition of the body of the deposed President Hipolito Yrigoyen in a public place, his family declined tonight to accept the proffered official funeral honors.

The cabinet previously had decreed the customary national funeral and ten days' official mourning for the radical party's idolized leader, who died last night, but prefaced the decree with a statement that it was "the government's duty to conform impartially to the established custom regardless of the concepts which may have motivated the public life of the deceased."

The national funeral was set for Thursday noon. The family and the radical party had requested that the remains be exhibted in some public square or in a national cathedral. When this was denied they decided to keep the body on view in the humble little apartment over a tobacco shop where Yrigoyen lived in recent years, except for his two periods of imprisonment since his overthrow in the 1930 revolution.

TREASURY MAY LET BANKS VALUE ASSETS 2 WAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 4.—Treasury officials will not lay down a new rule for valuing national bank assets as a prelude to the organization of the deposit insurance corporation, it was learned today.

The same method of carrying securities at book or intrinsic value will be continued unless the rise in the bond market makes this device, adopted as a depression measure, no longer necessary. This method, however, will apply only to valuations for call reports.

Rule on Deposit Guarantee.

"In examining a national bank for certification to membership in the deposit insurance corporation the government probably will use the market values of securities as its basis for evaluations. This rule may place the total assets much below that on call reports unless market quotations rise rapidly.

The new banking act requires that the controller of the currency certify that the assets of any national bank joining the Deposit Insurance corporation are sufficient to cover its liabilities. The controller's office is understood to consider that this calls for actual conversion valuations.

Demand Quick Assets.

The official attitude is reported to be that unless the assets of a bank, including if necessary, a part of its capital, are capable of being converted immediately into enough cash to meet liabilities on its books, the bank cannot be certified. This attitude is leading the controller's office toward a strict cash-conversion valuation for securities when examining a bank for insurance membership.

Out of the present line of reasoning may come two different official rules on security valuations, one for call reports, including published reports, and the other for the reports to the controller preparatory to entering the insurance corporation. The rule of market value will not be used on published reports because of the write-down it might cause some banks to show.

B. F. Goodrich.

Investors' Guide: What information can you give me relative to Goodrich? —C. J. F.

Answer: B. F. Goodrich company is one of the four largest tire manufacturers of this country. About half its business is production of tires. It is an important maker of mechanical and miscellaneous rubber goods. The company divested itself of control of Hood Rubber company, manufacturer of rubber footwear, in August, 1932, retaining a 45 per cent interest.

About three-fourths of tire business is for replacement purposes. Margin of profit is wider than sale of orginal equipment, but sales costs are higher. Longer life of tires and tendency of the motoring public to economize have cut down sales, while improved manufacturing methods have increased production. Competition from mail order houses precipitated an unsatisfactory price situation in 1932. Falling prices of cotton and rubber caused inventory losses.

Net sales in 1932 [excluding Hood Rubber] totaled $74,502,000. In 1931 they totaled $115,165,000, against $155,256,000 in 1930 and $164,495,000 in 1929.

In 1932 the company made a charge of $2,012,000 to cover loss of the Hood unit. This was offset by profit of $2,501,000 on retirement of bonds at less than par. Loss in foreign exchange was $861,000 and inventory loss $1,126,000. Net loss for the year was $6,582,000, against loss of $8,807,000 in 1931. The company lost $8,374,000 in 1930 and reported net income of $7,446,000, or $4.53 per common share, for 1929.

At the close of 1932 current assets were $49,027,000 and current liabilities totaled $5,332,000. Cash assets alone were $16,511,000. Working capital was $43,695,000, against $61,403,000 the year before.

Profit and loss deficit was $6,930,000. Funded debt totaled $43,006,000. There are outstanding 303,440 shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred and 1,167,142 shares of no par common. Notning has been paid on the preferred since July 1, 1931.

Current position of the company is strong and trade position is established. Easing of the price situation, pickup in the demand and rise of prices of cotton and rubber since the first quarter of this year should have put operations of the company on a much better basis than in 1932. In the absence of proof of sustained earning power, however, both the preferred and the common are speculative.

Swift Recovery Inspires U. S. to Go Forward

RISE IN STOCKS MARKS REBIRTH OF CONFIDENCE

Roosevelt 'New Deal' Brings Revival.

BY FRED HARVEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 4.—Financial history offers few chapters more dramatic than that which some future chronicler with an eye to universal values will devote, perforce, to an account of operations on the New York Stock exchange in the first half of this memorable year. It will be essentially the story of a sublime faith, that quality of mind which has been defined as the "substance of things hoped for."

Just consider: During the first two months of the period, the spirit of speculative endeavor, as recorded by the trend of market volume and prices, had fallen to about the lowest ebb within the memory of Wall street veterans. The best minds of the day and district were resigned to the conviction that the country was going to pot, dragging everything down in its wake. Business had all but come to a standstill. Confidence in the future had about reached the irreducible minimum. It was a period of darkest despair.

Market Drags in Doldrums.

From Jan. 1 to March 3—the "Black Friday" before the general bank and market holiday—stock prices had drifted lower and lower and volume down and down. It reached the point where 500,000 shares was a good average turnover for a five hour trading session on the exchange, so lately seething with 5,000,000 share days.

The "averages" were bumping one new bottom after another for the movement on their backward trek to the all time bear market lows of the previous June. At the close of business on March 3, THE TRIBUNE'S index of 50 representative issues stood at 50.50.

Then, lo and behold! A new administration came upon the scene at Washington, with its widely flung promises of a new order of things, and over night almost the situation changed.

Business Starts Upward.

From the depths of their despair, men developed suddenly into wild eyed optimists. Business faced about in its mad descent and began a determined climb for the heights, but so lately vacated. Pessimism gave way to a "prosperity psychology" that would not down.

The stock market, but lately the football of every short, suddenly came to life, and set out on a performance that must go down as one of the dazzling wonders of this mad era. It has been going up ever since and up to date has shown no serious signs of slackening pace.

The bears—those so-called enemies of the constructive side of things on the country's biggest share exchange—have long since taken to the woods. Not even a growl comes back to betray their hiding place. The buying spree is country-wide.

Stocks Rise Rapidly.

Since March 2, when the market, as measured by the standard averages, bumped its extreme lows for the year, the rush to accumulate bargains in the form of shares of the country's leading corporations has added approximately $15,700,000,000 to the paper wealth of the nation.

Stock prices have doubled and, in many cases, quadrupled in value. Instances might be cited, indeed, of shares now selling for ten times the figure they commanded four months ago. In one case that comes readily to mind, i. e., for the Celanese corporation, the enhancement has amounted to 1,300 per cent.

Volume has stepped up to around 5,000,000 shares a day. In some fairly recent sessions, it has run as high as 7,000,000—fourteen times the average of the pre-moratorium days early in the year. Up to July 1, a total of 343,676,857 shares had been traded in. This corresponds with a turnover of 177,278,883 for the corresponding six months of last year.

Market Values Enhance.

On the calculation of mathematical sharps with a bent for such statistics, the 1,200 odd issues now listed on the exchange are worth all together in the neighborhood of $33,000,000,000 [as of June 30]. Around the beginning of the year, they were valued by the same authorities at something like 20 billion dollars. Similarly, it is figured that the 800 bond issues listed on the big board have risen from a combined value of $20,800,000,000 to $34,400,000,000, a gain of $3,600,000,000.

From their extreme low for the year

Six Months' Rail History Full of Action

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The railroads have just passed through a six months period into which more action was crammed than ordinarily occurs in years.

In the first half of 1933 congress enacted important legislation dealing with the railroads. The President appointed a coördinator—some call it a dictator—to help shape their destinies. The roads went into the new year with their business at the nadir; they closed the first half in a flourish of sharply increased car loadings. For many of the roads black ink is now replacing red ink in earnings reports. Announcements were made of 100 mile an hour trains to meet competition. A serious conflict with labor was averted.

Emergency Act Important.

One of the most important events was the enaction of the emergency railroad transportation law of 1933. This act suspends for a period of years the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust laws affecting railroads so that they may reach agreement among themselves to effect economies. It repeals the recapture clause which in the past has handicapped the roads in putting aside surplus earnings in good years for use in lean years. It substitutes a new rule for rate making and it amends the La Follette valuation act of 1913 so that valuations of individual roads will not have to be made by the interstate commerce commission hereafter.

Joseph B. Eastman, interstate commerce commissioner was appointed to the position of coördinator by President Roosevelt. Among his duties will be the task of instigating economies in operation which will help put the roads on a profitable basis. This is to be done through the elimination of duplications of services and of "uneconomic practices."

Reorganization Aided.

Another important piece of legislation was the passage of the bankruptcy reform bill, which permits railroads to undertake voluntary reorganization without going through the expensive processes usually associated with bankruptcy actions.

During the first half of the year a number of organizations made public plans for the "rescue" of the railroads. Included among these were the group headed by the late Calvin Coolidge, a Hoover committee and the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

In the meantime many of the railroads have been endeavoring to help themselves by working for lower passenger fares as a means of regaining business lost to buses and private automobiles.

Plan High Speed Trains.

The Burlington placed an order for a train moved by a Diesel engine to run at 120 miles an hour, while the Union Pacific has ordered one which will run from 90 to 110 miles an hour. The Pullman company has developed coaches and sleepers built of aluminum, which weigh half the amount of the present standard steel cars. Extension of air conditioned car service also was pushed during the first half year.

Freight trains are moving much faster than a few years back. During the depression products that ordinarily went by slow freight were shipped in the fast freights because there wasn't enough business to fill the fast freights. Now the public is educated to speedy delivery and the roads are continuing to move formerly slow moving products on the fast schedules.

The railroads' agreement with union labor providing a 10 per cent wage reduction expired on June 1. The roads sought to increase the reduction by 12½ per cent, for a total of 22½ per cent. The Washington administration interfered and the 10 per cent reduction was extended until June 30, 1934.

Roads Arrange Credits.

The Railroad Credit corporation wound up its 15 months' administration of a pool derived from freight surcharges through which the stronger roads helped the weaker lines. Total loans authorized amounted to about $75,000,000. The Reconstruction Finance corporation to date has loaned the roads about $336,000,000.

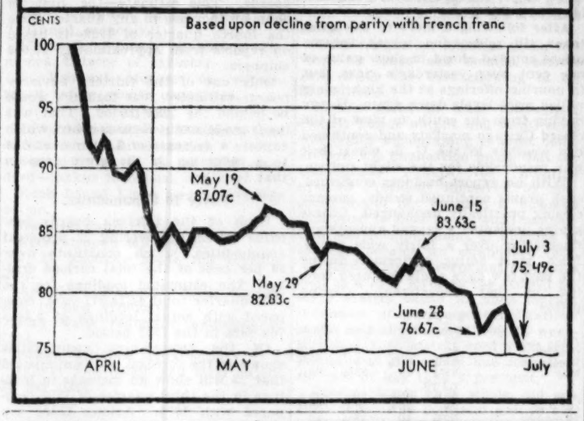
Some voluntary actions were taken to reduce the number of competitive trains. Among these were divisions of passenger service between Chicago and St. Louis by the Alton, Illinois Central, Wabash, and Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

How the American Dollar Has Depreciated



Bank Crisis Chief Drama of Half Year

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Crammed though they were with important events, the first six months of 1933 witnessed no more dramatic developments than those in the field of banking.

The fateful night of March 3, 1933, will not soon be forgotten by the bankers or the public. The unbelievable happened. All of the nation's banks, including the New York and Chicago federal reserve banks, closed their doors. Again the incredible happened when 10 days later the principal banks in the Chicago area and elsewhere resumed normal business.

Glancing backward, there appears little doubt that the economic disorders attending the great depression of the nineteen thirties reached their greatest pitch on the eve of President Roosevelt's inauguration.

Change in Banking.

The whirlwind return of confidence in March was a dramatic aftermath to the step in the dark taken with the declaration of the national moratorium. The American banking system is being revolutionized. And that revolution would not be taking place with such rapidity had it not been for critical happenings of the last few months.

The traditional American small unit, loose jointed banking system is a thing of the past. The stoutest defenders of the system concede that. The banking legislation rushed through the last session of congress is calculated to bring every bank in the country within the federal reserve system within the next four years. That the purpose will be realized seems reasonably certain at present. Nationalization of banks has grown by leaps and bounds in the last 18 months and shows no indication of diminishing.

Fewer Chicago Banks.

Chicago's record gives an accurate reflection of the evolution of banking in this country. Today Chicago has forty-eight banks within the city limits, just 14 more than were doing business back in 1913. What took place in the intervening years is the story of banking in the United States from 1913 to 1921 the number of Chicago banks grew from 34 to 174. Another 46 opened their doors in the frantic boom days of the twenties until in 1929 there were 220 organizations, technically known as banks, doing business in the city.

In 1930 and 1931 the inherently weak banks went to the wall, frozen tight with unsalable real estate paper and other speculative assets. In 1932 many sound small banks were carried down by the wave of distrust inspired by the failure of the weak banks. Closings continued until March 3, 1933, when the number was reduced to 59. Forty-eight of the 59 are now doing business again.

Since the expiration of the moratorium the small outlying banks have staged a remarkable comeback. Deposits have expanded anywhere from 50 to 100 per cent.

STATISTICS SHOW WIDE GAIN IN COMMODITY PRICES IN 6 MONTHS

The startling advance which has taken place in commodity prices during the last six months is shown in the following table. In practically all instances this year the low figures of the current season were made around March 1, while the highest figures prevailed at the close of the period. Last year the highest prices were made early in the season and the lowest around June 30. Comparisons follow:

PUBLIC FINANCING IN 6 MONTHS FAR UNDER LAST YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 4.—New public financing done in the United States during the first six months of 1933, excluding domestic and Canadian municipal flotations, totaled only $125,560,000, according to a compilation announced today by Otto P. Schwarzschild, president of the National Statistical Service, Inc. The total for the half year compares with $242,427,000 for the same period in 1932, a decline of 48 per cent, and with $1,844,271,000 for the first six months of 1931, or a drop of 93 per cent.

The Chase National bank, according to the compilation led the list of underwriters during the period by heading syndicates which marketed a total of $68,500,000 of new issues. J. P. Morgan & Co. ranked second with $12,000,000, and Dillon, Read & Co. third with $11,250,000.

'DOLLAR WHEAT' SOUNDS KEY OF GRAIN MARKETS

Three Factors Bring a Sharp Advance.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Four months ago there was no mention of dollar wheat in La Salle street. Such a price seemed visionary—impossible of attainment. Confidence was lacking and the price well below 50 cents per bushel. Yet dollar wheat has more than materialized, the cash grain advancing from a low of 45 cents early in the year to $1.00½ last Monday.

The change which has taken place in the grain situation and the markets themselves is startling. Three factors are regarded as accounting for this. First and foremost is the restoration in confidence; second, small crops, and, third, the constant talk of inflation in the currency.

Inflation Least Important.

Inflation was the last of the three factors to have its effect on sentiment, and many grain traders regard it as being the least important, calling attention to the fact that wheat was selling far above an export parity before President Roosevelt was even inaugurated.

Not so many months ago E. L. Glaser, chairman of the board of Rosenbaum Bros., expressed the belief that wheat was selling at the lowest price known in recorded history, all factors considered. Investigation of records of wheat prices and wages tended to bear this out, at least for more than 700 years. Since then wheat has advanced to such an extent that the price is now practically equal to the average of 1910-'14, when the producer received slightly over 88 cents per bushel.

But grains have not been the only agricultural products which have soared in a most sensational manner. Cotton, sugar, hides, hog products, rubber, and other commodities have joined in the upward movement. While prices in other countries have lagged as compared with those in the United States, the upturn there also has been material.

Corn Doubles, Oats Triples.

Cash corn, for which there was a limited demand at 23 cents on March 3, sold at 55 cents per bushhel on July 3, and cash oats, sold at 16 cents on March 11, brought as high as 47 cents on Monday. Sugar, cotton, and hides have more than doubled in price in practically the same period. Lard and meats have done almost as well.

From a country having a tremendous exportable surplus of wheat and other grains, the United States during the last six months has apparently gone almost to the other extreme. Normally it might now be regarded as potential importer. There are many traders who look for wheat to sell at the world's price plus the import duty of 42 cents per bushel.

All Grain Crops Short.

Intense heat and drought during the month of June, preceded by prolonged drought in the southwest, brought about this change in the statistical situation, the full effect of which is only now being realized by traders. Only once in the last seventy-five years has such a situation as at present existed—when the prospect is for relatively small crops of all grains in the same year.

So vast was the area involved in the heat and drought that the trade and the public found it almost impossible to visualize the tremendous dam-

Vast Advance in Live Stock Aids Farmers

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

With the exception of the days following the civil war, there probably never has been a time when farmers and livestock producers have witnessed so complete a change in their industry, from utter gloom to highest hopes, as in the last few months of advancing prices.

Some of the sharpest price gains in the history of the live stock trade have been made during the last few months. Old trade axioms regarding seasonal price trends, also many of the ordinarily potential bearish factors, were often shunted aside in the rush to put prices up.

The fact that the farmer was among the first to benefit by the "new deal" revived the speculative element in agriculture and in the packing industry. By-products figured prominently in the record breaking recovery, swinging many of the main by-products from a dead loss to the profit side of the packers' ledger.

Packing Nearer Normal.

The moratorium on banking marked the turn of the tide and the return of confidence. Packers are gradually bringing their provision holdings back to normal. Current quotations of cattle are 20 per cent above the low point of last winter, while hogs are 56 per cent higher and lambs, 43 per cent higher.

Prices still are much below the goal mentioned in the farm relief program, however. The weekly flow of money back to the farmer from all market centers and packing houses in the country now exceeds 20 million dollars. During the first twenty-six weeks of 1933 there were approximately 36½ million head of cattle, hogs, and sheep slaughtered under federal inspection in the United States, returning to the farmer a total of almost half a billion dollars.

Adds to Farm Wealth.

The rise in the markets also added more than $500,000,000 to the value of the animals still on farms, allowing for those already sold. Some of the advances in the principal classes of live stock and by-products are as follows:

Top hogs gained from a low of $3.00 at the close of 1932 to a high of $5.50 this year. The daily average advanced from a $2.80 low to $5.20 this year. Hogs for the first six months of 1933 averaged exactly $1.00 higher than the same period in 1932. Lambs came up from a low of $5.00 in the winter to a high of $8.75 in 1933.

Cattle hides advanced from 4 to 12½ cents. Wool that sold in the country early in the year at 8 cents sold at 30 cents in recent weeks.

Canada Completes Fourth Trade Pact with Austria

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 4.—Pursuing its policy of building up overseas trade to replace the vast North American business lost in the Canadian-American tariff warfare, Canada today concluded a new trade treaty with Austria. Austria gets about a 10 per cent lower tariff than the general tariff affecting American goods. This is Canada's fourth foreign trade treaty of the year, France, Germany, and Malay settlements preceding.

Dollar Sells at 74.9 Cents, but Recovers

The American dollar continued to sag in European foreign exchange markets, due to selling on the theory that nothing to check its decline would occur over the American holiday. At one time it was quoted under 74 cents in gold, but recovered in later dealings.

In London the pound rose from an opening of $4.48½, a new high since England left the gold standard, and moved up to $4.53. Later it sold off to close at $4.49½, a net gain of 6½ cents on the day.

The franc also soared in the Paris market, but a later reaction not only erased the gain but drove the currency a fraction under its Monday's close. At the peak the franc touched 5.23 cents, equivalent to a dollar valuation of 74.91 cents. The close, however, was 5.19 cents, one-fourth cent under the previous day.

From Paris came the statement that the chiefs of six European "gold bloc" nations were expected to meet there shortly to consider moves in the currency situation. It was understood the governors of the banks of issue of Holland, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, and Poland had agreed to confer possibly Saturday. Bank of France officials, however, said such a move was neither necessary nor likely.

BRIEF PERIOD BRINGS AN END TO DEPRESSION

Nation Starts on New Economy Policy.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

American business enters the second half of 1933 encouraged by the fact that in the last three months it has made the most rapid and substantial recovery from depression in its history.

The rules have been greatly changed and there is uncertainty in many directions, but the general feeling is that the turn has come and that anything that the future holds is bound to be better than the despair of the early months of 1933.

The six months just ended from a business standpoint have been the most momentous in the nation's history.

In January and February everybody was looking at the bottom of a well and wondering how deep. The business spiral continued downward. Corporations were going deeper into the red. Employers, their sales book blank, were discharging more men and reducing the wages of those they retained. Banks were squeezing every nickel they could get out of their hard pressed debtors in order to be able to meet the demands of scared depositors. Hoarders were withdrawing gold.

Political Uncertainty Added.

To make matters worse, there was the political uncertainty that always exists between the election of a new party and the time it ascends to office.

The bank moratorium was the lowest point. Since then there has been recovery on a broad scale.

March 18....	— 40.0	—23.1	—10.6
March 25....	— 44.0	—15.1	— 6.9
April 1.....	— 31.8	— 9.2	— 5.3
April 8.....	— 25.0	—10.6	— 4.5
April 15.....	— 7.1	—12.8	— 4.8
April 22.....	+ 2.2	—12.3	— 2.6
April 29.....	+ 8.6	— 3.3	— 1.8
May 6.....	+ 20.8	— 1.8	+ .5
May 13.....	+ 29.1	+ 2.6	+ 2.1
May 20.....	+ 40.0	+ 3.1	+ 3.3
May 27.....	+ 58.3	+ 3.8	+ 4.8
June 3.....	+ 78.2	+13.5	+ 5.9

July 1.....	+253.3	.....	.....

These figures represent tangible improvement. Combined with the tremendous advances in the stock and commodity markets, they disclose the sweeping nature of the second quarter business recovery. Stocks listed on the New York Stock exchange alone are worth nearly 16 billions more than they were on March 1, and the market prices of most farm products have more than doubled.

BRIEF PERIOD BRINGS AN END TO DEPRESSION

Nation Embarks on a New Economic Policy.

This widespread recovery movement has occurred before any of the revolutionary economic changes ordered by the new administration at Washington have actually been brought into operation.

Farm prices have doubled before the new farm relief plan has been set in motion.

Security prices have made a great advance, although as yet the inflation program has not begun. There has been no inflation to date, except the purchase by the reserve banks of an additional 100 millions of government bonds.

Between 2 and 3 million men have returned to work, despite the fact that the big 3 billion 300 million dollar government "reëmployment" spending drive has yet to begin.

New Theories in Government.

From a long term standpoint the most momentous developments of the last few months have been not the beginnings of business recovery but the enactment by congress of a series of laws the philosophy of which is something new in American history.

Most of them have been explained as "emergency" laws, but business analysts doubt that they will prove to be temporary measures and prefer to regard the new legislation as marking an industrial revolution.

Under the home owners' loan act the federal government attempts to relieve the small home owners of their mortgage burdens, throwing behind them 2 billions of credit. Another 2 billions, under the farm mortgage relief act, is to go toward easing similar burdens for farm owners. A second "farm relief" measure, the agricultural adjustment act, undertakes to assure six million farmers an adequate income.

Other Reforms, Experiments.

The new securities act alters the old doctrine of "caveat emptor" and makes the seller of securities financially liable for the quality of the wares he sells. The Glass-Stegall banking act takes the banks out of the securities business and puts the government further into the banking business. The Tennessee valley authority act represents a new departure of paternalistic government in economic experiments. The emergency railroad transportation act seeks to erase, by a new type of government regulation, the unfortunate effects of the old type of government regulation.

Most far reaching of all is the new industrial recovery act under which the government assumes almost limitless powers and seeks to regulate all industry—fixing prices, fixing hours of work, fixing wages and fixing trade practices. As administrator of national recovery, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson is virtually the czar of industry.

Inflation Made Possible.

Inflation was provided for in the Thomas amendment to the agricultural adjustment act, which provides that the President may cause the federal reserve banks to buy as much as 3 billion dollars' worth of government bonds. If that is insufficient, he may cause the treasury to issue 3 billions of "greenbacks." It also authorizes him to reduce the gold content of the dollar by one-half, and to cause free coinage of silver at a ratio to gold to be determined by him.

The threat of inflation, combined with the ban on gold holding, started a buying wave that developed into a broad recovery movement. There has, as yet, been no actual inflation, although the administration apparently realizes that the gains already made can be held only if currency is cheapened somewhat. That would explain the President's refusal to accede to France's request to stabilize the dollar.

Britain's Trade Position Improving, Parliament Told

LONDON, July 4.—(AP)—Great Britain's trade position and prospects show steady and consistent improvement the house of commons was told this evening by Dr. E. L. Burgin, parliamentary secretary to the board of Trade. Speaking during debate on the board of trade estimates, he said employment also was further substantially improved, notably in the building trade and iron and steel industries.

Chile and Japan Picture Inflation in Different Colors

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 4.—Japan, the only major country of the world to forge ahead in the face of the world wide depression, was further gladdened today by official confirmation of reports of the tremendous trade expansion made during the first six months of 1933.

Figures of the department of finance for the first five months of the year, just made available, show that Japan's exports, in round figures, totaled $160,000,000 [computed on the basis of the much depreciated yen] as against $100,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1932. The official statistics, which cover the period up to June 10, show that the favorable trade balance for the first 10 days of June alone amounted to almost $2,000,000, in contrast to an adverse balance of $.,000,000 for the same period in 1932. Japan shipped out, during the first 10 days of June, exports aggregating $12,000,000.

Japs Deny Unfair Tactics.

In issuing the latest trade statistics, officials endeavored to refute a number of common misconceptions as to the reasons for Japan's recent progress as an exporting country. No good, but possibly much harm, they maintain, can come of ascribing the success of Japan in foreign trade to unfair methods. Japan has not, the government maintains, engaged in dumping, if by dumping is meant the selling of goods below cost.

To bolster up their arguments, officials refer to the results of investigations conducted by the American and British commercial attachés in Tokio. These investigators, it is pointed out, admit that Japan's successes have been obtained by a combination of good workmanship, favorable exchange, low wages and modern machinery.

Fear Advance in Yen.

The outstanding feature in the foreign trade situation at present in Japan, however, is not the tremendous expansion that has been made, but the grave concern which is being felt here over the abrupt rise in the value of the greatly depreciated yen as a result of the slump in the foreign exchange value of the dollar.

With the weakening of the dollar the yen has risen to 27.25 cents and far reaching repercussions are feared here. Earlier in the year the yen went as low as 20 cents. With the yen where it is now, observers contend that a considerable shrinkage cannot be avoided in the volume of Japanese exports and it is declared that if the rate moves up to the 30-cent level, this will mean a serious blow to Japan.

For the present, however, conditions are not alarming and the remarkable ground recovered during the first half of the year is expected to offset any losses that may be suffered later on.

It is obvious, informed observers declare, that such a situation can no longer continue now that the yen is nearer 30 than 20 cents. In the meantime, it is maintained, Japan has benefited considerably through the stimulation of home industries, the maintenance of employment, and the increase of its internal purchasing power.

Southern Nation Must Pay Higher Wages by Heavier Taxes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 4.—Chile has begun to pay the price of inflation. A governmental announcement said that in view of the persistent devaluation of the peso the government had found it expedient to grant salary increases ranging from 5 to 25 per cent to public employés. The decision followed closely upon a similar concession to state school teachers and an informal "intimation" to industrial leaders that the time was ripe for wage increases.

Wage increases are accepted as an inevitable readjustment of national economic conditions after two years of inflation in which the actual note issue was doubled and the currency obligations of the central bank quadrupled. The government recognized that further postponement would lead to labor struggles and political agitation. It took the shortest way out by threatening to impose more taxes if this year's budget failed to sustain the new burdens.

Classified as "Bonus."

Salary increases in government departments will be classified as a "cost of living bonus." They became effective yesterday. It was announced in congress by a spokesman of the government that the extra payments would be legalized by supplementary estimates and that they were "easily covered" by current revenue, which in some cases was "50 per cent more than calculated."

The government's optimism regarding its taxation policy does not find a responsive echo either in parliament or the press. Rodriquez de la Sotta, national authority and party leader, predicated a budgetary collapse if the capital tax of 2 per cent was continued. This tax, which is levied upon all companies operating with $50,000 capital, was promised "for one year only." Now the government is doubtful whether next year's budget, especially in view of salary increases, can be balanced unless it is levied again.

"Temporary" Sales Tax.

Apart from the capital tax there is a sales tax of 2 per cent. This also was promised for one year only, at a time of "national emergency," but it is already being referred to as a permanent budget feature.

The government freely admits that the most of its difficulties are due to inflation. It points out that the peso is worth only 3 cents as compared with 12 cents in 1931. The cost of living has now increased sufficiently to offset all the former export advantages associated with a depreciated currency. There also has been a general falling off in shipments of agricultural and mineral products.

CUBAN DEFAULT TO CONTINUE SAYS TREASURER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 4.—Octavio Averhoff, secretary of the treasury, today advised representatives of Warren Brothers and the Compana Cubana de Contratistas, co-builders of the central highway, that he was "unable to state when the government will be able to meet its obligations." The government defaulted on a payment of $2,909,000 due the two companies on June 30.

Averhoff added that until taxes yield sufficient revenue the government cannot pay. He thought this might be in August.

CANADA REPORTS GRAIN PROSPECTS GROWING POORER

OTTAWA, July 4.—(AP)—Western grain crops entered the critical month of July with less than average prospects, said the crop report issued today by the dominion bureau of statistics. Heat, drought, and insects have thinned the stands and shortened the straw.

"Damage has been most severe," the reports says, "in the regions where wheat production is most specialized—namely: southern Manitoba, southeastern, southwestern, and west central Saskatchewan, and south and central Alberta. During the last week temperatures were fairly high and the scattered showers received were barely sufficient to maintain the crop in many districts, while further deterioration occurred along the southern boundary.

Much of the early sown wheat is now headed, with straw short. The grasshopper scourge is still serious. Damage is continuing and with migration imminent control measures are either stopped or curtailed. Hail damage was limited to a severe storm in south central Saskatchewan.

age. Roughly the area which suffered embraced between 250 and 350 million acres of cultivated crops of all kinds, extending from the northermost limits of cultivation in Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, and from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard.

Within this vast area weather conditions ranged from severe floods to practically sending millions of acres of farm land back to desert conditions. All sections suffered from the intense heat and there is no record that shows when oats have been damaged to such an extent as during June of this year.

Domestic Grain Crops.

As corn, oats, and barley are largely consumed within the borders of the United States and the exports are almost entirely in the way of their eventual products, such as lard and meats and oatmeal, the price is determined largely by the amount of grain available and by the demand for the relatively small percentage of the crops that are shipped as grain to terminal markets. Small crops result in smaller farm consumption and are relatively larger percentage of the crop moves as grain.

Wheat, however, is an international grain and prices, up to the last few years, have been dominated largely by the world's supply and demand. This held true until the Canadian pool started to accumulate supplies in an effort to force higher prices. The result was a steady enlargement in the world's carryover. Just as the Canadian pool abandoned its policy the American government tried its hand in controlling the price. The only effect of this was to intensify the feeling of depression and, while costing the taxpayers around $250,000,000, directly also cost the producer and general business indirectly many hundred millions in addition.

Processing Tax New Puzzle.

The processing tax, which is scheduled to go into effect in the United States on July 9, calling for the payment of 30 cents per bushel on wheat by mills and others on grain to be used domestically promises to be one of the causes of greatest uncertainty in world markets. Calling, as it does, for a reduction of around 20 per cent in the American acreage, such a cut would be practically equal to the loss suffered by the winter wheat crop this season through drought and other causes. The abandonment in 1933 was practically the largest on record.

The international wheat conference in London has attempted to have the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia curtail the acreage for the 1934 and 1935 crops by 12½ to 15 per cent, equal to around 17 million acres or about 241 million bushels on the basis of average yield per acre for a series of years. The world has apparently an exportable surplus of around 700 million bushels, or practically double the normal. Since the conference first started the near crop failure in the United States apparently has wiped out 100 million bushels of this, as consumption promises to be materially in excess of production.

WINNIPEG WHEAT MARKET FORGES SLIGHTLY HIGHER

WINNIPEG, July 4.—(AP)—Bull forces today consolidate their position gained yesterday in the greatest advance in years and at the close of the grain market had boosted wheat futures prices ¼ to ⅝ cents above yesterday's closing levels.

Speculators, controlling the market again today, poured in orders from all sources, but with the Chicago market on holiday, support from the American market was extremely noticeable in face of continuing adverse crop weather in the United States.

In an active closing period, July delivery was quoted at 79¾c; October, 82⅝@82½c; December, 83⅞@84c; and May, 88⅛@88¼c.

After following a more or less even tenor till midsession wheat futures prices spurted ahead to show gains of one cent over yesterday's close, but in pouring offerings at the high points pulled price levels down again. Heavy buying from the south, in view of the closed Chicago markets and continued dry weather in the U. S. wheat belt was responsible for the slight upturn.

With no export business confirmed, cash grains continued steady, spreads closing practically unchanged. Coarse grains presented a ragged appearance, fluctuating over a fairly wide range. Flax, most active performer during the past few days again featured trading in that department. Closing prices:

SHIPPERS EXPECT 10 PCT. ADVANCE IN CAR LOADINGS

Estimate 4,224,077 Cars Will Be Used.

Freight car loadings for the third quarter of 1933 will be approximately ten per cent over the actual loadings in the like quarter of 1932, according to estimates compiled by the thirteen shippers' regional advisory boards. This estimate—the first to show an increase in any quarter since the fourth quarter of 1929—is based on reports from approximately 20,000 shippers.

Only one of the thirteen advisory boards estimated that loadings would be behind the 1932 period. That was the trans-Missouri-Kansas board, which expects a decrease of 8.6 per cent due to a reduction in the grain crop in that territory.

Cover 29 Commodities.

Each of the thirteen boards prepares estimates covering 29 principal commodities, which constitute over 90 per cent of the total carload traffic. The estimated loadings for the 1933 quarter total 4,224,077 cars, compared with actual loadings of 3,841,768 cars in the 1932 period.

Of the twenty-nine commodities shown in the forecast, it is anticipated that 23 will show an increase in loadings in the third quarter of 1933 compared with 1932. Among these are flour, meal, and other mill products; cotton, cotton seed, and products, except oil; citrus and other fresh fruits; fresh vegetables other than potatoes; live stock; poultry and dairy products; coal and coke; ore and concentrates.

Other Increases Expected.

Other commodities in which increases are expected are salt, lumber and lumber products; sugar, syrup and molasses; iron and steel; machinery and boilers; brick and clay products; lime and plaster; agricultural implements and vehicles other than automobile, trucks, and parts; fertilizers; paper, paperboard and prepared roofing; chemicals and explosives, and canned goods.

The six commodities in which recessions are expected are all grains, hay, straw, and alfalfa; potatoes, gravel, sand, and stone; petroleum and petroleum products, and cement.

The largest increases are expected in ores and concentrates, 92.5 per cent; automobiles, trucks, and parts, 49.1 per cent; iron and steel, 47.1 per cent; cotton, 45.5 per cent; machinery and boilers, 22.9 per cent, and coal and coke, 11.7 per cent.

13 YEARS AND MILLIONS SPENT TO LEARN WHAT TARIFF CLERKS KNEW

BY H. A. LAIRD.

[Chicago Tribune Traffic Manager.

Back in 1920 the framers of the transportation act decided that the traffic of the country was a fixed quantity and that freight rates could be so adjusted by the interstate commerce commission as to assure the carriers a fair return on a fixed valuation. There was a further provision that such fair return would be determined by the interstate commerce commission, and any excess earnings would be divided 50-50 between the fortunate carriers and a certain revolving fund to be set up by the commission.

After thirteen years of effort and the expenditure of millions of dollars in determining valuations, the interstate commerce commission has failed to make the traffic produce the needed revenue for the country as a whole, but they have collected a matter of 10 million dollars in recapture accumulations from a group of short lines that have produced excess revenues.

The plan has now been found to be unworkable and the money is being refunded. The whole picture shows the futility of efforts to make rates conform to formulas. It has taken us thirteen years to learn as a nation what an experienced tariff clerk could have told us in 1920—that, irrespective of what rates logarithms may produce, no more money can be squeezed out of commerce than the traffic will bear.

STOP REPORTS ON PLEDGES TO CUT COTTON CROP

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—(AP)—With only 6 per cent of North Carolina's quota in the cotton acreage reduction program signed up, the federal government today ordered that no further summaries of the campaign's progress be made public.

The last report, issued yesterday by I. O. Schaub, state director, showed that 4,438 growers cultivating 66,323 acres of cotton had agreed to retire 22,594 acres. North Carolina's quota is 363,000 acres, with the campaign scheduled to end July 8.

C. A. Cobb, in charge of the federal cotton reduction program, notified Schaub to stop the daily reports on progress "in the interest of the farmer and success of the plan."

Cobb said further data on the campaign's progress at this time may create a price situation which will endanger the success of the program.

Associated Gas and Electric Company

Plan of

Rearrangement of Debt Capitalization

Is the Plan Necessary?

CROMWELL cautioned his men: "Trust in God, and keep your powder dry." The Associated Gas and Electric Company hopes that present upward trends in business point to a new and prosperous era. But this hope does not blind it to the fact that its taxes are increasing alarmingly, that its rates are being reduced, and that business is still subnormal.

Since the Plan was announced on May 15, 1933, the Federal 3% tax on domestic and commercial sales of electricity has been transferred from consumers to the companies, imposing an additional expense on Associated operating companies of about $1,100,000 a year. Congress has also imposed a new tax on the value of capital stock of corporations which, it is estimated, will cost companies in the Associated System more than $1,000,000 annually.

It is doubtful that Public Service Commissions will allow rate increases to offset these additional taxes. On the contrary, commissions and municipalities in New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, and other states where Associated companies operate, are demanding further reductions. The New York Public Service Commission has just issued an order, to be effective next September 1, reducing drastically the rates of the New York State Electric & Gas Corporation, one of the principal Associated operating properties. This order requires a reduction in the Corporation's revenues of $600,000 yearly.

$3,500,000 Less for Interest

The total of actual and potential increases in taxes and reductions in rates is likely to reach $3,500,000.

Consolidated net earnings of the Associated Gas and Electric Company and subsidiaries, after depreciation and after all charges of subsidiaries, for the 12 months ended March 31, 1933, were only a $2,413,749 margin over fixed interest requirements of debentures for that period. For the 12 months ended May 31, 1933, this margin was only $584,517, after deducting accruals ($1,000,000) for the proportionate amount of the estimated Federal capital stock tax for the period from July 1, 1932 to May 31, 1933. Additional taxes and rate reductions may easily wipe out such a slender margin of earnings, unless business improves substantially.

The situation of public utilities is aggravated by the lack of a ready market for bonds and by the hesitation of banks to assist in providing funds to meet maturing indebtedness without requiring heavy sinking fund payments. Such payments are so burdensome as to prevent some subsidiary companies from paying the cash dividends which holding companies need to meet interest charges.

Improvement in Associated electric output in recent weeks is encouraging. This improvement, however, has not yet produced a corresponding improvement in earnings, because the increase has come almost wholly from industrial users who pay much lower rates than residential or commercial customers.

It is the purpose of the Plan to change the situation with respect to the interest charges of Associated Gas and Electric Company so that they will be largely on an income basis instead of a fixed basis, and that in the event of temporary inability to meet full interest charges, defaults would not occur which might lead to a receivership, with its attendant expenses and risks.

This event may not occur, but it is the part of business prudence to guard against it as fully as it is the part of business prudence to insure against fire. As insurance against the risk of such an event, if for no other reason, the Management believes that the Plan is necessary.

RISE IN STOCKS MARKS REBIRTH OF CONFIDENCE

"New Deal" of Roosevelt Brings Revival.

of 46.85, recorded on March 2, the average have risen to 91.27, the peak having been reached in the closing hour of last Saturday's half holiday session.

As a result of the long advance, most stocks with the exception of the rails are now back in the range of 1926, an important "land mark" on the Wall street calendar just now, since the Roosevelt administration has committed itself to a program of raising general price levels to the level of that year.

Comparison for Leading Stocks.

For a more concrete comparison, take some of the leading stocks on the board:

In 1926, General Motors' range was 84¼ to 27½, compared with a present price of 30¾; Allied Chemical's 135 to 96, compared with 129¾; Standard Oil of New Jersey's, 46⅜ to 37⅜, compared with 38⅝; Sears-Roebuck's, 47¼ to 39⅝, compared with 40¾; Woolworth's 59⅛ to 36½, compared with 46½; General Electric's 24 to 19¾, compared with 24¾; Goodyear's 40 to 26½ against 37⅝ and U. S. Steel's 114½ to 83½, against 59⅞.

The industrial stocks, as a group, are approaching the top of their 1926 range. Just how vigorously some of the leading favorites of the moment have come back from their year's lows is shown by the tables depicting the rise of Allied Chemical and Dye, from its late winter low of 70¾ to a high of 131¾; American Can, from a low of 49½ to 95⅞; American Telephone, from 86½ to 132; U. S. Steel from 23⅞ to 60; Celanese, from 4½ to 58⅝; J. I. Case, from 30½ to 94½; National Distillers, from 16⅞ to 108, and Union Pacific railroad, from 61¼ to 121.

Causes for Advance.

All departments have shared in the rise, but the gains have been most sensational in the so-called "repeal" group, made up of stocks in line to benefit from the repeal of the 18th amendment; the gold mining shares, which have gotten a big "kick" out of the depreciation of the dollar and other currencies; farm implement and mail order issues, which have capitalized the mounting prices on wheat and other farm products, which are daily increasing the buying power of the farm element of our population; the rails, which have been helped mightily by increased car loadings and assurances of government aid, and an assortment of specialties, which are going strong for different reasons—chiefly booming business.

The original impetus for the market's great upturn came, of course, from the administration inflationary plans. More lately, however, it has been taking its cue from the general recovery of business throughout the country.

Beer is to take the place of cigarets at the northwest corner of Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard.

John P. Harding has subleased the store, formerly used by Liggett & Myers as a display for the manufacture of cigarets, and will open on Thursday a bar to be known as the "Blue Ribbon Spa."

It is understood that the cigaret firm leased the store at an annual rental of $35,000.

SIX COMMODITY EXCHANGE OPENS ITS DOORS TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 4.—For the first time tomorrow, traders in six different commodities will meet on the same trading floor, with the privilege of drifting from one market to another in the execution of orders.

The value of the new Commodity exchange to the financial community is indicated in the jump in the price of memberships from the issuing price of $900 to a recent top of $3,900.

BUSINESS GAINS HELP BONDS MORE THAN INFLATION

Speculative and High Grade Issues Rise.

New York, July 4.—(AP)—Bonds generally failed to confirm the inflationary aspects of markets during the first half of 1933 and the improvement in trade apparently was the most important factor in the substantial upturn of senior security prices.

While it is true that many of the more speculative railroad and utility issues were inclined to follow stocks most of the time, with inflation as a part of the motivating power, the highest grade categories that might conceivably be affected by dollar depreciation because of their low yield basis displayed sound, if not buoyant, gains.

With freight car loadings going forward by leaps and bounds, carrier liens made the best showing of all listed loans.

Steady gains in steel production, electric power output and retail sales was highly encouraging to most bondholders, the implication being that the tremendous powers for inflation granted President Roosevelt by congress would not be used if business continued to hold its forward momentum and reëmployment of millions of the idle became an established fact.

United States government securities held to a firm level as the federal reserve system began its open market purchases of government obligations at the rate of around $21,000,000 weekly. New York state placed a $25,000,000 issue at the record low cost-interest rate of less than 3 per cent.

Foreign bonds as a whole, did not quite follow the domestic groups owing largely to European economic and political complications.
